410 Days In East Timor A Peace Keepers Diary:

410 Days in East Timor Boonsrang Niumpradit, 2002 LTG Boonsrang Niumpradit recounts his experiences as Force Commander of the United Nations Transitional Administrator in East Timor UNTAET from 19 July 2000 to 1 September 2001

The Use of Force in UN Peacekeeping Peter Nadin, 2018-02-06 This edited volume provides a detailed and nuanced analysis of UN peacekeeping and the use of force to inform a better understanding of the complex and interconnected issues at stake for the UN community. Peacekeeping is traditionally viewed as a largely passive military activity governed by the principles of impartiality, consent, and the minimum use of force. Today, most large UN Peacekeeping Operations are only authorized to use force in defence of their mandates and to protect civilians under imminent threat of physical violence. Recently, with the deployment of the Force Intervention Brigade in the DRC, the UN has gone beyond peacekeeping and into the realm of peace enforcement. These developments have brought to the fore questions regarding the use of force in the context of peacekeeping. The key questions addressed in this book examine not only the utility of force but also the dilemmas and constraints inherent to the purposive use of force at a strategic, operational, and tactical level. Should UN peacekeepers exercise military initiative? Is UN peacekeeping capable of undertaking offensive military operations? If so, then under what circumstances should peacekeepers use force? How should force be wielded? And against whom? With chapters written by experts in the field, this comprehensive volume will be of great use and interest to postgraduate students, academics, and experts in international security, the UN peacekeeping, and diplomacy.

Military Cooperation in Multinational Peace Operations Joseph Soeters, Philippe Manigart, 2009-12-04 This edited volume uses theoretical overviews and empirical case studies to explore both how soldiers cope with the new forms of cultural diversity occurring within various multinational military operations and how their organizations manage them. Military organizations, like other complex organizations, are now operating in an ever more diverse environment with the missions themselves being ever more varied and mostly conducted in a multinational framework. Members of the military have to deal with a host of international actors in the theatre of operations and do so in a foreign cultural environment, often in countries devastated by war. Such conditions demand a high level of intercultural competence. It is therefore crucial for military organizations to understand how military personnel manage this cultural diversity. This book will be of much interest to students of peace operations, military studies, international security, as well as sociology and business studies.

Triumph of Self-Determination John R. Ballard, 2007-12-30 Based on first person accounts, interviews, declassified documents, and secondary background sources, this book gives readers insight into the significant actions and innovative techniques of the struggle for East Timorese independence from 1999 to 2006. The book begins with a two chapter historical overview of the circumstances that caused the United Nations to intervene in East Timor in 1999 and then continues with a detailed account of the referendum on independence and the military operations required to restore order after the Timorese people decided upon freedom from Indonesia. In the final three chapters Ballard describes the actions taken to support the first national elections the writing of a constitution and the formation of a new national government in East Timor The final chapter compares UN operations in East Timor to previous operations in Somalia Eastern Europe and Haiti and outlines key lessons for the future including the critical importance of economic development and good governance in fledgling states

Praetorians, Profiteers or Professionals? Michael J Montesano, Terence Chong, Prajak Kongkirati, 2020-12-23 Praetorians Profiteers or Professionals contributes to the ongoing renaissance in scholarship on Southeast Asia's armed forces and their political social and economic roles This renaissance comes in an era in which the states of the region and the societies and economies that they govern have grown complex beyond all recognition Nevertheless understanding those states' armies remains crucial Emphasizing the ideologies and economic activities of the militaries of two large Mainland Southeast Asian neighbours this volume transcends clichés about coups coercion caudillos and kings Its findings will challenge the thinking of even long time observers of the region not least through its comparative perspective and the fresh understanding of the roles and orientations of the armed forces of Myanmar and Thailand that that perspective suggests

'More than an Ally' Maryanne Kelton, 2016-12-05 With the ascendancy of the Coalition government in 1996 there was a marked shift of emphasis directed to deepening Australia's relations with America The Coalition government strategically linked security and economic well being and this linking was contextualized by threats both internal and external By deepening the relationship of the US alliance in foreign trade and defence policies the Australian government sought to resonate on inherited and conservative perceptions of threat in the domestic environment Maryanne Kelton introduces specific cases to demonstrate both the intensity and complexity of dealing with the US Through these empirical studies the government's approach is examined across trade security and industry sectors The book adds to the current debate as it provides an explanatory framework for understanding the Australian government's choices in its relations with the USA across the broader spectrum of security issues
