African Enclosures The Social Dynamics Of Wetlands In Drylands:

African Enclosures? Philip Woodhouse, 2001 The New Enclosures: Critical Perspectives on Corporate Land Deals Ben White, Saturnino Borrás Jr., Ruth Hall, Ian Scoones, Wendy Wolford, 2013-09-13 This collection explores the complex dynamics of corporate land deals from a broad agrarian political economy perspective with a special focus on the implications for property and labour regimes labour processes and structures of accumulation This involves looking at ways in which existing patterns of rural social differentiation in terms of class gender ethnicity and generation are being shaped by changes in land use and property relations as well as by the re organization of production and exchange as rural communities and resources are incorporated into global commodity chains It goes further than the descriptive what and who questions in order to understand the how and why of these patterns It is empirically solid and theoretically sophisticated making it a robust and boundary changing work Contributors come from various scholarly disciplines Covering nearly all regions of the world the collection will be of interest to researchers from various disciplines policymakers and activists This book was originally published as a Special Issue of the Journal of Peasant Studies Wetland Management and Sustainable Livelihoods in Africa Adrian Wood, Alan Dixon, Matthew McCartney, 2013-06-19 In this book the authors argue for a paradigm shift in the way African wetlands are considered Current policies and wetland management are too frequently underpinned by a perspective that views agriculture simply as a threat and disregards its important contribution to livelihoods In rural areas where people are entrenched in poverty wetlands in particular wetland agriculture have a critical role to play in supporting and developing peoples livelihoods Furthermore as populations rise and climate change takes grip they will be increasingly important The authors argue that an approach to wetland management that is much more people focused is required That is an approach that instead of being concerned primarily with environmental outcomes is centred on livelihood outcomes supported by the sustainable use of natural wetland resources The authors stress the need for Integrated Water Resource Management and landscape approaches to ensure sustainable use of wetlands throughout a river catchment and the need for wetland management interventions to engage with a wide range of stakeholders They also assess the feasibility of creating incentives and value in wetlands to support sustainable use Drawing on nine empirical case studies this book highlights the different ways in which sustainable use of wetlands has been sought each case focusing on specific issues about wetlands agriculture and livelihoods Drylands Facing Change Angela Kronenburg García, Tobias Haller, Han van Dijk, Cyrus Samimi, Jeroen Warner, 2022-12-13 This edited volume examines the changes that arise from the entanglement of global interests and narratives with the local struggles that have always existed in the drylands of Africa the Middle East and Central Asia Inner Asia Changes in drylands are happening in an overwhelming manner Climate change growing political instability and increasing enclosures of large expanses of often common land are some of the changes with far reaching consequences for those who make their living in the drylands At the same time powerful narratives about the drylands as wastelands and their backward inhabitants continue to hold sway legitimizing interventions for development security and conservation informing re emerging frontiers of investment for agriculture extraction infrastructure and shaping new dryland identities The chapters in this volume discuss the politics of change triggered by forces as diverse as the global land and resource rush the expansion of new Information and Communication Technologies urbanization the COVID 19 pandemic and the spread of violent extremism While recognizing that changes are co produced by differently positioned actors from within and outside the drylands this volume presents the dryland s point of view It therefore takes the views experiences and agencies of dryland dwellers as the point of departure to not only understand the changes that are transforming their lives livelihoods and future aspirations but also to highlight the unexpected spaces of contestation and innovation that have hitherto remained understudied This edited volume will be of much interest to students researchers and scholars of natural resource management land and resource grabbing political ecology sustainable development and drylands in general The Open Access version of this book available at www.taylorfrancis.com has been made available under a Creative Commons Attribution Non Commercial No Derivatives 4.0 license

Towards a New Map of Africa Camilla Toulmin, Ben Wisner, 2012-05-23 The big era defining questions and at last the subtle tenable answers teased out without cliché or compromise A vital volume at a critical moment Dr Augustus Casely Hayford Director Africa 05 This book dispels the myth of a uniformly hopeless hungry continent It shows just how extraordinarily diverse Africa is and how much it has changed in the last 20 years Full of fresh thinking on problems that face Africa and new African approaches to development Richard Dowden Director Royal African Society This ground breaking book with a foreword by former President of Ireland 1997 and UN Human Rights Commissioner 1997-2002 Mary Robinson uniquely distils the complex issues surrounding Africa at the beginning of the 21st century African and Western scholars provide a fascinating map for the reader to navigate between issues such as urban and rural livelihoods the potential of fresh water fishing health the HIV AIDS crisis conflict and efforts at peacemaking Also included are critical assessments of Africa s role in the global economy the growth of regional economic cooperation within Africa the influence of ethnicity on the continent s politics the evolution of its political institutions and the impact of Africa s legal systems on its development A substantial introductory essay by the editors measures the distance Africa has travelled and the lessons it has learned since Africa in Crisis the classic Earthscan book was published in 1985 Ben Wisner is visiting research fellow at DESTIN London School of Economics and at Benfield Hazard Research Centre University College London and visiting professor of environmental studies Oberlin College USA Camilla Toulmin is Director of the International Institute for Environment and Development Rutendo Chitiga is a freelance writer and editor and has a postgraduate degree in environment and development

The New Peasantries Jan Douwe van der Ploeg, 2012-05-23 This book explores the position role and significance of the peasantry in an era of globalization particularly of the agrarian markets and food industries It argues that the peasant condition is characterized by a struggle for autonomy that finds expression in the creation and development of a self governed resource base and associated forms of sustainable development In this respect the peasant mode of farming fundamentally differs from entrepreneurial and corporate ways of farming The author demonstrates that the peasantries are far from waning Instead both industrialized and developing countries are witnessing complex and richly chequered processes of re peasantization with peasants now numbering over a billion worldwide The author s arguments are based on three longitudinal studies in Peru Italy and The Netherlands that span 30 years and provide original and thought provoking insights into rural and agrarian development processes The book combines and integrates different bodies of literature the rich traditions of peasant studies development sociology rural sociology neo institutional economics and the recently emerging debates on Empire

Managing Natural Resources for Development in Africa Washington Odongo Ochola,P. C. Sanginga,Isaac Bekalo,2010 The complex and dynamic interlinks between natural resource management NRM and development have long been recognized by national and international research and development organizations and have generated voluminous literature However much of what is available in the form of university course books practical learning manuals and reference materials in NRM is based on experiences from outside Africa Managing Natural Resources for Development in Africa A Resource Book provides an understanding of the various levels at which NRM issues occur and are being addressed scientifically economically socially and politically The book s nine chapters present state of the art perspectives within a holistic African context The book systematically navigates the tricky landscape of integrated NRM with special reference to Eastern and Southern Africa against the backdrop of prevailing local national regional and global social economic and environmental challenges The authors wide experience the rich references made to emerging challenges and opportunities and the presentation of different tools principles approaches case studies and processes make the book a rich and valuable one stop resource for postgraduate students researchers policymakers and NRM practitioners The book is designed to help the reader grasp in depth NRM perspectives and presents innovative guidance for research design and problem solving including review questions learning activities and recommended further reading The book was developed through a writeshop process by a multi disciplinary team of lecturers from the University of Nairobi Egerton University Kenyatta University the University of Zimbabwe the University of Malawi Makerere University and the University of Dar es Salam In addition selected NRM experts from regional and international research organizations including the World Agroforestry Center ICRAF the Africa Forest Forum RUFORUM IIRR and the International Development Research Centre IDRC participated in the writeshop and contributed material to the book

A Companion to the Anthropology of Africa Roy Richard Grinker,Stephen C. Lubkemann,Christopher B. Steiner,Euclides Gonçalves,2019-02-06 An essential collection of scholarly essays on the anthropology of Africa offering a thorough introduction to the most important topics in this evolving and diverse field of study The study of the cultures of Africa has been central to the methodological and theoretical development of anthropology as a discipline since the late 19th century As the anthropology of Africa has emerged as a distinct field of study anthropologists working in this tradition have strived to build a disciplinary conversation that recognizes the diversity and complexity of modern and ancient African cultures while acknowledging the effects of historical anthropology on the present and future of the field of study A Companion to the Anthropology of Africa is a collection of insightful essays covering the key questions and subjects in the contemporary anthropology of Africa with a key focus on addressing the topics that define the contemporary discipline Written and edited by a team of leading cultural anthropologists it is an ideal introduction to the most important topics in the field both those that have consistently been a part of the critical dialogue and those that have emerged as the central questions of the discipline s future Beginning with essays on the enduring topics in the study of African cultures A Companion to the Anthropology of Africa provides a foundation in the contemporary critical approach to subjects of longstanding interest With these subjects as a groundwork later essays address decolonization the postcolonial experience and questions of modern identity and definition providing representation of the diverse thinking and scholarship in the modern anthropology of Africa

The Contested Floodplain Tobias Haller,2013 The Contested Floodplain tells the story of institutional changes in the management of common pool resources pasture wildlife and fisheries among Ila and Balundwe agro pastoralists and Batwa fishermen in the Kafue Flats in southern Zambia It explains how and why a once rich floodplain area managed under local common property regimes becomes a poor man s place and a degraded resource area Based on social anthropological field research the book explains how well working institutions in the past regulating communal access to resources have turned into state property and open access or privatization As a basis for analysis the author uses Elinor Ostrom s design principles for well working institutions and the approach of the New Institutionalism by Jean Ensminger The latter approach focuses on external factors and change in relative prices It explains how local actors face changing bargaining power and use different ideologies to legitimize and shape resource use regulations The study focuses on the historic developments taking place since pre colonial and colonial times up to today Haller shows how the commons had been well regulated by local institutions in the past often embedded in religious belief systems He then explains the transformation from common property to state property since colonial times When the state is unable to provide well functioning institutions due to a lack in financial income it contributes to de facto open access and degradation of the commons The Zambian copper based economy has faced crisis since 1975 and many Zambians have to look for economic alternatives and find ways to profit from the lack of state control a paradox of the present absent state And while the state is absent external actors use the ideology of citizenship to justify free use of resources during conflicts with local people Also within Zambian communities floodplain resources are highly contested which is illustrated through conflicts over a proposed irrigation scheme in the area The different actors and interest groups use ideologies such as citizenship vs being indigenous ethnic identity vs class conflict and modernity vs traditional way of life to legitimize land claims

Green Development Bill Adams,2008-07-30 The third edition retains the clear and powerful argument of previous editions but has been updated to reflect advances in ideas and changes in international policy Greater attention has been given to political ecology environmental risk and the environmental impacts of development
