

Thinking in Terms of the Small and the Big

- ▶ Economics is divided into two branches:
 - ▶ Microeconomics-deals with human behavior and choices as they relate to relatively small units-individuals, firms, and markets
 - ▶ Macroeconomics-deals with human behavior and choices as they relate to the entire economy

MICROECONOMICS	MACROECONOMICS
Should I go to college or get a job after high school?	How many people are employed in the economy as a whole this year?
What determines the salary that Citibank offers to a new college graduate?	What determines the overall salary levels paid to workers in a given year?
What determines the cost to a high school of offering a new course?	What determines the overall level of prices in the economy as a whole?
What determines the number of iPhones exported to France?	What determines the overall trade in goods, services, and financial assets between the U.S and the rest of the world.
