Vayrynen,2013-10-31 This book is a systematic effort by leading international scholars to map the trends in major power warfare and explore whether it is waxing or waning The main point of departure is that major power war as a historical institution is in decline This does not mean though that wars between states are in general disappearing While there is some convergence in the conclusions by individual authors they are by no means unanimous about the trend The articles explore different causes and correlates of the declining trend in major power warfare including the impact of the international structure nuclear weapons international law multilateral institutions sovereignty and value changes Battlefield Nuclear Weapons, Issues and Options Stephen D. Biddle,Peter D. Feaver,1989-12 Battlefield nuclear weapons BNW have become a major Alliance concern In the wake of the INF Treaty the superpower summit at Reykjavik and the proposals of Mikhail Gorbachev NATO is reevaluating nearly every aspect of its defense posture This book is designed to contribute to that reevaluation by analyzing what deterrent value BNW have and whether they offer the military capability necessary to offset the potential damage to Alliance cohesion To help sort out answers to these questions CSIA held a conference on BNW organized by fellows Stephen Biddle and Peter Feaver This paper in presenting the results of that conference has three purposes to introduce the issues raised by BNW in the post INF era to present a survey of the specialist debate and to analyze the disagreements underlying the debate Co published with Center for Science and International Affairs Harvard University Parameters ,1990
