Blessing Over Ashes The Remarkable Odyssey Of My Unlikely Brother

Harold Bloom

Blessing Over Ashes The Remarkable Odyssey Of My Unlikely Brother:

A Blessing over Ashes Adam Fifield, 2001-06-05 On a snowy winter's night in Vermont eleven year old Adam Fifield and his family awaited the arrival of his new foster brother Soeuth a fourteen year old refugee from the killing fields of Cambodia Scrawny and terrified Soeuth was mute for days warily retreating into his room despite the Fifields numerous attempts to make him feel welcome But for Soeuth whose young life had been plagued with fear and violence it would be months before any place could feel like home In this rewarding memoir Adam Fifield recalls the months and years that followed his first meeting with Soeuth He describes the boy's amazing physical prowess his sense of humor and juxtaposed against his own typically American coming of age the horrific details of Soeuth's early years But even more compelling is the story of Adam and his brother's journey to Cambodia to meet the family Soeuth once thought dead What awaits them on the side of the globe will both reunite Soeuth with his lost family and cement the relationship he has forced with his new one Leaving the House of Ghosts Sarah Streed, 2010-06-28 On April 17 1975 after five years of civil war the Khmer Rouge guerrillas invaded Cambodia's major cities and forced the residents on a mass exodus to the countryside Their leader Pol Pot established a government based on terror to bring about his dream of an agrarian society where work was done by hand without what he believed to be corruptive influences By the time the Vietnamese captured Phnom Penh and ended this brutal experiment in communism in 1979 an estimated two million Cambodians were dead and hundreds of thousands had begun to flee the country for refugee camps in Thailand Survivors of Pol Pot and his Khmer Rouge now living in the Midwest tell their stories in this work Many of them were children during that time unable to comprehend exactly what was happening and why but now able to reveal the trauma they experienced Noeun Nor and Sinn Lok recollect being wrenched from their families and put into labor camps around the age of five Prum Nath talks about her mother encouraging her to eat the last grains of her family's rice Sokhary You remembers giving birth on a mountain without a doctor or hospital and using rusty scissors to cut the umbilical cord Begin Here Rocio G. Davis, 2007-01-31 An analytically innovative work Begin Here widens the current critical focus of Asian North American literary studies by proposing an integrated thematic and narratological approach to the practice of autobiography It demonstrates how Asian North American memoirs of childhood challenge the construction and performative potential of national experiences This understanding influences theoretical approaches to ethnic life writing expanding the boundaries of traditional autobiography by negotiating narrative techniques and genre and raising complex questions about self representation and the construction of cultural memory By examining the artistic project of some fifty Asian North American writers who deploy their childhood narratives in the representation of the individual processes of self identification and negotiation of cultural and national affiliation this work provides a comprehensive overview of Asian North American autobiographies of childhood published over the last century Importantly it also attends to new ways of writing autobiographies employing comics blending verse prose diaries and life writing for children and using relational approaches to self identification among others Bending with the Wind Bounchoeurn Sao, Diyana D. Sao, Karline F. Bird, 2014-01-10 Before the Khmer Rouge takeover of Cambodia in April 1975 Sao Bounchoeurn and San Bounriem grew up in idyllic though vastly different circumstances After a secondary education Bounchoeurn entered the army joined the Special Forces and worked for the Americans He became a slave laborer after the fall of Phnom Penh and eventually escaped to Thailand In another part of Cambodia Bounriem lived happily spoiled and uneducated Fleeing from the advancing Khmer Rouge she arrived at the same refugee camp as Bounchoeurn where they met married and immigrated to America This riveting memoir chronicles the couple s childhoods their lives under the Khmer Rouge their journeys to Thailand and later the United States and their efforts to forge a new life This remarkable tale offers an intimate look inside the terrors of the Khmer Rouge and an inspiring portrait of the immigrant experience in America Transracial and Intercountry Adoptions Rowena Fong, Ruth G. McRoy, 2016-01-26 With essays by well known adoption practitioners and researchers who source empirical research and practical knowledge this volume addresses key developmental cultural health and behavioral issues in the transracial and international adoption process and provides recommendations for avoiding fraud and techniques for navigating domestic and foreign adoption laws The text details the history policy and service requirements relating to white African American Asian American Latino and Mexican American and Native American children and adoptive families It addresses specific problems faced by adoptive families with children and youth from China Russia Ethiopia India Korea and Guatemala and offers targeted guidance on ethnic identity formation trauma mental health treatment and the challenges of gay or lesbian adoptions Asian-American Writers Harold Bloom, 2009 Presents critical perspectives on the works of Asian American writers including Gish Jen Cheng rae Lee and Maxine Hong Kingston Form and Transformation in Asian American Literature Xiaojing Zhou, Samina Najmi, 2011-07-01 This critical anthology draws on current theoretical movements to examine the breadth of Asian American literature from the earliest to the most recent writers Covering fiction essays poetry short stories ethnography and autobiography Form and Transformation in Asian American Literature advances the development of a theoretically informed historically and culturally specific methodology for studying this increasingly complex field The essays in this anthology probe into hotly debated issues as well as understudied topics including the relations between Asian American and other minority American writings Relative Histories Rocio G. Davis, 2022-04-30 Relative Histories focuses on the Asian American memoir that specifically recounts the story of at least three generations of the same family This form of auto biography concentrates as much on other members of one s family as on oneself generally collapses the boundaries conventionally established between biography and autobiography and in many cases as Roc o G Davis proposes for the auto biographies of ethnic writers crosses the frontier into history promoting collective memory Davis centers on how Asian American family memoirs expand the limits and function of life writing by reclaiming history and promoting community cohesion She argues that identity is shaped by not only the stories we have been told but also the stories we tell making these narratives important examples of the ways we remember our family's past and tell our community's story In the context of auto biographical writing or filmmaking that explores specific ethnic experiences of diaspora assimilation and integration this work considers two important aspects These texts re imagine the past by creating a work that exists both in history and as a historical document making the creative process a form of re enactment of the past itself Each chapter centers on a thematic concern germane to the Asian American experience the narrative of twentieth century Asian wars and revolutions which has become the subtext of a significant number of Asian American family memoirs Pang Mei Natasha Chang's Bound Feet and Western Dress May lee and Winberg Chai's The Girl from Purple Mountain K Connie Kang's Home Was The Land of Morning Calm Doung Van Mai Elliott's The Sacred Willow family experiences of travel and displacement within Asia in the nineteenth and early twentieth centuries which unveil a history of multiple diasporas that are often elided after families immigrate to the United States Helie Lee's Still Life With Rice Jael Silliman's Jewish Portraits Indian Frames Mira Kamdar's Motiba's Tattoos and the development of Chinatowns as family spaces Maxine Hong Kingston's China Men Lisa See's On Gold Mountain Bruce Edward Hall's Tea that Burns The final chapter analyzes the discursive possibilities of the filmed family memoir family portrait documentary examining Lise Yasui's A Family Gathering Ruth Ozeki Lounsbury's Halving the Bones and Ann Marie Fleming's The Magical Life of Long Tack Sam Davis concludes the work with a metaliterary engagement with the history of her own Asian diasporic family as she demonstrates the profound interconnection between forms of life writing

China Ghosts Jeff Gammage, 2009-10-13 Aching to expand from a couple to a family Jeff Gammage a reporter for the Philadelphia Inquirer and his wife Christine embarked upon a journey that would carry them across a shifting landscape of emotion and through miles of red tape and bureaucratic protocol On the other side of the world in the smog choked city of Changsha in Hunan Province a silent stoic little girl was waiting for them Jin Yu their new daughter Now they would have to learn how to fully embrace a life altered beyond recognition by new concerns and responsibilities and by a love unlike any they'd ever felt before Alive with insight and feeling China Ghosts is an eye opening depiction of the foreign adoption process and a remarkable glimpse into a different culture Most important it is a poignant heartfelt and intensely intimate chronicle of the making of a family

In the Shadow of Angkor Frank Stewart, Sharon May, 2004-05-31 Nearly two million people died in Cambodia between 1975 and 1979 as a result of the Khmer Rouge's genocidal regime Cambodians who were educated teachers artists and authors were among the first to be killed One generation later literature is re emerging from the ashes 22 photographs
