Agee And Actuality Artistic Vision In His Work:

Agee and Actuality Victor A. Kramer, 1991 These essays provide detailed analysis of both James Agee's life and writings. Especially they illuminate aspects of his literary career as it developed through refinements and change. Paired the twelve essays work in groups to demonstrate that at the core of his writing remains his concern for what he once called the dignity of actuality. From book jacket Agee at 100 Michael A. Lofaro, 2012-02-25 Drawn mainly from the centennial anniversary symposium on James Agee held at the University of Tennessee in the fall of 2009 the essays of Agee at 100 are as diverse in topic and purpose as is Agee's work itself. Often devalued during his life by those who thought his breadth a hindrance to greatness Agee's achievements as a poet, novelist, journalist, essayist, critic, documentarian, and screenwriter are now more fully recognized. With its use of previously unknown and recently recovered materials as well as established works this groundbreaking new collection is a timely contribution to the resurgence of interest in Agee's significance. The essays in this collection range from the scholarly to the personal and all offer insight into Agee's writing, his cultural influence, and ultimately Agee himself. Dwight Garner opens with his reflective essay on Why Agee Matters. Several essays present almost entirely new material on Agee. Paul Ashdown writes on Agee's book reviews which, unlike Agee's film criticism, have received scant attention. With evidence from two largely unstudied manuscripts Jeffrey Couchman sets the record straight on Agee's contribution to the screenplay for The African Queen and delves as well into his television miniseries screenplay Mr. Lincoln. John Wranovics treats Agee's lesser known films, the documentaries In the Street and The Quiet One, and the Filipino epic Genghis Khan. Jeffrey J. Folks wrestles with Agee's culture of repudiation while James A. Crank investigates his perplexing treatment of race in his prose. Jesse Graves and Andrew Crooke provide new analyses of Let Us Now Praise Famous Men and Michael A. Lofaro and Philip Stogdon both discuss Lofaro's recently restored text of A Death in the Family. David Madden closes the collection with his short story Seeing Agee in Lincoln, an imagined letter from Agee to his longtime confidante Father Flye. The contributors to Agee at 100 utilize materials new and old to reveal the true importance of Agee's range of cultural sensibility and literary ability. Film scholars will also find this collection particularly engrossing, as will anyone fascinated by the work of the author, rightly deemed the sovereign prince of the English language. Encyclopedia of Literary Modernism Paul Poplawski, 2003-12-30 Modernism is still widely acknowledged as perhaps the most important and influential artistic and cultural phenomenon of the 20th century. Written by expert scholars from around the world and covering hundreds of different topics in a clear, incisive, and critical manner, this reference maps the complex field of modernism in a fresh and original way. The principal focus of the book is on English language literary modernism and the period 1890-1939, yet many entries extend beyond those parameters to include important precursors and successors of the movement. The book also covers the crucial European and interdisciplinary dimensions of modernism and provides complementary comparative perspectives from countries and regions not usually included in traditional accounts of the
