White,2022-02-24 How did social cultural and political events concerning Britain during the 1940s reshape modern British fiction During the Second World War and in its aftermath British literature experienced and recorded drastic and decisive changes to old certainties Moving from potential invasion and defeat to victory the creation of the welfare state and a new Cold war threat the pace of historical change seemed too rapid and monumental for writers to match Consequently the 1940s were often side lined in literary accounts as a dividing line between periods and styles Drawing on more recent scholarship and research this volume surveys and analyses this period s fascinating diversity from novels of the Blitz and the Navy to the rise of important new voices with its contributors exploring the work of influential women Commonwealth exiled genre avant garde and queer writers A major critical re evaluation of the intriguing decade this book offers substantial chapters on Elizabeth Bowen Graham Greene and George Orwell as well as covering such writers as Jocelyn Brooke Monica Dickens James Hadley Chase Patrick Hamilton Gerald Kersh Daphne Du Maurier Mary Renault Denton Welch and many others

British Women's Fiction Andrea Adolph,2016-04-15 In her feminist intervention into the ways in which British women novelists explore and challenge the limitations of the mind body binary historically linked to constructions of femininity

Andrea Adolph examines female characters in novels by Barbara Pym Angela Carter Helen Dunmore Helen Fielding and Rachel Cusk Adolph focuses on how women's relationships to food cooking eating serving are used to locate women's embodiment within the everyday and also reveal the writers' commitment to portraying a unified female subject For example using food and food consumption as a lens highlights how women writers have used food as a trope that illustrates the interconnectedness of sex and gender with issues of sexuality social class and subjectivity all aspects that fall along a continuum of experience in which the intellect and the physical body are mutually complicit Historically grounded in representations of women in periodicals housekeeping and cooking manuals and health and beauty books Adolph's theoretically informed study complicates our understanding of how women's social and cultural roles are intricately connected to issues of food and food consumption

British Decolonisation and the Female

Middlebrow Novel Anne Wetherilt, 2025-09-01 British Decolonisation and the Female Middlebrow Novel offers the first detailed discussion of middlebrow fiction by women writers who personally witnessed the dismantling of the British Empire the intensification of the Cold War and the domestic tensions following the arrival of thousands of migrants from Britain's former colonies Studying selected novels by Cecilie Leslie Elspeth Huxley Mary McMinnies Han Suyin and Kamala Markandaya this study demonstrates that women's middlebrow writing reveals a much deeper engagement with the politics and economics of decolonisation than is usually ascribed to the genre As Anne Wetherilt argues by transcending the politics of domesticity the female middlebrow registers a critique of both Britain's colonial history and mainstream conceptions of decolonisation as a well managed transition from empire to commonwealth As such the middlebrow novel of the immediate post war decades takes us back to a place where the end of empire was imagined rather than denied and the ambiguities of British colonial politics exposed rather than repressed

Masculinity in Male-Authored Fiction, 1950-2000 A. Ferrebe, 2005-12-15 Tracing the influence of masculinity on fictional form and theme through an era of dizzying social change this timely new book conducts a close analysis of English novels selected for contrasting definitions of the male gender from the allegedly Angry Young Men to the contemporary confessions of Nick Hornby The literary period since 1950 is interpreted as one of intense political and stylistic negotiation by male authors with the gendered subject positions both of fictional characters and those who read about them
