After-School Programs to Promote Child and Adolescent Development Institute of Medicine, National Research Council, Commission on Behavioral and Social Sciences and Education, Board on Children, Youth, and Families, Committee on Community-Level Programs for Youth, 2000-09-12 This report summarizes the presentations and discussion at a workshop entitled Opportunities to Promote Child and Adolescent Development During the After School Hours convened on October 21 1999 The workshop was organized by the Board on Children Youth and Families and its Forum on Adolescence of the National Research Council and the Institute of Medicine with funding from the David and Lucile Packard Foundation This workshop brought together policy makers researchers and practitioners to examine research on the developmental needs of children and adolescents ages 5 to 14 years and the types of after school programs designed to promote the health and development of these young people Intended to provide a forum for discussion among the various stakeholders the workshop did not generate conclusions about the types of programs that are most effective nor did it generate specific recommendations about after school programs or promote a particular approach The workshop coincided with release of the Packard Foundation's fall 1999 issue of The Future of Children entitled When School Is Out Focusing on after school programs the journal provided some context for the workshop providing a backdrop for discussing the importance of after school programs the types of programs that exist across the country and the policy climate that surrounds after school programs This report summarizes the workshop Investment in After-school Programs United States. Congress. Senate. Committee on Appropriations. Subcommittee on Departments of Labor, Health and Human Services, Education, and Related Agencies, 2003 Making Play Work Robert Halpern, 2003-01-01 After school programs are becoming an important developmental support for low and moderate income children This book describes the historical development current status and critical issues facing these programs Divided into historical eras for easy reference the text examines The evolution of after school programs and their role in the lives of children providing a framework for reflecting on broader contemporary issues such as the effects of poverty on children in the United States The rationales for and objectives of these programs and how both were shaped by prevailing societal ideas about children Patterns of sponsorship and staffing describing daily routines and exploring the nature of children's experiences in different kinds of programs The relationship between after school programs and schools analyzing how these programs have responded to the dilemma of balancing children's needs for guidance and supervision with their equally important need for spontaneity and self expression Current directions and expectations for the future of after school programs Safe and Smart ,1998 108-1 Hearings: Departments of Labor, Health and Human Services, Education, and Related Agencies Appropriations For 2004, Part 5, March 6, 2003,  ,2003 Departments of Labor, Health and Human Services, Education, and Related Agencies Appropriations for 2004: Department of Education United States.
