The Bread of Those Early Years Heinrich Böll,1994      Those Early Years - Joel F. Lemke,2012-07 A story of those magical years for a boy and his family while growing up from age one to eleven in the little farm community of Princeton Illinois during 1935 to 1945 From the later days of the Depression through WWII this autobiography reminisces memorable moments from Fireside Chats with FDR Sunday night radio rationing elementary school days the Civilian Defense Corp CDC and the boys and their toys The book offers a mixture of humor history and every day family events blended with a format of short chapters to avoid any chance of reader fatigue      Light Motives Randall Halle,Margaret McCarthy,2003 Light Motives undertakes a long overdue critical reassessment of German popular cinema challenging the traditional view of German film history and offering new ways to think about popular cinema in general      Dismantling the Dream Factory Hester Baer,2012-02 The history of postwar German cinema has most often been told as a story of failure a failure paradoxically epitomized by the remarkable popularity of film throughout the late 1940s and 1950s Through the analysis of 10 representative films Hester Baer reassesses this period looking in particular at how the attempt to dismantle the dream factory of Nazi entertainment cinema resulted in a new cinematic language which developed as a result of the changing audience demographic In an era when female viewers comprised 70 per cent of cinema audiences a women s cinema emerged which sought to appeal to female spectators through its genres star choices stories and formal conventions In addition to analyzing the formal language and narrative content of these films Baer uses a wide array of other sources to reconstruct the original context of their reception including promotional and publicity materials film programs censorship documents reviews and spreads in fan magazines This book presents a new take on an essential period which saw the rebirth of German cinema after its thorough delegitimization under the Nazi regime      History of the United Co-operative Baking Society Ltd. : A fifty years' record 1869-1919 William Reid,2025-03-02 In History of the United Co operative Baking Society Ltd A Fifty Years Record 1869 1919 William Reid meticulously chronicles the evolution of a pivotal institution in the cooperative movement and its socio economic impacts over half a century This historical account is characterized by Reid s detailed narrative style blending empirical research with anecdotal evidence and is set against the backdrop of the burgeoning cooperative movement in Britain Through rich illustrations and comprehensive documentation Reid examines the interplay between economic necessity and cooperative principles highlighting both triumphs and challenges faced by the society during a transformative era marked by industrialization and social reform William Reid a dedicated advocate for cooperative enterprises draws upon his extensive background in social economics and his experiences within the cooperative sector His insights are informed by a deep commitment to social justice and community welfare positioning him as an ideal chronicler of the United Co operative Baking Society s formative years Reid s scholarly approach not only enhances the credibility of the work but also reflects his personal investment in the cooperative philosophy This book is a vital resource for historians economists and anyone interested in the history of cooperative movements Reid's thorough exploration provides a nuanced understanding of how collective efforts in baking not only fed communities but fostered a sense of belonging and shared purpose Readers will find valuable lessons in resilience cooperation and innovation that remain relevant to contemporary discussions around cooperative business models

The Best of Two Lives Doris R. Ayyoub, 2016-09-12 The Best of Two Lives is a love story as well as family history It is shaped as a journey beginning with the cultural foundations of Jordan and the United States Weaving threads of family stories Doris introduces us to compelling characters and describes ways of life that might be forgotten if not for projects such as this Ibrahim's early years are detailed as he lived in a mixed Muslim Christian community in Jordan and Doris tells of growing up as a small town conservative Christian in Oregon One of the fundamental messages is that despite superficial differences at the root Arab lives and concerns in the Middle East are relatable just as those of Americans in the United States Doris never shrinks from showing negative attributes that she couldn't be blamed for wanting to hide and that differentiates her book from a purely family history There's something here to help us see our own families more clearly and honestly and to understand them with compassion

Exodus from Hunger David Beckmann, 2010-10-20 It is within America's technical and financial power to help end world hunger in our lifetime if we set our hearts and minds to the task Contrary to what many people believe the world has made measurable advancements against hunger and poverty over the last several decades But too often the binding constraint on further progress is a simple lack of political will As a result one of the most powerful ways to affect change is often the most neglected political activism In this powerful and hopeful book David Beckmann president of Bread for the World and a leading anti hunger activist looks at the causes of hunger presents case studies of countries that have made great strides against it and puts a human face on the problem by sharing stories of people who are quite simply hungry every day The problems can seem overwhelming but Beckmann lays out a clear and workable plan for effectively using political channels to make great progress He not only challenges us to get involved he shows us how It is no less than our call to do so     Modern Germany Wendell G.
