Architects and Intellectual Culture in Post-Restoration

England Matthew Walker, 2017-10-20 Architects Builders and Intellectual Culture in Restoration England charts the moment when well educated well resourced English intellectuals first became interested in classical architecture in substantial numbers This occurred after the Restoration of the Monarchy in 1660 and involved people such as John Evelyn Robert Hooke Sir Christopher Wren and Roger North Matthew Walker explores how these figures treated architecture as a subject of intellectual enquiry either as writers as designers of buildings or as both In four substantial chapters it looks at how the architect was defined as a major intellectual figure how architects acquired material that allowed them to define themselves as intellectually competent architects how intellectual writers in the period handled knowledge of ancient architecture in their writing and how the design process in architecture was conceived of in theoretical writing at the time In all Walker shows that the key to understanding English architectural culture at the time is to understand how architecture was handled as knowledge and how architects were conceived of as collectors and producers of such knowledge He also makes the claim that architecture was treated as an extremely serious and important area of intellectual enquiry the result of which was that by the turn of the eighteenth century architects and architectural writers could count themselves amongst England s intellectual and cultural elite

Dilettanti Bruce Redford, 2008-08-07 Bruce Redford re creates the vibrant culture of connoisseurship in Enlightenment England by investigating the multifaceted activities and achievements of the Society of Dilettanti Elegantly and wittily he dissects the British connoisseurs whose expeditions collections and publications laid the groundwork for the Neoclassical revival and for the scholarly study of Graeco Roman antiquity After the foundation of the society in 1732 the Dilettanti commissioned portraits of the members Including a striking group of mock classical and mock religious representations these portraits were painted by George Knapton Sir Joshua Reynolds and Sir Thomas Lawrence During the second half of the century the society s expeditions to the Levant yielded a series of pioneering architectural folios beginning with the first volume The Antiquities of Athens in 1762 These monumental volumes aspired to empirical exactitude in text and image alike They prepared the way for Specimens of Antient Sculpture 1809 which combines the didactic detailed investigations into technique condition restoration and provenance with the connoisseurial plates that bring the illustration of ancient sculpture to new artistic heights The Society of Dilettanti's projects and publications exemplify the Enlightenment ideal of the gentleman amateur which is linked in turn to a culture of wide ranging curiosity

The Ruins of the Most Beautiful Monuments of Greece David Le Roy, 2004 The striking engravings of Julien David Le Roy's The Ruins of the Most Beautiful Monuments of Greece 1758 first revealed the architectural wonders of ancient Athens to the West Part architectural theory part archaeological report part travelogue the greatly expanded edition of 1770 here translated into English is entirely original in its understanding of the spirit of classical Greek architecture and in its influence on the direction of contemporary architectural creation Book jacket

Music and Moral Management in the Nineteenth-Century English Lunatic Asylum Rosemary Golding, 2021-09-01. This book traces the role played by music within asylums, the participation of staff and patients in musical activity and the links drawn between music, health and wellbeing. In the first part of the book, the author draws on a wide range of sources to investigate the debates around moral management, entertainment and music for patients, as well as the wider context of music and mental health. In the second part, a series of case studies bring to life the characters and contexts involved in asylum music, selected from a range of public and private institutions. From asylum bands to chapel choirs, smoking concerts to orchestras, the rich variety of musical activity presents new perspectives on music in everyday life. Aspects such as employment practices, musicians' networks and the purchase and maintenance of musical instruments illuminate the business of music as part of moral management. As a source of entertainment and occupation, a means of solace and self-control, and as a device for social gatherings and contact with the outside world, the place of music in the asylum offers valuable insight into its uses and meanings in nineteenth-century England.

Dalmatia and the Mediterranean Alina Payne, 2014-01-23. Using the Braudelian concept of the Mediterranean, this volume focuses on the condition of coastal exchanges involving the Dalmatian littoral and its Adriatic and more distant maritime network. Spalato and Ragusa intersect with Constantinople, Cairo and Spanish Naples, just as Sinan, Palladio and Robert Adam cross paths in this liquid expanse. Concentrating on materiality and on the arts, architecture, in particular, the authors identify portability and hybridity as characteristic of these exchanges and tease out expected and unexpected serendipitous moments when they occurred. Focusing on translation and its instruments, these essays expand the traditional concept of influence by thrusting mobility and the hardware of cultural transmission into the foreground. Contributors include Doris Behrens Abouseif (SOAS), University of London; Joško Belamari (Institute of Art History, Split); Marzia Faietti (Uffizi, Florence); Jasenka Gudelj (University of Zagreb); Cemal Kafadar (Harvard University); Ioli Kalavrezou (Harvard University); Suzanne Marchand (State University of Louisiana); Erika Naginski (Harvard University); G. Iru Necipoğlu (Harvard University); Goran Nikšić (City of Split, Split); Alina Payne (Harvard University); Avinoam Shalem (Columbia University); and David Young Kim (University of Pennsylvania).
