Alan Lennox Boyd A Biography:

Alan Lennox Boyd Philip Murphy, 1999-12-31 Alan Lennox Boyd served as Colonial Secretary from 1954 1959 a decisive period in the history of British decolonisation Tracing the development of his idiosyncratic brand of right wing politics this biography presents a portrait of a complex man

The Politics and Economics of Decolonization in Africa Andrew Cohen, 2017-05-26 The slow collapse of the European colonial empires after 1945 provides one of the great turning points of twentieth century history With the loss of India however the British under Harold Macmillan attempted to enforce a second colonial occupation supporting the efforts of Sir Andrew Cohen of the Colonial Office to create a Central African Federation Drawing on newly released archival material The Politics and Economics of Decolonization offers a fresh examination of Britain's central African territories in the late colonial period and provides a detailed assessment of how events in Britain Africa and the UN shaped the process of decolonization The author situates the Central African Federation which consisted of modern day Zambia Zimbabwe and Malawi in its wider international context shedding light on the Federation's complex relationships with South Africa with US Presidents Dwight Eisenhower and John F Kennedy and with the expanding United Nations The result is an important history of the last days of the British Empire and the beginnings of a more independent African continent

Histories of the Hanged: The Dirty War in Kenya and the End of Empire David Anderson, 2011-02-07 A remarkable account of Britain's last stand in Kenya This is imperial history at its very best John Hope Franklin In a gripping narrative that is all but impossible to put down Joseph C Miller Histories of the Hanged exposes the long hidden colonial crimes of the British in Kenya This groundbreaking work tells how the brutal war between the colonial government and the insurrectionist Mau Mau between 1952 and 1960 dominated the final bloody decade of imperialism in East Africa Using extraordinary new evidence David Anderson puts the colonial government on trial with eyewitness testimony from over 800 court cases and previously unseen archives His research exonerates the Kikuyu rebels hardly the terrorists they were thought to be and reveals the British to be brutal aggressors in a dirty war that involved leaders at the highest ranks of the British government This astonishing piece of scholarship portrays a teetering colonial empire in its final phase employing whatever military and propaganda methods it could to preserve an order that could no longer hold

Britain, France and the Decolonization of Africa Andrew W.M. Smith, Chris Jeppesen, 2017-03-01 Looking at decolonization in the conditional tense this volume teases out the complex and uncertain ends of British and French empire in Africa during the period of late colonial shift after 1945 Rather than view decolonization as an inevitable process the contributors together explore the crucial historical moments in which change was negotiated compromises were made and debates were staged Three core themes guide the analysis development contingency and entanglement The chapters consider the ways in which decolonization was governed and moderated by concerns about development and profit A complementary focus on contingency allows deeper consideration of how colonial powers planned for colonial futures and how divergent voices greeted the end of empire Thinking about entanglements likewise stresses both the connections that existed between the British and French empires in Africa and those that endured beyond the formal transfer of power Missions, Nationalism and the End of Empire Stanley,Alaine M. Low,2003 Christian missions have often been seen as the religious arm of Western imperialism What is rarely appreciated is the role they played in bringing about an end to the Western colonial empires after the Second World War Missions Nationalism and the End of Empire explores this neglected subject Respected authorities on the history of missions explore new territory in these chapters examining from diverse angles the linkages between Christianity nationalism and the dissolution of the colonial empires in Asia and Africa This work not only sheds light on the relation of religion and politics but also uncovers the sometimes paradoxical implications of the church s call to bring the gospel to all the world Contributors Daniel H Bays Philip Boobbyer Judith M Brown Richard Elphick Deborah Gaitskell Adrian Hastings Caroline Howell Ka che Yip Ogbu U Kalu Hartmut Lehmann Derek Peterson Andrew Porter Brian Stanley John Stuart The British Press, Public Opinion and the End of Empire in Africa Rosalind Coffey,2022-01-30 This book provides fresh insights into how the British press affected both British perceptions of decolonisation in Africa and British policy towards it during the wind of change period It also reveals for the first time the extent to which British newspaper coverage was of relevance to African and white settler readerships British newspapers informed the political strategies and civic cultures of African activists nationalists liberal whites in Africa the staunchest of white settler communities and the first governments of independent African states and their opponents The British press British public opinion and British journalists became etched into the lived experiences of the end of empire affecting Anglo African and Anglo settler relations to this day Arguing that the press cast a transnational web of influence over the decolonisation process in Africa the author explores the relationships between the British African and settler public and political spheres and highlights the mediating power of the British press during the late 1950s The book draws from a range of British newspapers official government documents newspaper archives interviews memoirs autobiographies and articles printed in African and white settler papers It will be of interest to historians of decolonisation Africa the media and the British Empire The EOKA Cause Andrew R. Novo,2020-11-12 This book explores the origins conduct and failure of Greek Cypriot nationalists to achieve the unification of Cyprus with Greece Andrew Novo addresses the anti colonial struggle in the context of the competition for the nationalist narrative in Cyprus between the Left and Right the duelling Greek Cypriot and Turkish Cypriot nationalisms in Cyprus the role of Turkey and Greece in the conflict on the island and the concerns of the British Empire during its retrenchment following the Second World War More than a narrative history of the period an analysis of British policy or a description of counter insurgency operations this book lays out an examination of the underpinnings of the enosis cause and its manifestation in action It argues that the strategic myopia of the enosis movement shackled the cause defined its conduct and was the primary reason for its failure Divided and occupied Cyprus and the world deal with its unresolved legacy to this day Makarios Demetris Assos, 2018-08-30 When Mikhail Makarios became head of the Church of Cyprus in 1950 Greek Cypriots presumed that he would lead the struggle for union with Greece partly because the Church was perceived to be the custodian of this nationalist tradition And though Archbishop Makarios III pursued this objective energetically by 1959 he had signed the agreements that established an independent Cyprus republic ending the dream of enosis and setting the scene for today's struggles to bring peace to the island In this first English language biography of one of the most important figures in Cypriot modern history Demetris Assos shows how Makarios oscillated between his personal nationalist romantic idealism and the management of hard political realities on the ground and argues a nuanced understanding of this ambivalence is crucial to contextualise and explain his actions Assos shows how by the 1950s the political authority of Makarios position became intertwined with his spiritual power He also unpicks the influence of the Orthodox Church on modern Cypriot history A new analysis of the Cyprus experience this is an essential addition to our understanding of the Cyprus problem and a new portrait of one of the great Cypriots At the end of the line Georgina Sinclair, 2017-03-01 Colonial policing and the imperial endgame is the first comprehensive study of the colonial police and their complex role within Britain's long and turbulent process of decolonisation a time characterised by political upheaval and colonial conflict The Colonial Police Service was created in 1936 in order to standardise all imperial police forces and mould colonial policing to the British model From the British Caribbean to the Middle East the Mediterranean to British Colonial Africa and on to Southeast Asia colonial police forces struggled with the unrest and conflict that stemmed from Britain's withdrawal from its empire As the shadow of decolonisation grew ever longer so colonial police forces reverted back to their traditional role as a colony's first line of defence At the same time as tensions increased throughout the empire so too did the power of the police through the development of police intelligence systems and counter insurgency units Colonial policing and the imperial endgame controversially asserts that it was coercion rather than consent which was more commonly associated with the work of police forces during this period of political dislocation Georgina Sinclair's focussed study of colonial policing during this period facilitates a greater understanding of the processes of decolonisation The Wind of Change L. Butler, S. Stockwell, 2013-06-27 Harold Macmillan's Wind of Change speech delivered to the South African parliament in Cape Town at the end of a landmark six week African tour presaged the end of the British Empire in Africa This book the first to focus on Macmillan's Wind of Change comprises a series of essays by leading historians in the field
