Britain, America, and the Special Relationship since 1941 B. J. C McKercher, 2017-06-07 Britain America and the Special Relationship since 1941 examines the Anglo American strategic and military relationship that developed during the Second World War and continued until recent years Forged on a common ground of social cultural and ideological values as well as political expediency this partnership formed the basis of the western alliance throughout the Cold War playing an essential part in bringing stability to the post 1945 international order Clearly written and chronologically organized the book begins by discussing the origins of the Special Relationship and its progression from uneasy coexistence in the eighteenth century to collaboration at the start of the Second World War McKercher explores the continued evolution of this partnership during the conflicts that followed such as the Suez Crisis the Vietnam War and the Falklands War The book concludes by looking at the developments in British and American politics during the past two decades and analysing the changing dynamics of this alliance over the course of its existence Illustrated with maps and photographs and supplemented by a chronology of events and list of key figures this is an essential introductory resource for students of the political history and foreign policies of Britain and the United States in the twentieth century

Industrial Clusters John F. Wilson, Chris Corker, Joe Lane, 2022-07-01 Industrial Clusters shows the latest state of knowledge on the topic of industrial clusters with a particular focus on clustering in the UK bringing together a chronological coverage of the phenomenon This set of original essays by a group of leading business and industrial historians offers fresh perspectives about clusters and clustering A primary emphasis of the collection is how knowledge is generated and disseminated across a cluster and whether these processes stimulated innovation and consequently longer term sustainability This analysis also prompts questions about which unit of analysis to examine from the entrepreneurs and firms they created through to the industry as a whole and district in which they are located or whether one should look outside the region for explanatory factors Covering regions as diverse as North Wales the Scottish Highlands the City of London the Potteries Sheffield and Lancashire the essays have been channelled to provide a detailed understanding of these issues The editors have also provided a challenging Conclusion that suggests a new research agenda that could well unravel some of the mysteries associated with clustering This edited collection will be of interest to international researchers academics and students in the fields of business and management history innovation industrialisation and clusters
