Behind the Battle Ralph Francis Bennett, 1994 Intelligence Power in Peace and War Michael Herman, 1996-10-13

Intelligence services form an important but controversial part of the modern state Drawing mainly on British and American examples this book provides an analytic framework for understanding the intelligence community and assessing its value Michael Herman a former senior British Intelligence officer describes the various components of intelligence discusses what intelligence is for considers issues of accuracy evaluation and efficiency and makes recommendations for the future of intelligence in the post Cold War world Espionage, Security, and Intelligence in Britain, 1945-1970 Richard James Aldrich, 1998

This book takes the concept of postmemory developed in Holocaust studies and applies it for the first time to novels by contemporary British writers Focusing on war fiction Alden builds upon current scholarship on historical fiction and memory studies and extends the field by exploring how the use of historical research within fiction illuminates the ways in which we remember and recreate the past Using postmemory to unlock both the transgenerational aspects of the novels discussed and the development of historiographic metafiction Alden provides a ground breaking analysis of the nature and potential of contemporary historical fiction By examining the patterns and motivations behind authors translations of material from the historical record into fiction Alden also asks to what extent such writing is necessarily metafictional
