The Conru Collection encompasses a broad range of artworks made between the eighteenth and early twentieth centuries. Most of the objects were collected in the early period of Pacific exploration. The collection is representative of the artistic output of the region and includes masks from Nissan and Bougainville, war canoe ornaments from New Georgia and Choiseul, and numerous figural sculptures from throughout the island chain, as well as weaponry, jewellery, and articles for daily life.

Art in the Solomon Islands C. J. Praetorius, 1905 Grass Roots Art of the Solomons John Chick, Sue Chick, 1978. Not a work of scholarship, still less is it a comprehensive survey of Solomon Islands art forms. Conveys some impression of the variety of design to be found in the Solomons. Varilaku Crispin Howarth, Deborah Waite, 2011. Through over sixty works, this book explores traditional or kastom beliefs in ancestral ghosts, the world of spirit beings, ocean-bound raiding expeditions, and the indigenous aesthetics of the self: the use of adornments to express identity and status from the mid-nineteenth to the mid-twentieth centuries. From back cover. Animals into Art Howard Morphy, 2014-10-30. This book is one of a series of volumes resulting from the World Archaeological Congress, September 1986, which addressed world archaeology in its widest sense: investigating how people lived in the past and how and why changes took place to result in the forms of society and culture which exist now. The series brought together archaeologists and anthropologists from many parts of the world, academics from contingent disciplines and also non-academics from a wide range of cultural backgrounds who could lend their own expertise to the discussions. This book is an exploration of the way in which the animal world features in the works of art of a variety of cultures of different times and places. Contributors have adopted a variety of perspectives for looking at the complex ways in which past and present humans have interrelated with beings they classify as animals. Some of the approaches are predominantly economic and ecological, some are symbolic, and others philosophical or theological. All these different views are included in the interpretation of the artworks of the past, revealing some of the foci and inspirations of cultural attitudes to animals. Originally published 1989. Pacific Art Anita Herle, 2002-01-01. Contributors explore the complex relations among Pacific artists, patrons, collectors, and museums over time, as well as the different meanings given to art objects by each.
