Blurring Architecture:

New Scapes Paola Gregory, 2003-04-01 Since the famous competition for the Park La Villette in Paris where the participants included Bernard Tschumi Peter Eisenman and Gilles Deleuze the relationship between building and landscape has been dramatically transformed Concepts such as metamorphosis and interaction layers and fields are becoming as much a part of architectonic discourse as the practical designs and the realization Author Paola Gregory examines this interplay between buildings and landscapes present in today s architecture scene illustrating her analysis with exciting examples including the ecological landscapes of James Wines and Greg Lynn the virtual environments of Marcos Novak and Nox buildings by Jean Nouvel and Toyo Ito which actively incorporate passers by and surroundings by means of new media

Toyo Ito Toyoo Itō, Andrew Barrie, Artspace (Auckland, N.Z.), City Gallery Wellington, 2001 Diller Plus Scofidio Antonello Marotta, 2011 Volume 27 of Blurred Transparencies in Contemporary Glass Architecture Aki Ishida, 2020-04-22 Blurred Transparencies in Contemporary Glass Architecture brings to light complex readings of transparent glass through close observations of six pivotal works of architecture Written from the perspectives of a practitioner the six essays challenge assumptions about fragility and visual transparency of glass A material imbued with idealism and utopic vision glass has captured architects imagination and glass s fragility and difficulties in thermal control continue to present technical challenges In recent decades architecture has witnessed an emergence of technological advancements in chemical coating structural engineering and fabrication methods that resulted in new kinds of glass transparencies Buildings examined in the book include a sanatorium with expansive windows delivering light and air to recovering tuberculosis patients a pavilion with a crystal clear glass plenum circulating air for heating and cooling a glass monument symbolizing the screen of personal devices that shortened the distance between machines and humans and a glass building symbolizing the social and material intertwining in the glass ceiling metaphor Connecting material glass to broader cultural and social contexts Blurred Transparencies in Contemporary Glass Architecture enlightens students and practitioners of architecture as well as the general public with interest in design The author demonstrates how glass is rarely crystal clear but is blurred both materially and metaphysically revealing complex readings of ideas for which glass continues to stand Toyo Ito Jessie Turnbull, 2012-10-03 This book is based on the Kenneth Kassler endowed lecture delivered by Ito at Princeton University School of Architecture in the spring of 2009 The book is delivered primarily in Ito s voice through the lecture transcript which is the focus of the book and through extended interviews and a previously untranslated essay from 1980 all of which tie together his ideas of the interface of nature and society through the formal constructs of architecture The publication is unique in bringing together unpublished visuals of built and un built projects by Ito as well as bringing together his theory spanning across his whole career with commentary by respected scholars Stan Allen and Julian Worrall Liquid Architecture Pierangelo Marco Scravaglieri, 2023-12-22 Liquid Architecture challenges the idea of architecture as a fixed inert container and reconceptualises it as a body whose boundaries are rather blurred and ever changing This book moves away from form as the primary driver of spatial protocols and explores what the built environment might look like when viewed through the lenses of a wet ontology that is attentive to fluidity flows and territorial dynamism A reconfiguration of architectural materials and authorship is thus considered leading in turn to an exploration of the ethical dimensions of co designing with natural systems of various viscosities through liquid paradigms The book examines a set of principles for practice led discoveries that incorporate hybrid mixed media with the author s intersubjective relationship with liquid matter Drawing from qualitative based analytical investigation models the text allows comprehension of the liquid phenomena via material contextualisation of an ever becoming research setting Through a practical and theoretical engagement with the ontology of liquids the reader is exposed to a range of design led experiments and creative propositions visualisation systems construction and testing of physical models that collectively translate into a series of novel insights for architectural agendas This book will be of interest to architecture and design research students and academics because it advocates the need for a more symbiotic and resilient approach to natural systems which could benefit from the integration of regenerating material flows into our buildings and urban settlements

Kengo Kuma Botond Bogнар, Kengo Kuma, 2005-04-07 Bogнар describes in detail the work of Kengo Kuma whose designs have been attracting growing international attention Kuma s work is characterized by simplicity and sensitivity to ecological issues taking account of the site and the materials used Japan Christian Schittich, 2012-12-17 Over a number of years the review Detail has been consistently documenting the construction activities which have taken place in Japan and this book draws on the best of their experience and connections to present and analyse with plans and details the most interesting buildings from various architectural trends in contemporary Japan Introductory essays discuss the developments and specific design principles in Japanese architecture This volume provides a stimulating discussion of current Japanese building in the context of traditional architecture Jacket Contemporary Japanese Architecture James Steele, 2017-03-16 Contemporary Japanese Architecture presents a clear and comprehensive overview of the historical and cultural framework that informs the work of all Japanese architects as an introduction to an in depth investigation of the challenges now occupying the contemporary designers who will be the leaders of the next generation It separates out the young generation of Japanese architects from the crowded distinguished multi generational field they seek to join and investigates the topics that absorb them and the critical issues they face within the new economic reality of Japan and a shifting global order Salient points in the text are illustrated by beautiful descriptive images provided by the architects and from the extensive collection of the author By combining illustrations with timelines and graphics to explain complex ideas the book is accessible to any student seeking to understand contemporary Japanese architecture

Vertical Living Julia Gatley, Paul Walker, 2014-09-01 In 1946 a group of students and idealists got together to realize their visions for a modern city Over the following half century the Architectural Centre they founded helped shape the possibilities of modern life in urban New Zealand and profoundly influenced the remaking of the capital city of Wellington. More than just an association of architects, the Centre furthered education, published a magazine, Design Review, hosted modernist exhibitions in its gallery, staged an audacious campaign for political influence called the Project, and fought for better planning, better design, and better built environments in Wellington. Charting these activists and their projects over the years, Julia Gatley and Paul Walker also offer a history of urban Wellington from the 1940s to the 1990s and beyond. The book reminds us that in modernist ideology, architecture and urban planning went hand in hand with visual and craft arts, graphic and industrial design. In recovering the multidisciplinary history, politics, and planning of the Architectural Centre, Gatley and Walker begin writing the city back into the history of architecture in New Zealand.
