Art Of Christian Listening:

The Art of Christian Listening Thomas N. Hart, 1980 Discusses how one can serve others by listening to their stories and describes the objectives and limits of the role of a Christian listener Holy Listening Margaret Guenther, 1992-01-25 Guenther uses the images of the spiritual director as host teacher and midwife to describe the ministry of spiritual direction today She pays particular attention to spiritual direction for women and addresses such down to earth questions as setting time and privacy The stories of real people bring the practice of spiritual direction alive In the pages that follow I will attempt to describe the shape that spiritual direction might take for people of our time aware that the subject is an elusive one I am speaking to the beginner those persons lay or ordained with or without formal theological training who find themselves drawn to this ministry Perhaps they feel the stirring of their own unacknowledged gifts Or perhaps they wonder about receiving direction whether it is a ministry available to ordinary people or reserved for the especially holy I hope some dark corners will be illuminated and some questions answered The Art of Listening in the Early Church Carol Harrison, 2013-07-05 How did people think about listening in the ancient world and what evidence do we have of it in practice The Christian faith came to the illiterate majority in the early Church through their ears This proved problematic the senses and the body had long been held in suspicion as all too temporal mutable and distracting Carol Harrison argues that despite profound ambivalence on these matters in practice the senses and in particular the sense of hearing were ultimately regarded as necessary indeed salvific constraints for fallen human beings By examining early catechesis preaching and prayer she demonstrates that what illiterate early Christians heard both formed their minds and souls and above all enabled them to become literate listeners able not only to grasp the rule of faith but also tacitly to follow the infinite variations on it which were played out in early Christian teaching exegesis and worship It becomes clear that listening to the faith was less a matter of rationally appropriating facts and more an art which needed to be constantly practiced for what was heard could not be definitively fixed and pinned down but was ultimately the Word of the unknowable transcendent God This word demanded of early Christian listeners a response to attend to its echoes recollect and represent it stretch out towards its source and in the process be transformed by it The Art of Spiritual Listening Alice Fryling, 2009-02-04 HAVE YOU HEARD Life shouts God whispers How can we hear God s whispers when the struggles and worries of life distract us How can we quiet our souls The Art of Spiritual Listening is about learning to listen to the gentle persistent voice of God and help others hear God s voice as well With insightful and creative reflections Alice Fryling guides us through Scripture passages that teach us how to experience and hear God more fully Here you will find ways to Become more attentive to God s spirit Understand how to hear God s voice in your own life Learn how to help others develop the discipline of listening to God s leading With an emphasis on spiritual direction The Art of Spiritual Listening includes Bible study questions prompts for personal reflection and notes for leaders who wish to use the book in a group If your life is too noisy to hear God or if you want to hear his voice more clearly The Art of Spiritual Listening will guide you to a deeper understanding of what it means to respond to God's invitation to listen

The Art of Listening in the Early Church, 2013 The Faithful Librarian Garrett B. Trott, 2019-09-06 What do Christianity and librarianship have in common Netherlands Prime Minister and theologian Abraham Kuyper 1837-1920 was among the first in the modern era to attempt to rejoin the dichotomy of sacred vs secular study when he said no single piece of our mental world is to be hermetically sealed off from the rest Over the years a number of publications have followed Kuyper's lead yet little has been written on the subject since Greg A Smith's notable Christian Librarianship 2002 Building on Smith's work this volume seeks to bridge the sacred secular divide with an exploration of how Christianity and the gospel are manifested through the profession of librarianship

Educating People of Faith John H. Van Engen, 2004 A much needed addition to the emerging literature on the formative power of religious practices Educating People of Faith creates a vivid portrait of the lived practices that shaped the faith of Jews and Christians in synagogues and churches from antiquity up to the seventeenth century This significant book is the work of Jewish Roman Catholic Orthodox and Protestant scholars who wished to discover and describe how Jews and Christians through history have been formed in religious ways of thinking and acting Rather than focusing solely on either intellectual or social life the authors all use the concept of practices as they attend to the embodied contextual character of religious formation Their studies of religious figures community life and traditional practices such as preaching sacraments and catechesis are colorful detailed and revealing The authors are also careful to cover the nature of religious education across all social levels from the textual formation of highly literate rabbis and monks engaged in Scripture study to the local formation of illiterate medieval Christians for whom the veneration of saints shrines street performances of religious dramas and public preaching by wandering preachers were profoundly formative Educating People of Faith will benefit scholars and teachers desiring a fuller perspective on how lived practices have historically formed people in religious faith It will also be useful to practical theologians and pastors who wish to make the resources of the past available to practitioners in the present Contributors John C.
