British Novel Since The 30s

Sebastian Groes

British Novel Since The 30s:

The British Novel Since the Thirties Randall Stevenson, 1986 This is a survey of the British novel from the 1930s to the present day The book includes commentary on all the major novelists of the period and also on a number of lesser known writers The examination of individual writers is however subordinate to the main purpose of the book which is to provide a coherent account of the nature and development of British fiction over the last 50 years

The 1970s: A Decade of Contemporary British Fiction Nick Hubble, John McLeod, Philip Tew, 2014-02-27 How did social cultural and political events in Britain during the 1970s shape Contemporary British Fiction Exploring the impact of events like the Cold War miners strikes and Winter of Discontent this volume charts the transition of British fiction from post war to contemporary Chapters outline the decade s diversity of writing showing how the literature of Ian McEwan and Ian Sinclair interacted with the experimental work of B S Johnson Close contextual readings of Welsh Scottish Northern Irish and English novels map the steady break up of Britain Tying the popularity of Angela Carter and Fay Weldon to the growth of the Women s Liberation Movement and calling attention to a new interest in documentary modes of autobiographical writing this volume also examines the rising resonance of the marginal voices the world of 1970s British Feminist fiction and postcolonial and diasporic writers Against a backdrop of social tensions this major critical reassessment of the 1970s defines explores and better understands the criticism and fiction of a decade marked by the sense of endings

The Contemporary British Novel Since 1980 James Acheson, S. Ross, 2019-06-12 Written by some of the world s finest contemporary literature specialists the specially commissioned essays in this volume examine the work of more than twenty major British novelists including Peter Ackroyd Martin Amis Iain M Banks Pat Barker Julian Barnes A S Byatt Angela Carter Janice Galloway Kazuo Ishiguro Hanif Kureishi Ian McEwan Salman Rushdie Zadie Smith Graham Swift Rose Tremain Marina Warner Irvine Welsh and Jeanette Winterson Focusing mainly on authors whose first novels have appeared since 1980 the essays provide expert and original analysis of the most recent trends in the theory and practice of contemporary British fiction and are organized by these 4 major approaches realism postcolonialism feminism and postmodernism

Contemporary British Novel Since 2000 James Acheson, 2017-01-17 Focuses on the novels published since 2000 by twenty major British novelists The Contemporary British Novel Since 2000 is divided into five parts with the first part examining the work of four particularly well known and highly regarded twenty first century writers Ian McEwan David Mitchell Hilary Mantel and Zadie Smith It is with reference to each of these novelists in turn that the terms realist apostmodernist ahistorical and apostcolonialist fiction are introduced while in the remaining four parts other novelists are discussed and the meaning of the terms amplified From the start it is emphasised that these terms and others often mean different things to different novelists and that the complexity of their novels often obliges us to discuss their work with reference to more than one of the terms Also discusses the works of Maggie O Farrell Sarah Hall A L Kennedy Alan Warner Ali Smith Kazuo Ishiguro Kate Atkinson Salman Rushdie Adam Foulds Sarah

Waters James Robertson Mohsin Hamid Andrea Levy and Aminatta Forna British Fictions of the Sixties Sebastian Groes, 2016-05-19 British Fictions of the Sixties focuses on the major socio political changes that marked the sixties in relationship to the development of literature over the decade This book is the first critical study to acknowledge that the 1960s can only be understood if next to its contemporary socio political history its fictions and mythologies are acknowledged as a vital constituent in the understanding of the decade Groes uncovers a major epistemological shift and presents a powerful meta narrative about post war literature in the UK and beyond British Fictions of the Sixties offers a re examination of canonical writers such as Iris Murdoch Angela Carter Muriel Spark and John Fowles It also pays critical attention to avant garde writers including Ann Quinn Bridget Brophy Eva Figes Christine Brooke Rose and J G Ballard presenting a comprehensive insight into the continuing power the decade exerts on the contemporary imagination Marginality in the Contemporary British Novel Nicola Allen, 2011-10-27 The Marginal as a concept has become an integral part of the British novel as it stands at the turn of the century Both popular and literary fiction since the mid 1970s has seen an increasing emphasis on the marginal subject This study offers readings of a wide range of contemporary British novels that represent characters or communities at the margin of society Nicola Allen analyses three conceptual categories representing the marginal subject in the contemporary British novel the character of the misfit or outsider the emergence of the grotesque and the rediscovery of previously marginalized narratives such as myth and fantasy This innovative and original monograph focuses on the contention that the contemporary novel of marginality conveys a belief in the socially transformative powers of narrative and suggests that narrative has played a central role in bringing marginal politics and marginal issues to the fore in contemporary Britain The British and Irish Novel Since 1960 James Acheson, 1991-09-03 The essays in this collection survey the work of some of the most important British and Irish novelists of today They not only consider afresh the work of novelists who established their reputations before 1960 such as Doris Lessing and William Golding they also discuss the work of more recent novelists among them Kazuo Ishiguro Angela Carter and Graham Swift The contributors are drawn from various parts of the English speaking world and provide a variety of original perspectives on the novelists concerned

British Fiction in the 1930s James Gindin, 2016-07-27 British Fiction in the 1930s studies the literary climate of the British 1930s through a critical treatment of some of its influential and socially representative fiction The works depict in various ways a culture under the stress of seemingly insoluble economic and intensifying international dilemmas a culture that seems betrayed by the promise of its past and the paralysis of its present The fiction considers transforming solutions individual and sexual rebellions as well as the fears and attractions of social and political change The Encyclopedia of Twentieth-Century Fiction, 3 Volume Set Brian W. Graham Greene's Thrillers and the 1930s Brian Diemert, 1996

In Graham Greene's Thrillers and the 1930s Brian Diemert examines the first and most prolific phase of Graham Greene's career demonstrating the close relationship between Greene's fiction and the political economic social and literary contexts of the period Situating Greene alongside other young writers who responded to the worsening political climate of the 1930s by promoting social and political reform Diemert argues that Greene believed literature could not be divorced from its social and political milieu and saw popular forms of writing as the best way to inform a wide audience Diemert traces Greene's adaptation of nineteenth century romance thrillers and classical detective stories into modern political thrillers as a means of presenting serious concerns in an engaging fashion He argues that Greene's popular thrillers were in part a reaction to the high modernism of writers such as James Joyce Gertrude Stein and Virginia Woolf whose esoteric experiments with language were disengaged from immediate social concerns and inaccessible to a large segment of the reading public
