Bronx Ecology Blueprint For A New Environmentalism:

Bronx Ecology Allen Hershkowitz, 2002 The Bronx Community Paper Company teaches us that we have the power if we muster the will creativity and cooperation to recover lost pieces of America's environment return them to good health protect other lands and resources from being destroyed and even create environmentally friendly jobs in the process President Bill Clinton In 1991 frustrated by the failure of lawmakers to produce meaningful progress on environmental issues Allen Hershkowitz a scientist with the Natural Resources Defense Council NRDC opted for an innovative approach Resolving to put market forces to work for the environment Hershkowitz devised a plan to develop a world scale recycled paper mill on the site of an abandoned rail yard in the South Bronx Created in collaboration with colleagues at NRDC the private sector government unions and community groups and with a building designed by renowned architect and designer Maya Lin the Bronx Community Paper Company BCPC was intended to put the ideas of industrial ecology to work in a project that not only avoided exacerbating environmental problems but actually remediated them One of the primary goals of the project was to show that environmental protection job production social assistance economic development and private sector profitability can work together in a mutually supportive fashion Unfortunately it didn't quite turn out like that In Bronx Ecology Hershkowitz tells the story of the BCPC from its earliest inception to its final demise nearly ten years later He describes the technical economic and competitive barriers that arose throughout the project as well as the decisive political and legal blows that doomed their efforts to secure financing ultimately killing the project Interwoven with the BCPC tale is Hershkowitz's vision for a new engaged environmentalism complete with principles for a new era of industrial development that combines social and environmental responsibility with a firm commitment to profit making As Hershkowitz explains while the project was never built its groundbreaking collaboration can hardly be considered a failure Rather the BCPC in the words of veteran environmental journalis Philip Shabecoff can be seen as the beginning of a learning process for entrepreneurial environmentalism a pathway to a new approach in the 21st century Bronx Ecology offers a compelling vision of that exciting new pathway

Business Ethics and the Natural Environment Lisa H. Newton, 2008-04-15 Business Ethics and the Natural Environment examines the present status of relations between corporate enterprise and the natural environment in the world today Discusses such questions as What obligations does a corporation have toward the environment To respect entities unprotected by law To care about future generations Argues that environmentally friendly business practices yield dividends exceeding expectations and that the competitive firm of the 21st century will follow green standards Provides a background in ethics a survey of business ethics an account of environmental philosophy an overview of environmental legal issues and an account of the problems associated with globalization

Ecological Intelligence Daniel Goleman, 2010-03-30 The bestselling author of Emotional Intelligence and Primal Leadership now brings us Ecological Intelligence revealing the hidden environmental consequences of what we make and buy and how with that knowledge we can drive the essential changes we all must make to save our planet and ourselves We buy herbal shampoos that contain industrial chemicals that can threaten our health or contaminate the environment We dive down to see coral reefs not realizing that an ingredient in our sunscreen feeds a virus that kills the reef We wear organic cotton t shirts but don't know that its dyes may put factory workers at risk for leukemia In Ecological Intelligence Daniel Goleman reveals why so many of the products that are labeled green are a mirage and illuminates our wild inconsistencies in response to the ecological crisis Drawing on cutting edge research Goleman explains why we as shoppers are in the dark over the hidden impacts of the goods and services we make and consume victims of a blackout of information about the detrimental effects of producing shipping packaging distributing and discarding the goods we buy But the balance of power is about to shift from seller to buyer as a new generation of technologies informs us of the ecological facts about products at the point of purchase This radical transparency will enable consumers to make smarter purchasing decisions and will drive companies to rethink and reform their businesses ushering in Goleman claims a new age of competitive advantage

New York for Sale Tom Angotti, 2011-02-25 How community based planning has challenged the powerful real estate industry in New York City Remarkably grassroots based community planning flourishes in New York City the self proclaimed real estate capital of the world with at least seventy community plans for different neighborhoods throughout the city Most of these were developed during fierce struggles against gentrification displacement and environmental hazards and most got little or no support from government In fact community based plans in New York far outnumber the land use plans produced by government agencies In New York for Sale Tom Angotti tells some of the stories of community planning in New York City how activists moved beyond simple protests and began to formulate community plans to protect neighborhoods against urban renewal real estate mega projects gentrification and environmental hazards Angotti both observer of and longtime participant in New York community planning focuses on the close relationships among community planning political strategy and control over land After describing the political economy of New York City real estate its close ties to global financial capital and the roots of community planning in social movements and community organizing Angotti turns to specifics He tells of two pioneering plans forged in reaction to urban renewal plans including the first community plan in the city the 1961 Cooper Square Alternate Plan a response to a Robert Moses urban renewal scheme struggles for environmental justice including battles over incinerators sludge and garbage plans officially adopted by the city and plans dominated by powerful real estate interests Finally Angotti proposes strategies for progressive inclusive community planning not only for New York City but for anywhere that neighborhoods want to protect themselves and their land New York for Sale teaches the empowering lesson that community plans can challenge market driven development even in global cities with powerful real estate industries
