addition to this unique database the research approach and techniques in sample lection econometric and cross sectional analyses are state of the art The author develops and empirically tests an integrative dynamic model of collaborative value drivers These reflect the specific characteristics of biotechnology firms and biotechnology alliances Moreover the work tends to so far entirely unresearched dynamic aspects of alliances such as the value of contractual flexibilities the impact of environmental uncertainty and the evolution of alliances over time Overall Hady Farag s work underscores the need to consider pluralistic influences on the value of collaborative ventures Ulrich's Periodicals Directory 2005 R.
