Age Of The Crowd A Historical Treatise On Mass Psychology:

The Age of the Crowd Serge Moscovici, 1985-09-05 The Age of the Crowd is at one level an historical account of the development of mass psychology and at another an analysis of its implications for prevalent political and social life It was the prophecy of Gustave Le Bon in 1895 that the twentieth century would be l ge des foules that gave Serge Moscovici the title for his book and it presents a systematic exposition of Le Bon s ideas and those of Gabriel Tarde demonstrating convincingly their influence on the theories of collective psychology advanced by Sigmund Freud These theories are re examined by Professor Moscovici in a fascinating commentary on political life Hitler Mussolini Lenin Stalin and Trotsky all in some way applied them in their leadership styles with consequences that are all too familiar The scenario painted by this volume is a disturbing one Serge Moscovici s acute analyses of mass phenomena raise fundamental questions concerning the foundations of democracy

The Age of the Crowd Serge Moscovici, 1985 Compliance Ideologies Richard W. Wilson, 1992-05-29

Originally published in 1992 this book is about political culture It examines developments in the social sciences and integrates them into a theoretical explanation of historical changes in political values The starting point is the premise that political culture is rooted in the interaction between individual thinking and social norms

The End of Labour History? Marcel van der Linden, 1993 The essays in this 1994 book aim to integrate labour history within the broader discipline of social history and to demonstrate the continuing vitality and validity of the sub discipline Each essay is in itself a response to criticisms of the ways in which labour historians have approached their subjects

Shell Shock Cinema Anton Kaes, 2009-08-24 How war trauma haunted the films of Weimar Germany Shell Shock Cinema explores how the classical German cinema of the Weimar Republic was haunted by the horrors of World War I and the the devastating effects of the nation s defeat In this exciting new book Anton Kaes argues that masterworks such as The Cabinet of Dr Caligari Nosferatu The Nibelungen and Metropolis even though they do not depict battle scenes or soldiers in combat engaged the war and registered its tragic aftermath These films reveal a wounded nation in post traumatic shock reeling from a devastating defeat that it never officially acknowledged let alone accepted Kaes uses the term shell shock coined during World War I to describe soldiers suffering from nervous breakdowns as a metaphor for the psychological wounds that found expression in Weimar cinema Directors like Robert Wiene F W Murnau and Fritz Lang portrayed paranoia panic and fear of invasion in films peopled with serial killers mad scientists and troubled young men Combining original close textual analysis with extensive archival research Kaes shows how this post traumatic cinema of shell shock transformed extreme psychological states into visual expression how it pushed the limits of cinematic representation with its fragmented story lines distorted perspectives and stark lighting and how it helped create a modernist film language that anticipated film noir and remains incredibly influential today A compelling contribution to the cultural history of trauma Shell Shock Cinema exposes how German film gave expression to the loss and acute grief that lay behind Weimar's sleek facade

Storia della storiografia, 2009

Church and State in Modern Britain 1700-1850 Richard Brown, 2002-01-04 In this the second part of his history of the Industrial Revolution Richard Brown examines the political and religious developments which took place in Britain between the 1780s and 1840s in terms of the aristocratic elite and through the expression of alternative radical ideologies Opening with a discussion of the nature of history and of Britain in 1700 it goes on to consider Britain's foreign policy the emergence of the modern state and the mid century crisis of the 1840s Unlike many previous works it emphasises British not just English history It is this diversity of experience and the focus on continuity as well as change women as well as men that makes this a distinctive text Students will also find the theoretical foundations of historical narrative and analysis clearly explained

Sculpture and Psychoanalysis Brandon Taylor, 2017-07-05 Just what do psychoanalysis and modern sculpture have to do with one another The present collection of essays unique in its field shows how key metaphors of Freudian and Kleinian psychoanalysis splitting projection sublimation identification the schizoid and reparative mechanisms as well as Lacan's concepts of the stade du miroir and the objet petit a can be fruitfully applied to a range of modern three dimensional art from Surrealism to the present day As these essays show figures such as Barbara Hepworth Eva Hesse Jean Jacques Lebel Robert Morris Donald Judd Gilbert and George Rebecca Horn and others have often approached the material of sculpture with something like these mechanisms in mind The need to unlock the levels of psychoanalytic connection between artist object and viewer in recent debate has fuelled the diverse proposals of this original and important book

Psychosocial Perspectives on Community Responses to Covid-19 Emma O'Dwyer, Luiz Gustavo Silva Souza, 2022-12-29 This highly topical edited book documents the community response to Covid 19 across national contexts exploring the widespread development and mobilisation of community initiatives and groups It provides rich analysis of case studies from the Global North and South including South Africa the USA India China Mexico Brazil Italy Australia the UK Turkey and Argentina The Covid 19 pandemic motivated a significant community response globally with the widespread development and mobilisation of bottom up community initiatives and groups These community responses were an essential yet often unseen and unrecognised means by which people survived the pandemic This book asks questions such as how were community responses to Covid 19 shaped by national cultural and political processes and phenomena how did community responses to Covid 19 interact with public policies on health education and social welfare and what are the likely political implications of the community response to Covid 19 Discussing the provision of abortion care in Latin America the support to marginalized communities in Kolkata and the mobilisation of carnival krewes in New Orleans to give a few examples the text adopts and develops a novel socio cultural psychological approach weaving together contributions from scholars working in diverse disciplinary fields The text highlights the importance of integrating multiple levels of analysis including psychological sociological and political ideological to investigate how communities respond to crises such as the Covid 19 pandemic and how they can plan for and manage future crises This is essential reading for academics and students in psychology and the social sciences as well as policy makers charities and third sector organisations
