Aboriginal Settlement Patterns in the Little Tennessee River Valley R. P. Stephen Davis, 1990 Archaeological Adaptation C. Clifford Boyd, 2024-01-12 Archaeological Adaptation Case Studies of Cultural Transformation from the Southeast and Caribbean honors the work of longtime University of Tennessee anthropology professor Gerald Schroedl whose career encompassed fieldwork and research in both prehistoric and historic archaeology Schroedl's early career often focused its analysis on Mississippian and Cherokee sites while his later years found him delving into historic archaeology in the Caribbean Revisiting these touchstones of Schroedl's work editor C Clifford Boyd here gathers essays around the disciplinary theme of documentation and analysis of change Contributors study excavations in Tennessee Virginia South Carolina wider southern Appalachia and the Caribbean providing insight into Native American African American and English civilizations Artifacts architecture human and structural remains and climatic and environmental factors yield insight into changing settlement patterns tribal practices material culture economic and political power relations and health and nutrition A preface tracing Schroedl's career and an afterword addressing developments in archaeological theory round out the volume TVA Archaeology Erin E. Pritchard, 2009 Since its inception in 1933 the Tennessee Valley Authority has played a dual role as federal agency and steward of the Tennessee River Valley While known to most people today as an energy provider the agency is also charged with managing and protecting the nation's fifth largest river system the Tennessee River and vast tracts of land and resources encompassing Tennessee and portions of Alabama Georgia Kentucky Mississippi North Carolina and Virginia Included in TVA's mandate is the preservation of the archaeological record of the valley's prehistoric peoples a record that would have been forever lost beneath floodwaters had TVA not demonstrated a commitment to minimize its impact on the valley and sought to protect its archaeological resources In TVA Archaeology fourteen contributors who have worked with TVA in its conservation effort discuss prehistoric excavations conducted at Tellico Normandy Jonathan's Creek and many other sites They explore TVA's role in the excavations and how the agency facilitated prehistoric investigations along proposed dam sites They also delve into the history of TVA as it grew from a New Deal program to a federal corporation and reveal how during the agency's formative years the TVA board responded to prodding from archaeologists David DeJarnette and William Webb and molded TVA into the steward of a region it is today TVA remains a mainstay of progress and conservation within an important region of the United States and its safeguarding of the valley's prehistory cements its legacy as more than just an energy supplier Students and researchers interested in prehistoric archaeology the Tennessee Valley and the history of TVA will find this volume an invaluable contribution to the study of the region Erin E Pritchard is an archaeologist with the Tennessee Valley Authority Her work includes multiple archaeological site investigations most notably Dust Cave in northern Alabama and she has authored and coauthored numerous site reports for TVA Nantahala River, The: A History & Guide Lance Holland, 2020 Most everyone who comes to western North Carolina has heard of the Nantahala but few know its history Long before it was a mecca for rafters and thrill seekers it was traveled by naturalists and explorers from William Bartram to John C Fr mont After the Cherokees were driven out settlers arrived and began exporting the wealth of the mountains in the form of timber talc and minerals Tourists arrived on the Western Turnpike soon after and the railroad brought more around 1890 The federal government began purchasing land for the new Nantahala National Forest and the need for aluminum to fight World War II precipitated the construction of Fontana Lake and Nantahala Lake Local author Lance Holland has crafted an enlightening and entertaining narrative history of this unique region Archaeology of the Southern Appalachians and Adjacent Watersheds C. Clifford Boyd, Thomas R. Whyte, 2023-05-30 This book presents archaeology addressing all periods in the Native Southeast as a tribute to the career of Jefferson Chapman longtime director of the Frank H McClung Museum of Natural History and Culture at the University of Tennessee Knoxville Written by Chapman s colleagues and former students the chapters add to our current understanding of early native southeastern peoples as well as Chapman s original work and legacy to the field of archaeology Some chapters review reevaluate and reinterpret archaeological evidence using new data contemporary methods or alternative theoretical perspectives something that Chapman too fostered throughout his career Others address the history and significance of archaeological collections curated at the Frank H McClung Museum of Natural History and Culture where Chapman was the director for nearly thirty years The essays cover a broad range of archaeological material studies and methods and in doing so carry forth Chapman s legacy Barely Surviving or More than Enough? Maaïke Groot, Daphne Lentjes, Jørn Zeiler, 2013-10-14 How people produced or acquired their food in the past is one of the main questions in archaeology Everyone needs food to survive so the ways in which people managed to acquire it forms the very basis of human existence Farming was key to the rise of human sedentarism Once farming moved beyond subsistence and regularly produced a surplus it supported the development of specialisation speeded up the development of socio economic as well as social complexity the rise of towns and the development of city states In short studying food production is of critical importance in understanding how societies developed Environmental archaeology often studies the direct remains of food or food processing and is therefore well suited to address this topic What is more a wealth of new data has become available in this field of research in recent years This allows synthesising research with a regional and diachronic approach Indeed most of the papers in this volume offer studies on subsistence and surplus production with a wide geographical perspective The research areas vary considerably ranging from the American Mid South to Turkey The range in time periods is just as wide from c 7000 BC to the 16th century AD Topics covered include foraging strategies the combination of domestic and wild food resources in the Neolithic water supply crop specialisation the effect of the Roman occupation on animal husbandry town country relationships and the monastic economy With this collection of papers and the theoretical framework presented in the introductory chapter we wish to demonstrate that the topic of subsistence and surplus production remains of interest and promises to generate more exciting research in the future
