Patagonia Wild and Free William H. Greenwood, 2017 In 1875 William Greenwood made his home in the wilds of Patagonia a pioneer in the territory of Tehuelche Indians There he guided expeditions into the unmapped Interior He lived by hunting wild cattle and horses pumas and guanacos foxes and ostriches then trading their hides pelts and feathers in distant Punta Arenas This was life on the South American Frontier a southern version of the Wild West There were many adventures but also times of hunger and hardship with only dogs and horses for company His life was threatened by snowstorms by a wild bull and by a volcanic eruption People thought him eccentric and a loner but this was the land and the life that he loved These are the memories of one of the earliest European immigrants to Southern Patagonia written over a century ago then lost and forgotten No other pioneer has left a better description of those early times His writing is humorous and wise the voice of true experience

Submarine Cables Douglas R. Burnett, Robert Beckman, Tara M. Davenport, 2013-10-24 Submarine fiber optic cables are critical communications infrastructure for States around the world They are laid on the seabed are often no bigger than a garden hose and transmit immense amounts of data across oceans These cables are the backbone of the internet and phone services and underpin core State interests such as the finance sector shipping commerce and banking industries Without the capacity to transmit and receive data via submarine cables the economic security of States would be severely compromised Despite the fact that 95 per cent of all data and telecommunications between States are transmitted via submarine cables there is little understanding of how these cables operate As a result some States have developed policies and laws that undermine the integrity of international telecommunications systems Submarine Cables The Handbook of Law and Policy provides a one stop shop of essential information relating to the international governance of submarine cables The Handbook is a unique collaboration between international lawyers and experts from the submarine cable industry It provides a practical insight into the law and policy issues that affect the protection of submarine cables as well as the laying maintenance and operation of such cables In addition the law and policy issues in relation to other special purpose cables such as power cables marine scientific research cables military cables and offshore energy cables are also addressed

Connecting the Nineteenth-Century World Roland Wenzlhuemer, 2013 A revealing insight into the links between globalization and the technological advances in communication brought about by the telegraph network

Fort Stanwix National Monument Joan M. Zenzen, 2009-01-01 This book looks at the history of Fort Stanwix and documents how the people of Rome New York partnered with the National Park Service to create Fort Stanwix National Monument a reconstructed log and sod Revolutionary War fort located in the center of the city Initially undertaken as part of Rome's urban renewal effort to revive a failing economy through tourism the fort's reconstruction exemplifies how a regional interest successfully engaged the National Park Service in achieving its goals

Using extensive documentation and oral history interviews historian Joan M Zenzen examines the full sweep of the site's history by looking back at the 1777 siege that helped turn the tide at Saratoga describing political commemorations during the turn of the twentieth century detailing events leading to urban renewal and fort reconstruction in the 1970s and explaining how the park's superintendents have managed this fort She also discusses four important themes in historic preservation authenticity reconstruction reenactment and memory to understand the processes that resulted in the establishment of Fort Stanwix National Monument Tied to these themes is the idea of partnerships a key ingredient that has kept the national park site engaged with such local communities as Rome businesses Oneida Six Nations New York State historic sites regional tourism boards and reenactment groups

Cold Peace Jeff M. Smith, 2013-12-16

The twenty first century is likely to witness Asia's two largest civilizations China and India join the United States in an elite club of global superpowers By some economic indicators the two Asian giants are already the second and third largest economies in the world and they are developing world class militaries to complement that economic clout While Beijing and Delhi have spent the past half century free from armed conflict and enjoy cordial diplomatic relations elements of rivalry have shadowed the relationship since the two countries went to war in 1962 over their disputed Himalayan border In the twenty first century that rivalry has evolved in unpredictable ways advancing in some arenas and retreating in the face of growing cooperation in others

Cold Peace China India Rivalry in the Twenty First Century updates and deepens our understanding of the China India relationship by unraveling the complex layers of the contemporary China India rivalry This book draws from over 100 interviews with subject matter experts government officials and military officers in India China and the United States between November 2011 and July 2013 It also benefits from rare and unique field research at the disputed China India border in Ladakh and Arunachal Pradesh at the contested town of Tawang in the Himalayas at Dharamsala the seat of the Tibetan Government in Exile at the Andaman and Nicobar Islands and on Hainan Island which administers China's South China Sea territories With 14 chapters dedicated to issue specific studies including Threat Perceptions in China India Relations the border dispute Tawang Tibet the Dalai Lama succession issue maritime security and the role of the United States and Pakistan in Sino Indian relations Cold Peace provides a comprehensive examination of the evolution of China India relations

Regional Maintenance of Peace and Security under International Law Dace Winther, 2013-10-30

This book explores the scope and limits of what is appropriate for regional action in the maintenance of peace and security It offers a comparative study of legal regulation of the use of force in the maintenance of peace and security of different security regions in the context of the UN system and general international law The book examines the post Cold War legal documents and practice of the regional organizations of six security regions of the world Africa Asia the Americas the Middle East the Russian sphere of influence and the Euro

Atlantic region and in doing so offers a unique international and comparative perspective towards regional characteristics that may influence the possibility for coherent action in a UN context Dace Winther explores the controversial topics of regional humanitarian intervention and robust regional peacekeeping without a UN mandate what is regarded as appropriate for regional action in different security regions of the world and if the approaches of the regions differ what factors could have an influence The book is highly relevant in a global climate where regional mechanisms take an ever more active part in the maintenance of international peace and security including the use of force The book will be of great interest to students and academics of International Law International Relations and Security Studies God and Gaia Michael S

Northcott, 2022-12-22 God and Gaia explores the overlap between traditional religious cosmologies and the scientific Gaia theory of James Lovelock It argues that a Gaian approach to the ecological crisis involves rebalancing human and more than human influences on Earth by reviving the ecological agency of local and indigenous human communities and of nonhuman beings Present day human ecological influences on Earth have been growing at pace since the Scientific and Industrial Revolutions when modern humans adopted a machine cosmology in which humans are the sole intelligent agency The resultant imbalance between human and Earthly agencies is degrading the species diversity of ecosystems causing local climate changes and threatens to destabilise the Earth as a System Across eight chapters this ambitious text engages with traditional cosmologies from the Indian Vedas and classical Greece to Medieval Christianity with case material from Southeast Asia Southern Africa and Great Britain It discusses concepts such as deep time and ancestral time the ethics of genetic engineering of foods and viruses and holistic ecological management Northcott argues that an ontological turn that honours the differential agency of indigenous humans and other kind and that draws on sacred traditions will make it is possible to repair the destabilising impacts of contemporary human activities on the Earth System and its constituent ecosystems This book will be of considerable interest to students and scholars of the environmental humanities history and cultural and religious studies
