Attention Deficit Hyperactivity Disorder Francine Conway, 2015-12-22 For many researchers clinicians teachers patients and family members the discourse on ADHD has been occurring in silos Traditional ADHD camps are organized primarily in terms of neurological and cognitive perspectives and to a lesser extent psychoanalytic psychodynamic perspectives Those with an interest in ADHD have not been able to obtain a comprehensive understanding of the disorder and consequently have been restricted in psychotherapy treatment options This book argues for the integration of the three perspectives on ADHD Drawing on the expertise of an international range of contributors the volume addresses questions from a psychoanalytic vantage point which have considerable meaning in clinical work with children who have ADHD They examine the role of trauma and attachment problems as both a possible antecedent to ADHD and as an outgrowth of ADHD which predisposes the child to limitations in emotion regulation social adversity an even maltreatment Several questions pertinent to psychodynamic treatment and relevant case studies are discussed including a the viability of psychoanalysis psychodynamic treatment for ADHD children b the impact of early traumatic experience on the child s specific weaknesses in attention over reactivity and dysregulation c contributions of problems in object relations and regressive defences to ADHD symptoms d and the importance of other intrapsychic issues This book was originally published as a special issue of the Journal of Infant Child and Adolescent Psychotherapy

Toward a Theory of Child-Centered Psychodynamic Family Treatment Anna Ornstein, 2020-08-11

Toward a Theory of Child Centered Psychodynamic Family Treatment The Anna Ornstein Reader offers a clear introduction to Anna Ornstein s ground breaking work on psychoanalytic child orientated family therapy Drawing on her writing from across her long career and including new material the book sets out her important theoretical work on the mind self development and parental influences and the therapeutic consequences of these concepts Anna Ornstein s self psychological work is unique and outstanding First published in 1974 a time when attachment and affect regulation theory had just started Ornstein s work has developed far reaching ideas therapeutic concepts and practicable approaches for psychodynamic children and adolescence therapy based on the concept of analytic self psychology which has anticipated very early results of later affect regulation and attachment research This kind of treatment considers parental work not as only accompanying but as central representing the core of the treatment process The parental maturation process is directly described which should enable the parents to accompany their child empathically and therefore attachment security enhancing This treatment concept integrates the later findings of neurobiologically based attachment and affect regulation theory which emphasizes that intrapsychic and interpersonal experience are in a continuous and everlasting exchange In this book Eva Rass offers a better understanding of Ornstein's approach an insight into her life and work and an introduction into the concept of analytic self psychology followed by a selection of Ornstein's significant publications in which the central concern is clearly elaborated to give the reader a thorough introduction and understanding of her work This book will be of great value and interest to professionals working with children and families in psychoanalytic settings and to students training in child psychoanalysis psychotherapy and family therapy

The Half Alive Ones consists of nine clinical papers and two more theoretical ones It celebrates almost fifty years of therapeutic work depicting some of the author's most poignant professional experiences both personal and collective The author sees herself as an eclectic Jungian with a flexible approach to analysis and therapy revealed in her case studies which demonstrate that the author rarely works with a single person who is ill by himself She finds it more fruitful to perceive him and to treat him as part of a total situation which he brings into the consulting room his family of origin his work situation and part or current significant relationships The author attempts to confirm her deep felt belief that good listening sensitive timing versatility and evaluation of the other's truth are indispensable ingredients of every therapeutic hour Analysis is but an arid endeavour without compassion and creativity
