Actualising Talent A Lifelong Challenge:

Developing Talent Across the Lifespan Peter Heymans, Cornelis F.M. Van Leishout, 2013-05-24 This volume presents fascinating new theoretical perspectives and empirical findings on the life span development of talent It shows how talents are the result of the acquisition of a sequence of skills and how the acquisition of these skills is facilitated by changes in the individual's environment It explores to what degree the development of high intelligence or achievement is similar to the development of specific domains such as personality morality painting musical performance or professional skills It questions whether the development of talent observed for specific groups is similar to individual cases and how the different numbers of highly talented women and men in several domains are to be explained

Actualizing Talent Joan Freeman, 1995 This text is concerned with the development of ability to an exceptionally high level throughout the lifespan considering the ages at which high ability can be detected and how it may be continued at its peak for life The papers in the book describe both fundamental and applied approaches with regard to varied aspects of high ability for example as learning procedures and specific areas such as art and sport The book concludes with ideas on how the needs of the highly able could be met by educational set ups government and industry
