administrations insider and lawyer demystifies the law school application process and provides the tools to ace every step along the way Based on and including exclusive interviews with admissions officers Montauk delivers a candid view of what leading law schools look for in an applicant He also gives applicants solid advice on developing marketing strategies writing winning essays maximizing financial aid and updating credentials to better match that ideal profile Doctoral Education and the Faculty of the Future Ronald G. Ehrenberg, Charlotte V. Kuh, 2011-05-02 American colleges and universities simultaneously face large numbers of faculty retirements and expanding enrollments Budget constraints have led colleges and universities to substitute part time and full time non tenure track faculty for tenure track faculty and the demand for faculty members will likely be high in the decade ahead This heightened demand is coming at a time when the share of American college graduates who go on for PhD study is far below its historic high The declining interest of American students in doctoral programs is due to many factors including long completion times low completion rates the high cost of doctoral education and the decline in the share of faculty positions that are tenured or on the tenure track In short doctoral education is in crisis because the impediments are many and the rewards are few students often choose instead to enroll in professional programs that result in more marketable credentials In Doctoral Education and the Faculty of the Future scientists social scientists academic administrators and policy makers describe their efforts to increase and improve the supply of future faculty They cover topics ranging from increasing undergraduate interest in doctoral study to improving the doctoral experience and the participation of underrepresented groups in doctoral education Paving the Way Herma Hill Kay, 2021-04-13 The first wave of trailblazing female law professors and the stage they set for American democracy When it comes to breaking down barriers for women in the workplace Ruth Bader Ginsburg's name speaks volumes for itself but as she clarifies in the foreword to this long awaited book there are too many trailblazing names we do not know Herma Hill Kay former Dean of UC Berkeley School of Law and Ginsburg's closest professional colleague wrote Paving the Way to tell the stories of the first fourteen female law professors at ABA and AALS accredited law schools in the United States Kay who became the fifteenth such professor labored over the stories of these women in order to provide an essential history of their path for the more than 2 000 women working as law professors today and all of their feminist colleagues Because Herma Hill Kay who died in 2017 was able to obtain so much first hand information about the fourteen women who preceded her Paving the Way is filled with details quiet and loud of each of their lives and careers from their own perspectives Kay wraps each story in rich historical context lest we forget the extraordinarily difficult times in which these women lived Paving the Way is not just a collection of individual stories of remarkable women but also a well crafted interweaving of law and society during a historical period when women's voices were often not heard and sometimes actively muted The final chapter connects these first fourteen women to the second wave of women law professors who achieved tenure track appointments in the 1960s and 1970s carrying on the torch and analogous challenges This is a decidedly feminist project one that Justice Ruth

Bader Ginsburg advocated for tirelessly and admired publicly in the years before her death The American Legal Profession Christopher P. Banks, 2023-11-10 This book is a tight and fresh analysis of the American legal profession and its significance to society and its citizens The book's primary objective is to expose and correct the principal misconceptions myths surrounding prelaw study law school admission law school and the American legal profession itself These issues are vitally important to prelaw advisors and instructors in light of the difficult problems caused by the Great Recessions of 2008 and 2020 2021 and the disruptions caused by the COVID 19 pandemic Aimed equally at prelaw advisors and potential law students this book can be used as a supplement in the interdisciplinary undergraduate law related instructional market including courses that cater to majors minors in political science and criminal justice in particular It can also be used in career counselling internships and the extensive paralegal program market New to the Second Edition Expanded coverage to include paralegal and legal assistant training New material on women and minority law students who are transforming law schools and the profession Explores challenges to the legal profession posed by economic recession COVID 19 high tuition rates exploding student loan debt internet technological advances and global competitive pressures including legal outsourcing and DIY legal services Updated data and tables along with all underlying research
