Physiological Mechanisms and Adaptation Strategies in Plants Under Changing Environment Parvaiz Ahmad, Mohd Rafiq Wani, 2013-11-12 The global population is growing at an alarming rate and is anticipated to reach about 9.6 billion by the end of 2050 Addressing the problem of food scarcity for budding population vis vis environmental changes is the main challenge plant biologists face in the contemporary era Plant growth and productivity are scarce in many areas of the world due to a wide range of environmental stresses The productive land is dwindling progressively by various natural and anthropogenic means that lead to enormous crop losses worldwide. Plants often experience these stresses and have the ability to withstand them. However, when the stress exceeds the normal tolerance level, plants accumulate organic osmolytes, osmoprotectants, cryoprotectants, and antioxidant enzymes which help them tolerate these stresses and assist in their acclimatization towards the particular ambiance needed for maintaining their growth and development. Physiological Mechanisms and Adaptation Strategies in Plants Under Changing Environment Volume 1 discuss drought and temperature stresses and their mitigation through different means. This volume illuminates how plants that are bombarded by diverse and changing environmental stimuli undergo appropriate physiological alterations that enable their survival. The information covered in the book is also useful in building appropriate strategies to counter abiotic and biotic stresses in plants. Written by a diverse group of internationally renowned scholars, Physiological Mechanisms and Adaptation Strategies in Plants Under Changing Environment Volume 1 is a concise yet comprehensive resource that will be beneficial for the researchers, students, environmentalists, and soil scientists of this field.

Environmental Adaptations and Stress Tolerance of Plants in the Era of Climate Change Parvaiz Ahmad, M.N.V. Prasad, 2011-12-02. Climate change is a complex phenomenon with a wide range of impacts on the environment. Biotic and abiotic stress are a result of climate change. Abiotic stress is caused by primary and secondary stresses which are an impediment to plant productivity. Prolonged exposure to these stresses results in altered metabolism and damage to biomolecules. Plants evolve defense mechanisms to withstand these stresses, e.g., synthesis of osmolytes, osmoprotectants, and antioxidants. Stress responsive genes and gene products, including expressed proteins, are implicated in conferring tolerance to the plant. This volume will provide the reader with a wide spectrum of information including vital references. It also provides information as to how phytoconstituents, hormones, and plant associated microbes help the plants to tolerate the stress. This volume also highlights the use of plant resources for ameliorating soil contaminants such as heavy metals. Dr. Parvaiz is Assistant professor in Botany at A S College Srinagar Jammu and Kashmir, India. He has completed his post graduation in Botany in 2000 from Jamia Hamdard New Delhi, India. After his Ph.D. from the Indian Institute of Technology IIT Delhi, India, in 2007, he joined the International Centre for Genetic Engineering and Biotechnology, New Delhi. He has published more than 20 research papers in peer-reviewed journals and 4 book chapters. He has also edited a volume which is in press with Studium Press Pvt. India Ltd, New Delhi, India. Dr. Parvaiz is actively engaged in studying the molecular and physio-biochemical responses of different plants, mulberry, pea, Indian mustard, under environmental stress. Prof. M. N. V. Prasad is a Professor in the Department of Plant Sciences at the University of Hyderabad, India. He received B.Sc. 1973 and M.Sc. 1975 degrees from Andhra University, India, and the Ph.D. degree 1979 in botany from the University of Lucknow, India. Prasad had published 216 articles in peer-reviewed journals and 82 book chapters and conference proceedings in the broad area of environmental botany and heavy metal stress in plants. He is the author, co-author, editor, or co-editor for eight books. He is the recipient of Pitamber Pant national Environment Fellowship of 2007 awarded by the Ministry of Environment.

Tofazzal Islam,2019-01-10 Global climate change affects crop production through altered weather patterns and increased environmental stresses Such stresses include soil salinity drought flooding metal metalloids toxicity pollution and extreme temperatures The variability of these environmental conditions paired with the sessile lifestyle of plants contribute to high exposure to these stress factors Increasing tolerance of crop plants to abiotic stresses is needed to fulfill increased food needs of the population This book focuses on methods of improving plants tolerance to abiotic stresses It provides information on how protective agents including exogenous phytoprotectants can mitigate abiotic stressors affecting plants The application of various phytoprotectants has become one of the most effective approaches in enhancing the tolerance of plants to these stresses Phytoprotectants are discussed in detail including information on osmoprotectants antioxidants phytohormones nitric oxide polyamines amino acids and nutrient elements of plants Providing a valuable resource of information on phytoprotectants this book is useful in diverse areas of life sciences including agronomy plant physiology cell biology environmental sciences and biotechnology Physiology and Molecular Biology of Stress Tolerance in Plants K.V.
