Arkheologicheskii Sbornik:

The Region of the Upper Msta River in the Early Middle Ages Inna Islanova, 2021-02-01 This is a book about the archaeological sites of the 5th to 8th century of the Volga Baltic watershed in the forest zone of Eastern Europe The region has long been known for burial assemblages of the so called culture of the Pskov long barrows but the book brings to light a different group of sites The population living on those sites co existed with those who buried their dead under the Pskov long barrows but within a different landscape This polarity suggests that the local population was behind the culture of Pskov long barrows while the new category of site point to immigrants from the southwest The book suggests that the new archaeological sites were inhabited by a Slavic speaking population from the periphery of the Kiev and Kolochin cultures

The Long Sixth Century in Eastern Europe Florin Curta, 2021-05-12 In The Long Sixth Century in Eastern Europe Florin Curta offers a social and economic history of East Central South Eastern and Eastern Europe during the 6th and 7th centuries It challenges the current model of transition from Antiquity to the early Middle Ages on the basis of an interpretation of the written sources but especially of an enormous amount of archaeological evidence accumulated in the last 50 years or so It deals with societies in close contact with the Roman world as well with those located very far from it It addresses questions of property subsistence crafts trade and social change

Ferghana Valley S. Frederick Starr, 2014-12-18 The Ferghana Valley can reasonably be said to lie in the heart of Central Asia As such the Valley has made an inordinate contribution to the history and culture of the region as a whole as well as significantly affecting the economic political and religious spheres This book looks at the region over time from its early history to the present It embraces not just the obvious fields of politics economics and religion but also ethnography sociology and culture and includes the insights of leading scholars from all three Ferghana countries The book discusses various questions of identity relating to the region showing how the identity of the Ferghana Valley relates to the emerging national identities of the three post colonial states that are still gradually emerging from the demise of the Soviet Union as well as how an understanding of the Ferghana Valley is key to understanding Central Asia itself

Ceramics Before Farming Peter Jordan, Marek Zvelebil, 2016-06-03 A long overdue advancement in ceramic studies this volume sheds new light on the adoption and dispersal of pottery by non agricultural societies of prehistoric Eurasia Major contributions from Western Europe Eastern Europe and Asia make this a truly international work that brings together different theories and material for the first time Researchers and scholars studying the origins and dispersal of pottery the prehistoric peoples of Eurasia and flow of ancient technologies will all benefit from this book

Bibliography of Social Science Periodicals and Monograph Series United States. Bureau of the Census, 1961 Foreign Social Science Bibliographies , 1965 The Greeks and Romans in the Black Sea and the Importance of the Pontic Region for the Graeco-Roman World (7th century BC-5th century AD): 20 Years On (1997-2017) Gocha R. Tsetskhladze, Alexandru Avram, James Hargrave, 2021-05-20 The proceedings of the Sixth International Congress on Black Sea Antiquities Constanta 2017 is dedicated to the 90th birthday of Prof Sir John Boardman President of the Congress since its inception The central theme returns to that considered 20 years earlier the importance of the Pontic Region for the Graeco Roman World Slavs in the Making Florin Curta, 2020-09-28 Slavs in the Making takes a fresh look at archaeological evidence from parts of Slavic speaking Europe north of the Lower Danube including the present day territories of the Czech Republic Slovakia Poland Belarus Ukraine and Russia Nothing is known about what the inhabitants of those remote lands called themselves during the sixth century or whether they spoke a Slavic language The book engages critically with the archaeological evidence from these regions and questions its association with the Slavs that has often been taken for granted It also deals with the linguistic evidence primarily names of rivers and other bodies of water that has been used to identify the primordial homeland of the Slavs and from which their migration towards the Lower Danube is believed to have started It is precisely in this area that sociolinguistics can offer a serious alternative to the language tree model currently favoured in linguistic paleontology The question of how best to explain the spread of Slavic remains a controversial issue This book attempts to provide an answer and not just a critique of the method of linguistic paleontology upon which the theory of the Slavic migration and homeland relies The book proposes a model of interpretation that builds upon the idea that Common Slavic cannot possibly be the result of Slavic migration It addresses the question of migration in the archaeology of early medieval Eastern Europe and makes a strong case for a more nuanced interpretation of the archaeological evidence of mobility It will appeal to scholars and students interested in medieval history migration and the history of Eastern and Central Europe
