Tukufu Zuberi

African Decolonization:

The Decolonization Of Africa David Birmingham, 2008-02-20 This bold popularizing synthesis presents a readily accessible introduction to one of the major themes of the twentieth century world history Between 1922 when self government was restored to Egypt and 1994 when non racial democracy was achieved in South Africa no less than 54 new nations were established in Africa Written within the parameters of African history as opposed to imperial history this study charts the process of nationalism liberation and independence that recast the political map of Africa in these years Ranging from Algeria in the North where a French colonial government used armed force to combat the Algerian aspirations of home rule to the final overthrow of apartheid in the South this is an authoritative survey that will be welcomed by all students tackling this complex and challenging topic

African Independence Tukufu Zuberi, 2015-08-01 African Independence highlights the important role Africa has played in recent history and the significant role it will continue to play in the future of America and the globe In a world where much of the power and wealth remains concentrated in the hands of a very few people this book looks at how the history of African independence has touched all people from refugees to heads of state Author Tukufu Zuberi weaves exclusive interview excerpts and stories from many Africans he has met with old newsreels current news and reports and research into a larger narrative that takes readers through key events in African history and shows their importance today The book provides context for understanding connections between events in Africa and the world such as Nigeria s Boko Haram acts of war against the citizens of Nigeria and neighboring states China s rise as the main superpower with the largest financial connections to the African continent and the so called war against terrorism Zuberi is also the director of the documentary African Independence which has won awards including Best Director and Best Documentary at the San Diego Black Film Festival Best Director at The People s Film Festival Best African Film at the San Diego Black Film Festival and more Both alone and together the book and film offer a deeper understanding of Africa s central role in world affairs

Unpopular Sovereignty Luise White, 2015-03-23 In 1965 the white minority government of Rhodesia after 1980 Zimbabwe issued a unilateral declaration of independence from Britain rather than negotiate a transition to majority rule In doing so Rhodesia became the exception if not anathema to the policies and practices of the end of empire In Unpopular Sovereignty Luise White shows that the exception that was Rhodesian independence did not in fact make the state that different from new nations elsewhere in Africa indeed this history of Rhodesian political practices reveals some of the commonalities of mid twentieth century thinking about place and race and how much government should link the two White locates Rhodesia's independence in the era of decolonization in Africa a time of great intellectual ferment in ideas about race citizenship and freedom She shows that racists and reactionaries were just as concerned with questions of sovereignty and legitimacy as African nationalists were and took special care to design voter qualifications that could preserve their version of legal statecraft Examining how the Rhodesian state managed its own governance and electoral politics she casts an oblique and revealing light by which to rethink the narratives of decolonization

Decolonization, Development and Knowledge in Africa Sabelo J. Ndlovu-Gatsheni, 2020-04-30 This provocative book is anchored on the insurgent and resurgent spirit of decolonization of the twenty first century The author calls upon Africa to turn over a new leaf in the domains of politics economy and knowledge as it frees itself from imperial global designs and global coloniality With a focus on Africa and its Diaspora the author calls for a radical turning over of a new leaf predicated on decolonial turn and epistemic freedom The key themes subjected to decolonial analysis include 1 decolonization decoloniality articulating the meaning and contribution of the decolonial turn 2 subjectivity identity examining the problem of Blackness identity as external and internal invention 3 the Bandung spirit of decolonization as an embodiment of resistance and possibilities development and self improvement 4 development and self improvement of African political economy as entangled in the colonial matrix of power and the African Renaissance as weakened by undecolonized political and economic thought and 5 knowledge the role of African humanities in the struggle for epistemic freedom This groundbreaking volume opens the intellectual canvas on the challenges and possibilities of African futures It will be of great interest to students and scholars of Politics and International Relations Development Sociology African Studies Black Studies Education History Postcolonial Studies and the emerging field of Decolonial Studies

African Independence Amelia Khatri, 2025-03-19 African Independence explores the complex history of decolonization in Africa during the 20th century It examines how African nations fought to break free from colonial rule and establish their own identities The book highlights the diverse movements and leaders involved such as Kwame Nkrumah and Nelson Mandela while analyzing the challenges of nation building One intriguing fact is how the Scramble for Africa at the Berlin Conference set the stage for many of the struggles these independence movements faced Another key insight is the role of Pan Africanism in uniting and inspiring movements across the continent The book takes a chronological and thematic approach starting with the colonial era and the rise of nationalist movements It then progresses through the different paths to independence taken by various African nations grouped by colonial power and regional similarities Subsequent chapters address the hurdles of state building economic development and social divisions The book uses primary sources like speeches and secondary scholarship to present a balanced view of the triumphs and setbacks during this period It emphasizes that decolonization was a long process of negotiation resistance and transformation crucial for understanding contemporary African realities

Against Decolonisation Olúfemi

Táíwò,2022-06-30 Decolonisation has lost its way Originally a struggle to escape the West's direct political and economic control it has become a catch all idea often for performing morality or authenticity it suffocates African thought and denies African agency Olúfemi Táíwò fiercely rejects the indiscriminate application of decolonisation to everything from literature language and philosophy to sociology psychology and medicine He argues that the decolonisation industry obsessed with cataloguing wrongs is seriously harming scholarship on and in Africa He finds decolonisation of culture intellectually unsound and wholly unrealistic conflating modernity with coloniality and groundlessly advocating an open ended undoing of global society's foundations Worst of all today's movement attacks its own cause decolonisers themselves are disregarding infantilising and imposing values on contemporary African thinkers This powerful much needed intervention questions whether today's decolonisation truly serves African empowerment Táíwò's is a bold challenge to respect African intellectuals as innovative adaptors appropriators and synthesisers of ideas they have always seen as universally relevant

The Political Thought of African Independence Gregory R. Smulewicz-Zucker,2017-09-01

The Political Thought of African Independence An Anthology of Sources brilliantly frames the debates that captivated the world as former European colonies in Africa began their transition to sovereign rule in the 1950s and 60s Its wealth of key documents are enhanced by Gregory Smulewicz Zucker's General Introduction part introductions headnotes and annotations providing needed contextual information and supports for readers

Decolonization in Africa John D. Hargreaves,2014-07-30

John Hargreaves examines how the British French Belgian Spanish and Portuguese colonies in tropical Africa became independent in the postwar years and in doing so transformed the international landscape African demands for independence and colonial plans for reform central to the story are seen here in the wider context of changing international relationships

Authentically African

Sarah Van Beurden,2015-11-25 Together the Royal Museum for Central Africa in Tervuren Belgium and the Institut des Musées Nationaux du Zaïre IMNZ in the Congo have defined and marketed Congolese art and culture In Authentically African Sarah Van Beurden traces the relationship between the possession definition and display of art and the construction of cultural authenticity and political legitimacy from the late colonial until the postcolonial era Her study of the interconnected histories of these two institutions is the first history of an art museum in Africa and the only work of its kind in English

Drawing on Flemish language sources other scholars have been unable to access Van Beurden illuminates the politics of museum collections showing how the IMNZ became a showpiece in Mobutu's effort to revive authentic African culture She reconstructs debates between Belgian and Congolese museum professionals revealing how the dynamics of decolonization played out in the fields of the museum and international heritage conservation Finally she casts light on the art market showing how the traveling displays put on by the IMNZ helped intensify collectors interest and generate an international market for Congolese art The book contributes to the fields of history art history museum studies and anthropology and challenges existing narratives of Congo's decolonization It tells a new history of decolonization as a struggle over cultural categories the possession of cultural heritage and the right to define and represent cultural identities
