

A Sound Of The Bog

It followed me south from the bogs far away
The male snipe in his territorial display
Above the brown bogland he makes a fast drumming sound
With his tail feathers as he flies around
All night under a darkened sky
He drums out his love calls as he does fly
Until the light of dawn creeps through the clouds of gray
He flies down to the bog for to rest for the day
In my nostalgic moments i often does hear

A sound of the bog in the Spring of the year
The past may be gone but the memories remain
Of a familiar sound i may not hear again
Memories of the snipe's courtship and territoril display today i retain Why we miss somethings of the past beyond me to explain
In Spring all night long above the bog until the dawn of day
The male snipe does fly in his courtship display.

The Oxford Handbook of British and Irish War Poetry Tim Kendall, 2007-02-22 Thirty seven chapters written by leading literary critics from across the world describe the latest thinking about twentieth century war poetry The book maps both the uniqueness of each war and the continuities between poets of different wars while the interconnections between the literatures of war and peacetime and between combatant and civilian poets are fully considered The focus is on Britain and Ireland but links are drawn with the poetry of the United States and continental Europe The Oxford Handbook feeds a growing interest in war poetry and offers in toto a definitive survey of the terrain It is intended for a broad audience made up of specialists and also graduates and undergraduates and is an essential resource for both scholars of particular poets and for those interested in wider debates about modern poetry This scholarly and readable assessment of the field will provide an important point of reference for decades to come Contemporary Irish Poetry and the Climate Crisis Andrew J.

Auge, Eugene O'Brien, 2021-11-29 Contemporary Irish Poetry and the Climate Crisis addresses what is arguably the most crucial issue of human history through the lens of late twentieth and early twenty first century Irish poetry The poets that it surveys range from familiar presences in the contemporary Irish literary canon Seamus Heaney Derek Mahon Paula Meehan Moya Cannon to lesser known figures such as the experimental poet Maurice Scully contemporary poets Stephen Sexton and Sean Hewitt and the Irish language poets Simon Faol in Br d N Mh r in and M ire Dinny Wren Adopting a variety of ecotheoretical approaches the essays gathered here address several interrelated themes crucial to the climate crisis the way in which the scalar scope of climate change interweaves local and global distant past and imminent future nature and culture the critical importance of acknowledging the complex kinship of the human and nonhuman and the necessity of warning against the devastating environmental losses to come while mourning those that already occurred Ultimately by envisioning new ways of existing on an earth that humans no longer dominate this book engages in what the philosopher Jonathan Lear refers to as a process of radical anticipation Daily Poetry Carol Simpson, 1996 Select a poem of the week and then follow this book's Monday to Friday schedule of activities for deepening students appreciation of that poem Choose your own poem or use one of the 39 supplied in this book as reproducible handouts each of the book's poems comes with half a dozen or more activities related to the poem's language and its themes a list of related poems and children's books and a writing assignment based on a reproducible handout The book also describes 12 activity ideas that will work with any poem Grades K

Contemporary Irish Poetry and the Pastoral Tradition Donna L. Potts, 2012-01-01 In Contemporary Irish Poetry and the Pastoral Tradition Donna L. Potts closely examines the pastoral genre in the work of six Irish poets writing today Through the exploration of the poets and their works she reveals the wide range of purposes that pastoral has served in both Northern Ireland and the Republic a postcolonial critique of British imperialism a response to modernity industrialization and globalization a way of uncovering political and social repercussions of gendered representations of Ireland and more recently a means for conveying environmentalism s more complex understanding of the value of nature Potts traces the pastoral back to its origins in the work of Theocritus of Syracuse in the third century and plots its evolution due to cultural changes While all pastoral poems share certain generic traits Potts makes clear that pastorals are shaped by social and historical contexts and Irish pastorals in particular were influenced by Ireland s unique relationship with the land language and industrialization due to England s colonization For her discussion Potts has chosen six poets who have written significant collections of pastoral poetry and whose work is in dialogue with both the pastoral tradition and other contemporary pastoral poets Three poets are men John Montague Seamus Heaney Michael Longley while three are women Eavan Boland Medbh McGuckian Nuala N Dhomhnaill Five are English language authors while the sixth N Dhomhnaill writes in Irish Additionally some of the poets hail from the Republic while others originate from Northern Ireland Potts contends that while both Irish Republic and Northern Irish poets respond to a shared history of British colonization in their pastorals the 1921 partition of the country caused the pastoral tradition to evolve differently on either side of the border primarily because of the North s more rapid industrialization its more heavily Protestant population whose response to environmentalism was somewhat different than that of the Republic s predominantly Catholic population as well the greater impact of the world wars and the Irish Troubles In an important distinction from other studies of Irish poetry Potts moves beyond the influence of history and politics on contemporary Irish pastoral poetry to consider the relatively recent influence of ecology Contemporary Irish poets often rely on the motif of the pastoral retreat to highlight various environmental threats to those retreats whether they be high rises motorways global warming or acid rain Potts concludes by speculating on the future of pastoral in contemporary Irish poetry through her examination of more recent poets including Moya Cannon and Paula Meehan as well as other genres such as film drama and fiction

Poetry and the 3-11 Curriculum Virginia Bower, 2022-11-01 Poetry can enable learners to engage learn and have fun whatever their cognitive linguistic or social levels and this book provides a great many examples of how this might be achieved This exciting and innovative text provides a wide range of ideas for using poetry to enhance the early years and primary curricula and therefore the learning experience of all children Each chapter contains ideas for pedagogy and practice underpinned by research and classroom experience ensuring that practitioners will come away feeling much more confident to teach this genre and better enjoy poetry themselves Throughout there are discussions around specific pedagogies and practices relating to the use of poetry across the curriculum as well as resources including a wide range of poems from diverse countries and cultures and poems in different languages and activities which can immediately be used in the classroom Ideas are provided in terms of how poems can be employed in different subject areas to introduce or reinforce concepts engage children in more challenging concepts ensure that lessons are fun and engaging and develop children s awareness of other people and places beyond their immediate experience This book is an extremely powerful combination of informed discussion drawing on ideas from different theoretical perspectives including recent findings from neuroscience and practical suggestions for every classroom Armed with this text practitioners will not only have a very strong idea of how to use poetry to enhance their curriculum but also why this is such a compelling genre
