Language Debates Various,2021-11-25 This book captures an urgent moment for language teaching learning and research At its core are a series of debates concerning gender stereotyping the place of linguistics in modern languages language activism multilingualism and modern languages and digital humanities Taken together these debates explore the work that languages and that those who learn and speak them do in the world as well as the way we think through and in a language and are shaped by it Language Debates acknowledges the history of language teaching and the current realities of language teaching and learning It is bold in suggesting ways forward for reform and for policy setting languages and language learning at the heart of a consciously transformative set of goals This book is therefore essential reading for academics language teachers policy makers students activists and those passionate about progressing language learning and teaching The editors and contributors make up a multilingual and multicultural team who work across languages cultures and borders with a globally informed approach to their work Uniquely the debates in this volume are based on events with participants in the Language Acts and Worldmaking Debates Series and or workshops within the wider research project and take into account the ensuing discussions there Each debate is accompanied by an interview which serves as a model on how to continue the conversation beyond the printed pages of the book You can also discover ways to join the debate through links on the Language Acts and Worldmaking series website www.jmlanguages.com/languageacts which includes recorded debates additional materials and more information about the series Like all the volumes in the Language Acts and Worldmaking series the overall aim is two fold to challenge widely held views about language learning as a neutral instrument of globalisation and to innovate and transform language research teaching and learning together with Modern Languages as an academic discipline by foregrounding its unique form of cognition and critical engagement Specific aims are to propose new ways of bridging the gaps between those who teach and research languages and those who learn and use them in everyday contexts from the professional to the personal put research into the hands of wider audiences share a philosophy policy and practice of language teaching and learning which turns research into action provide the research experience and data to enable informed debates on current issues and attitudes in language learning teaching and research share knowledge across and within all levels and experiences of language learning and teaching showcase exciting new work that derives from different types of community activity and is of practical relevance to its audiences disseminate new research in languages that engages with diverse communities of language practitioners

Self and Identity in Adolescent Foreign Language Learning Florentina Taylor, 2013-07-04

This book explores the role of identity in adolescent foreign language learning to provide evidence that an identity focused approach can make a difference to achievement in education It uses both in depth exploratory interviews with language learners and a cross sectional survey to provide a unique glimpse into the identity dynamics that learners need to manage in their interaction with contradictory relational contexts e g teacher vs classmates parents vs friends and that appear to impair their perceived competence and declared achievement in language learning Furthermore this work presents a new model of identity which incorporates several educational psychology theories e g self discrepancy self presentation impression management developmental theories of adolescence and principles of foreign language teaching and learning This book gives rise to potentially policy changing insights and will be of importance to those interested in the relationship between self identity and language teaching and learning Challenges and Prospects in Second Language Enrolment Stephanie Richey,2025-10-28 This book provides a contextual examination of the factors that affect students elective second language L2 study in Australia It investigates why Tasmanian students do or do not choose to enrol in an elective second language at school and explores relationship of motivational factors that affect their decisions This is a case study of one education system but the findings are relevant to others globally With the field of L2 research turning attention to motivations around languages other than English LOTE this book provides a unique account of adolescent students LOTE experiences in an Anglophone setting It demonstrates there is a complex ensemble of factors that affect subject choice and enrolment decisions regarding elective second language learning In the face of Global English these findings address a gap in the research of adolescent LOTE learners the majority of who have English as a first language and thus motivations for language learning vastly differ from those wanting to learn English as an additional language The findings outlined in this book are valuable as they consider the practical implications for school language programmes This book will be of interest to scholars teachers and policy makers globally wishing to gain further insight into motivational factors affecting L2 enrolment Language and Languages Christina Gitsaki,2009-03-26 The emergence of globalisation is bringing massive changes to all aspects of life including language In an effort to raise awareness on the effects of globalisation on language learning and teaching the Applied Linguistics Association of Australia ALAA devoted its 31st Annual Congress to this theme This volume represents a collection of papers by academics in Australia South East Asia New Zealand Europe and North America which synthesize language learning and teaching theories and current research to present the views of applied linguists and language educators on a variety of issues with regards to the tensions that globalisation and internationalisation bring on language and languages A total of twenty two articles discuss issues related to the status of the ELT profession in a globalised world issues of ESL teaching and language assessment the ever increasing use of ICTs for foreign language learning and the effects of globalisation on minority languages This collection of articles attempts to integrate theoretical issues research findings and practical applications on different aspects of TESOL to provide academics researchers students and language educators with a discussion of the current state of affairs in the field of applied linguistics with regards to globalisation Learning Discourses and the Discourses of Learning Helen Marriott,Tim Moore,Robyn Spence-Brown,2007 Summary Learning Discourses and the Discourses of Learning is an edited collection of papers exploring issues of teaching and learning in academic settings The key theme of the volume is discourses especially as these relate to institutional policies disciplinary practices and students processes of learning in the academy Particular attention is paid to the experiences of second language students studying at Australian universities as well as those learning foreign languages in Australia Employing a variety of methodologies and theoretical perspectives the papers in Learning Discourses are unified by a focus on rich and socially situated empirical data The book addresses issues highly pertinent to the dynamic character of contemporary higher education in Australia one dominated by trends towards the internationalisation and professionalisation of university programs and the growing intercultural nature of social and academic interactions Part one covers issues of discourse and change exploring processes of discourse acquisition and production in a range of disciplinary contexts along with the nexus between academic and professional discourses Part two deals with broader issues of the participation and socialisation of students in second language use situations ranging from macro social planning and policy issues to the micro interpersonal level Part three looks at the social mediation of foreign language learning covering a range of tertiary and secondary settings in Australia and has a particular focus on Japanese as a foreign language Publisher description

Learning Strategy Instruction in the Language Classroom Anna Uhl Chamot,Vee Harris,2019-05-10 This comprehensive collection comprising both theoretical and practical contributions is unique in its focus on language learning strategy instruction LLSI The chapters written by leading international experts embrace both sociolinguistic and psycholinguistic perspectives The issues presented include different models of strategy instruction and how they can be tailored according to context and the learners age and attainment level The collection will be an important resource for researchers in the field both for its critical perspectives and its guidance on collaborating with teachers to design interventions to implement strategy instruction It also identifies key areas for research including the teaching of less studied groups of strategies such as grammar and affective strategies The book will prove equally valuable to language teachers through the provision of detailed teaching materials and tasks Those engaged in professional development whether pre or in service teacher education will find a wealth of concrete ideas for sessions courses and assignments
