Age And The Pharmacology Of Psychoactive Drugs:

Age and the Pharmacology of Psychoactive Drugs Allen Raskin, Donald S. Robinson, Jerome Levine, 1981

Psychopharmacology Bulletin ,1966 Drug Studies in the Elderly N.R. Cutler, P.K. Narang, 2013-11-11 Clinical trials are the most definitive tool for evaluation of the applicability of clinical investigations. The main objective of clinical investigations is to assess the potential value of a therapeutic entity in the treatment or prophylaxis of a disease or a condition. It is also deemed necessary at this stage to obtain information regarding the undesirable side effects associated risks and their interrelationship with clinical assessments. Most of these clinical investigations conform in some form or fashion to the guidelines adopted by the Food and Drug Administration (FDA) for a given class of compounds. Clinical investigations in the past have not included specific studies in special or subpopulations e.g. the elderly. Because of an ever increasing elderly population, newer policies for clinical investigations are now being debated with the recognition of enhanced drug sensitivity in this special population. This key research activity can lead not only to improved health care in the elderly but also to control of its costs. National Library of Medicine Current Catalog National Library of Medicine (U.S.), 1982 A - Airports British Library, 2012-05-21 No detailed description available for A Airports Alzheimer's Disease Abraham Fisher, Israel Hanin, Chaim Lachman, 2012-12-06 Alzheimer's disease is a primary neurodegenerative disease whose incidence and prevalence is rapidly approaching epidemic proportions. A major reason for this is that man is living longer than he has ever lived before and the likelihood of contracting the disease is significantly greater within the elderly portion of the population. The problem becomes even more acute in the light of recent estimates which predict that the number of people living beyond the age of 65 is expected to continue to increase. The impact of these statistics on the family and the health care industry in terms of time effort and cost are staggering. A recent report issued by the Michigan Task Force on Alzheimer's Disease and Related Conditions 1987 effectively underscores this last point. Each person with a dementing disease requires an average of seven years of care either at home or in a residential care facility. Care provided at home is estimated to cost about 12 000 annually for a total of 84 000 per person. This is a conservative figure however because many persons with dementia spend their last few years in a nursing home at an average cost of 22 000 per year and some spend from 10 to 15 years in a nursing home for a total cost of 220 000 to 330 000. Issues in Geriatric Psychiatry N.
