Mortal Thoughts Brian Cummings,2013-08-22 Since the nineteenth century it has been assumed that the concept of personal identity in the early modern period is bound up with secularization Indeed many explanations of the emergence of modernity have been based on this thesis in which Shakespeare as a secular author has played a central role However the idea of secularization is now everywhere under threat The secularity of modern society is less apparent than it was a generation ago Shakespeare too has come to be seen in a religious perspective What happens to human identity in this different framework Mortal Thoughts asks what selfhood looks like if we do not assume that an idea of the self could only come into being as a result of an emptying out of a religious framework It does so by examining human mortality What it is to be human and how a life is framed by its ending are issues that cross religious confessions in early modernity and interrogate the sacred and secular divide A series of chapters examines literature and art in relation to concepts such as conscience martyrdom soliloquy luck suicide and embodiment Religious and philosophical creativity are revealed as poised around anxieties about finitude and contingency challenging conventional divisions between kinds of literary and artistic endeavour Mortal Thoughts considers incipient genres of life writing More Foxe and Montaigne and life drawing Dürer Hans Baldung Grien in relation to dramatic representation and literary narration Shakespeare Donne Milton In the process it asks whether the problem of human identity rewrites historical boundaries

Dürer's Lost Masterpiece Ulinka Rublack,2023-07-11 Dürer's Lost Masterpiece tracks the history of a turning point in the career of the celebrated German artist Albrecht Dürer 1471 1528 when he stopped painting altarpieces after arguing with a merchant patron over payment As an eloquent homage to Dürer's life it brings us closer to the creation and meaning of his paintings than ever before Dürer's Lost Masterpiece considers the celebrated German artist Albrecht Dürer 1471 1528 his time and his legacy It tracks the history of a crucial and often overlooked turning point in his career when Dürer stopped painting altarpieces after falling out with the Frankfurt merchant Jacob Heller over a commission The story of this painting as Dürer's lost masterpiece functions as a lens through which to view the new relationship developing between art collecting and commerce in Europe up to the Thirty Years War 1618 1648 when global trade and cultural exchanges were increasing At the heart of the book is the argument that merchants and their mentalities were crucial for the making of Renaissance art and its legacy for modern art

The book draws on a decade of research and uniquely draws the reader into the rich emotional worlds of three merchants each of whom typified the evolving relationship between art and commerce in that entrepreneurial and often ruthless age. It brings to life Dürer's determined fight for creative makers to be adequately paid and explores the big questions about how European societies came to value the arts and crafts that remain relevant to our time. Monstrous Births and Visual Culture in Sixteenth-Century Germany Jennifer Spinks, 2015-10-06. Presents an examination of printed representations of monstrous births in German-speaking Europe from the end of the fifteenth century and through the sixteenth century beginning with a seminal series of broadsheets from the late 1490s by humanist Sebastian Brant and including prints by Albrecht Dürer and Hans Burgkmair.
