Attitudes And Behavioral Decisions Springer Series In Social Psychology:

Attitudes and Behavioral Decisions Arnold Upmeyer, 2012-12-06 This book summarizes theoretical and empirical work that was performed in a large scale cross university research project on the relationship between attitudes and behavior The entire program has been funded by the Deutsche Forschungsgemeinschaft DFG an institution that operates similarly to the American National Science Foundation In 1981 the DFG ruled to release the project for a five year period with the option to extend if the extension proposal would suggest a major alteration of research goals The participants are presently in the stage of transition between the first five year allotment and the granted extension We feel that this is the most opportune time to summarize the development of the project for an international audience Until now only scattered publications have existed This book is more than just a compilation of previously published results Rather it is the original contributions and a substantial share of newly published empirical results that guarantee an up to date exposition of the entire program The general goal of the research group is to perform basic research in attaining explanations for the relationships between attitude and behavior and to improve the predictability of current predictor models In pursuing this goal we are not primarily interested in the immediate strategy of redefining predictor variables within the framework of the general linear statistical model Rather we emphasize cognitive processes and structures that predispose a person's behavior that accompany behavior or that change as a result of prior behavior Current Catalog National Library of Medicine (U.S.), First multi year cumulation covers six years 1965-70 National Library of Medicine Current Catalog National Library of Medicine (U.S.), 1987
