3rdiq Chroniclogical Chronicles:

The Medieval Chronicle III, 2021-11-22 In the summer of 2002 the third international conference on the medieval chronicle was held again in the vicinity of Utrecht the Netherlands There are several reasons why the chronicle is particularly suited as the topic of an international conference In the first place there is its ubiquity all over Europe and throughout the Middle Ages chronicles were written both in Latin and in the vernacular and not only in Europe but also in the countries neighbouring on it like those of the Arabic world Secondly all chronicles raise such questions as by whom for whom or for what purpose were they written how do they reconstruct the past what determined the choice of verse or prose or what kind of literary influences are discernable in them Finally many chronicles have been beautifully illuminated and the relation between text and image leads to a wholly different set of questions This third volume of conference papers again aims to provide a representative survey of the on going research in the field of chronicle studies illustrated by examples from specific chronicles from a wide variety of countries periods and cultural backgrounds Egyptian Chronicles, with a Harmony of Sacred and Egyptian Chronology, and an Appendix on Babylonian and Assyrian Antiquities William Palmer (M.A., Fellow of Magdalen College, Oxford.), 1861 Egyptian Chronicles with a Harmony of Sacred and Egyptian Chronology and an Appendix on Babylonian and Assyrian Antiquities by William Palmer, 1861 Chronicles, Consuls, and Coins: Historiography and History in the Later Roman Empire R.W. Burgess, 2023-05-31 The papers collected in this volume focus on the sources for reconstructing the history of the third to fifth centuries AD The first section Historiography looks at a small group of chronicles and breviaria whose texts are fundamental for our reconstruction of the history of the third and fourth centuries some well known others much less so Eusebius of Caesarea Jerome the lost Kaisergeschichte and Eutropius In this section the goal in each case is a specific attempt to come to a better understanding of the structure composition date or author of these historical texts The second section History presents a group of historical studies ranging in time from the death of Constantine in 337 to the vicennalia of Anastasius in 511 In these papers the keys to the conclusions offered arise from a better understanding of the literary sources particularly chronicles and consularia an understanding of the evolution of historical accounts over time or the employment of sources that are either new or unusual in these particular contexts consular fasti coins papyri and itineraries The Chronology of the Kings of Israel and Judah Gershon Galil, 2023-08-21 This pioneering study wrestles with the perpetual problem of chronology in the Books of Kings Starting from the conservative assumptions that the courts of Israel and Judah maintained regnal records and that these for the most part accurately reflect regnal length the author arrives at a new and persuasive dating for the reigns and their synchronisms In addition his chronological scheme includes all points of contact between Israel and Judah and external powers especially Assyria The result is one of the most responsible and yet most critical chronologies proposed to date and will be the standard chronological reference for the next decade if not longer Egyptian Chronicles with a Harmony of Empirico-Statistical Analysis of Narrative Material and its Applications to Historical Dating A.T. Fomenko,2013-11-11

Today the methods of applied statistics have penetrated very different fields of knowledge including the investigation of texts of various origins. These texts may be considered as signal sequences of different kinds: long genetic codes, graphic representations which may be coded and represented by a text as well as actual narrative texts, for example historical chronicles, originals, documents, etc. One of the most important problems arising here is to recognize dependent texts, i.e. texts which have a measure of resemblance arising from some kind of common origin. For instance, in pattern recognition problems it is essential to identify from a large set of patterns a pattern that is closest to a given one. In studying long signal sequences it is important to recognize homogeneous subsequences and the places of their junction. This includes in particular the well known change point problem which is given considerable attention in mathematical statistics and the theory of stochastic processes. As applied to the study of narrative texts, the problem of recognizing dependent and independent texts, e.g. chronicles, leads to the problem of finding texts having a common source, i.e. the same original. Such texts are naturally called dependent or, on the contrary, having different sources, such texts are naturally called independent. Clearly such problems are exceedingly complicated and therefore the appearance of new empirico-statistical recognition methods which, along with the classical approaches, may prove useful in concrete studies, e.g. source determination, is welcome.

New Chronology Using Solar Eclipses, Volume III Pekka Mansikka,2020 Perhaps everyone interested in reading, for example, the history of Assyria, Babylon, and Egypt has at some point noticed some references to solar eclipses observed at that distant time. Taking a glance at the chronologies of those peoples, it can be stated that the solar eclipses observed cannot be found in the reign periods of those kings. The Author has discovered this scientific vacuum and he has considered it to be an appropriate opportunity to specify the chronologies of the peoples reigning in the Middle East in 1600-530 BC in connection with accordance of the observed eclipses. This study raises justified questions: did the solar eclipse observed in Ashur Dan III's 9th regnal year in 800 BC or in 809 BC? Or could it have happened in 791 BC? This study presents a new feature of applying new studies by Egyptian astronomer Aymen M Ibrahim for the first time in practice to the history of the peoples. This new study can be regarded very exceptional as this is the world's first major encouragement of how a chronology can be timed using solar eclipses. This Book includes 74 images and more than 40 tables and text boxes.

A Companion to Byzantine Chronicles, 2024-12-23 A Byzantine chronicle is a retelling of history usually beginning with the creation of the world, written in simple language and enriched by colourful anecdotes or tantalizing details on political intrigues Though extremely popular in the Middle Ages these texts were long disregarded by scholars due to their historical unreliability and lack of originality Now however they are increasingly appreciated for the insights they provide into Byzantine ideology and the complex interaction of reading and writing in Byzantium This volume highlights and contributes to the radical re evaluation of this long neglected genre of medieval literature Contributors are Raimondo Tocci William Adler Thomas M Banchich Albrecht Berger Richard W Burgess John Burke R ka Forrai Christian Gastgeber Martin Hinterberger Marek Jankowiak Ralph Johannes Lilie Athanasios Markopoulos Mischa Meier Federico Montinaro Diether Roderich Reinsch Fabian Schulz Roger Scott Paul Tuffin Staffan Wahlgren and Varvara Zharkaya
