Aa Town Plans:

The History of Town Planning in a Dependent State Louis C. Wassenhoven, 2025-09-01 This book is based on research carried out by the author in Greece addressed initially to Greek readers mainly researchers of the Department of Urban and Regional Planning National Technical University of Athens where he served for a long time as professor However a great deal of the research has a definite international interest and its results form the backbone of his new undertaking in English Although some of the observations included in the initial project are reproduced here the gist of the author's arguments dwells on issues which are not of a narrow national interest This book interests students and historians of town planning whose area of reference is not only Europe but also the countries which have been through a state of dependence and external domination and had to import foreign planning ideas and concepts The author tries to embrace a broad spectrum of urban planning ideas developments and influences which dominated the 19th century planning practice of a country which had just achieved political independence but was still practically a protectorate of the great powers of the time often referred to as the Protecting Powers Great Britain France and Russia Every aspect of domestic policies and developments was directly dictated or indirectly influenced by the choices policies laws and actions of these external forces It was also influenced by the advice and expert opinions of foreigners or even of Greeks whose mode of conceptualizing the problems of the dependent country had been deeply affected by their life or education in foreign lands Looking at this state of affairs more than two centuries after the 1821 Greek War of Independence demands full awareness of these conditions

A Cartographic Analysis of Soviet Military City Plans Martin Davis, 2021-09-29 The collapse of the Soviet Union has seen the emergence of its unprecedentedly comprehensive global secret military mapping project and the commercial availability of a vast number of detailed topographic maps and city plans at several scales This thesis provides an in depth examination of the series of over 2 000 large scale city plans produced in secret by the Military Topographic Directorate of the General Staff between the end of the Second World War and the collapse of the USSR in 1991 After positioning the series in its historical context the nature and content of the plans are examined in detail A poststructuralist perspective introduces possibilities to utilise and apply the maps in new contexts which this thesis facilitates by providing a systematic empirical analysis of the Soviet map symbology at 1 10 000 and 1 25 000 using new translations of production manuals and a sample of the city plans A comparative analysis with the current OpenStreetMap symbology indicates scope for Soviet mapping to be used as a valuable supplementary topographic resource in a variety of existing and future global mapping initiatives including humanitarian crisis mapping This leads to a conclusion that the relevance and value of Soviet military maps endure in modern applications both as a source of data and as a means of overcoming contemporary cartographic challenges relating to symbology design and the handling of large datasets

The Planning of a New Town London County Council, 2015-03-05 The publication of The Planning of a New Town in 1961 aroused remarkable interest Its pages described a private new town sponsored by the London County Council LCC to be built at Hook in Hampshire a scheme that innovatively combined Garden City New Town traditions with sensitivity to modern design At its heart lay a multilevel and megastructural town centre intended to serve as a genuine focus for the gathering community featuring shops and amenities placed on a pedestrian deck with cars and servicing beneath The report itself proved extremely popular even though the New Town had fallen foul of political opposition at local and national levels and had been abandoned before any construction took place It offers an insight into the flux of ideas that surrounded New Town development in the early 1960s Analysing the world as it might have been not only identifies choices that were once available for shaping the built environment it also often reveals once cherished hopes and aspirations about how people might live in cities Town Planning for Small Communities Walpole town planning committee,1919 Town Planning Kemp Russell Blanchard Flint,1919 Architecture, Town Planning and Community Cecil Scott Burgess,2005 Cecil Burgess was professor of architecture and resident architect at the University of Alberta between 1913 and 1940 This title collects Burgess public talks and writings offering a fresh insight into the social and intellectual dimensions of architecture and town planning during the first half of the twentieth century

Property, Politics, and Urban Planning Leonie Sandercock,1990-01-01 This book written before the cusp of a waning left liberal approach to planning issues and a just blossoming neo Marxist paradigm reflects the ambivalence of its era Developments in social and political theory have generated new ways of understanding the role of urban planning in capitalist societies and the emergence of feminist historical frameworks have led Sandercock to reconsider her gender neutral approach to planning history The Transactions of the Royal Institute of British Architects Town Planning Conference, London, 10-15 October 1910 Riba,2012-08-21 In October 1910 the Royal Institute of British Architects hosted the first ever international conference on Town Planning The Transactions of this critical event in the development of planning as a profession and as a discipline were published a year later in 1911 Long out of print and very difficult to obtain this new facsimile edition of the Transactions of the 1910 Conference now makes available for planners and historians alike this valuable primary resource The Condition, Improvement and Town Planning of the City of Calcutta and Contiguous Areas E. P. Richards,2014-08-21 By 1900 the British had undertaken various types of urban planning in their colonial territories but the early twentieth century brought new ideas and the birth of the modern planning movement In India these new planning ideas inspired several specialized reports after 1900 most of which drew explicitly on British or occasionally German ideas The most complete of these studies was the Richards Report on Calcutta prepared for the Calcutta Improvement Trust and published in 1914 Its major concerns included the building and widening of roads slum clearance and improvement legislation and suburban planning As background it included written and visual documentation of living conditions through charts photographs and maps Richards emphasized that conditions in Calcutta differed greatly from those in urban Britain and made some allowance in that regard In general however his report exemplifies the attempt by British planners along with Indian elites to impose their vision on colonial cities Richards report was well received by leading British planners of the day A notice in Garden Cities and Town Planning claimed that it was the most complete report on town conditions and possibilities which has yet been issued While the immediate impact of the report in Calcutta is moot Richards was highly critical of the past practices of local officials and his views were unpopular with his superiors the Richards Reports remains a crucial insight into both the development of modern town planning and the colonial period in India
