Building Bodies Pamela L. Moore,1997 Building Bodies is an exciting collection of articles that strive toward constructing theoretical models in which power bodies discourse and subjectivity interact in a space we can call the built body a dynamic politicized and biological site Contributors discuss the complex relationship between body building and masculinity between the built body and the racialized body representations of women body builders in print and in film and homoeroticism in body building Linked by their focus on the sport and practice of body building the authors in this volume challenge both the way their various disciplines media studies literary criticism gender studies film and sociology have gone about studying bodies and existing assumptions about the complex relationship between power subjectivity society and flesh Body building in practice in representation and in the cultural imagination serves as an launching point because the sport and practice provide ready challenges to existing assumptions about the built body
