Above Mackinac and Some of Its Neighbors Robert Cameron, Phil Porter, 1994 Above Mackinac and Some of Its Neighbors Robert Cameron, 2010 Above Mackinac Robert Cameron, 2000-03 Natural Museums Kathy S. Mason, 2004-08-31 In 1872 the world's first national park was founded at Yellowstone. Although ideas of nature conservation were not embraced generally by the American public, five more parks were created before the turn of the century. By 1916 the year that the National Park Service was born, the country could boast of fourteen national parks including such celebrated areas as Yosemite and Sequoia. Kathy Mason demonstrates that Congress, park superintendents, and the American public were forming general, often tacit, notions of the parks' purpose before the new bureau was established. Although the Park Service recently has placed some emphasis on protecting samples of North America's ecosystems, the earliest national parks were viewed as natural museums, monuments to national grandeur that would edify visitors. Not only were these early parks to preserve monumental and unique natural attractions, but they also had to be of no use to mining, lumbering, agriculture, and other productive industries. Natural Museums examines the notions of park monumentalism, worthlessness, and national significance, as well as the parks' roles as wilderness preserves and recreational centers. Great Lakes Pilot, Volume 2: St. Lawrence River Above Montreal, Lake Ontario and Lake Erie, Including the Detroit River to Detroit, 1921 United States. Howard, 2016-08-09 In Hard Rivers, author Craig P. Howard recounts the harrowing journey of La Salle Expedition II, a reenactment of the 1681-82 voyage of La Salle from Montreal to the Gulf of Mexico. The crew, made up of sixteen teenage boys and seven adults led by one charismatic teacher, launched their canoes on August 11, 1976, and arrived at the Gulf on April 9, 1977. 3,300 miles later, Lake Michigan and Midwest rivers froze solid in the historic cold, forcing the teens to march 500 miles, first from Chicago to St. Joseph, Michigan, and then across Indiana and Illinois. Despite temperatures of twenty-seven below and wind chills of seventy-eight below, near fatalities outside Green Bay and a truck accident near Hebron, Indiana, that hospitalized four, they achieved something that had never been done before and will never be done again. Geological Series, 1912
