Cinema, Space, and Polylocality in a Globalizing China Yingjin Zhang, 2009-10-09 In this milestone work prominent China film scholar Yingjin Zhang proposes polylocality as a new conceptual framework for investigating the shifting spaces of contemporary Chinese cinema in the age of globalization Questioning the national cinema paradigm Zhang calls for comparative studies of underdeveloped areas beyond the imperative of transnationalism The book begins by addressing theories and practices related to space place and polylocality in contemporary China before focusing on the space of scholarship and urging scholars to move beyond the current paradigm and explore transnational and comparative film studies This is followed by a chapter that concentrates on the space of production and surveys the changing landscape of postsocialist filmmaking and the transformation of China's urban generation of directors Next is an examination of the space of polylocality and the cinematic mappings of Beijing and a persistent reel contact with polylocality in hinterland China In the fifth chapter Zhang explores the space of subjectivity in independent film and video and contextualizes experiments by young directors with various documentary styles Chapter 6 calls attention to the space of performance and addresses issues of media and mediation by way of two kinds of playing the first with documentary as troubling information the second with piracy as creative intervention The concluding chapter offers an overview of Chinese cinema in the new century and provides production and reception statistics Combining inspired critical insights original observations and new information Cinema Space and Polylocality in a Globalizing China is a significant work on current Chinese film and a must read for film scholars and anyone seriously interested in cinema more generally or contemporary Chinese culture

Destination Hollywood Larry Langman, 2000 During the first part of the twentieth century Hollywood experienced an influx of European filmmakers seeking new lives in America With them came unique perspectives and styles from their home countries that forever affected American film production Well known talents like Charlie Chaplin Billy Wilder and Alfred Hitchcock all made America their filmmaking base as did other less known but equally influential filmmakers This is the complete guide to directors screenwriters artistic directors cinematographers and composers of European birth who made at least one film in the United States The book is arranged by country and each chapter begins with that country's cinema history Each filmmaker from that country is then given a separate entry including biographical and professional highlights and synopses and analyses of their better known films Photographs from films that featured European talent are included An index of names and titles allows for easy reference and a complete bibliography is also included

At Full Speed Ching-Mei Esther Yau, 2001 Breathtaking swordplay and nostalgic love Peking opera and Chow Yun fat's cult followers these are some of the elements of the vivid and diverse urban imagination that find form and expression in the thriving Hong Kong cinema All receive their due in At Full Speed a volume that captures the remarkable range and energy of a cinema that borrows, invents and reinvents across the boundaries of time, culture and conventions. At Full Speed gathers film scholars and critics from around the globe to convey the transnational, multilayered character that Hong Kong films acquire and impart as they circulate worldwide. These writers scrutinize the films they find captivating from the lesser-known works of Law Man and Yuen Woo Ping to such film festival notables as Stanley Kwan and Wong Kar-wai and from the commercial action, romance and comedy genres of Jackie Chan, Peter Chan, Steven Chiau Tsui, Hark John Woo and Derek Yee to the attempted departures of Evans Chan, Ann Hui and Clara Law. In this cinema the contributors identify an aesthetics of action, gender, flexible melodramatic excesses, objects of nostalgia and globally projected local history and identities as well as an active critical film community. Their work, the most incisive account ever given of one of the world's largest film industries, brings the pleasures and idiosyncrasies of Hong Kong cinema into clear, close-up focus even as it enlarges on the relationships between art and the market, cultural theory and the movies.

Epics, Spectacles, and Blockbusters Sheldon Hall, Stephen Neale, 2010. The pantheon of big budget commercially successful films encompasses a range of genres including biblical films, war films, romances, comic book adaptations, animated features and historical epics. It discusses the characteristics, history and modes of distribution and exhibition that unite big budget pictures from their beginnings in the late nineteenth century to the present. Moving chronologically, it examines the roots of today's blockbuster in the feature, special, superspecial, roadshow, epic and spectacle of earlier eras, with special attention to the characteristics of each type of picture.

Running the Race Brian Steel Wills, 2022-09-27. From Moses and Michelangelo to Andrew Jackson and Thomas Jefferson, Wills provides a compelling treatment of Heston's long and successful career. Gary W. Gallagher, author of The Confederate War, Brian Steel Wills captures for the first time a comprehensive view of Charlton Heston's climb to fame, his search for the perfect performance and the meaningful roles he played in support of the causes he embraced in Running the Race: The Public Face of Charlton Heston. The actor was born and raised in the Michigan woodlands and suburbs of Chicago, where he found his love of acting in the books he read and the movies he saw. After the Second World War interrupted his journey when he served his country, the lights of New York City and Broadway beckoned. Live television offered an important platform, but Hollywood and feature films were his destiny. His roles were as varied as they were powerful and included stints as Moses, Ben-Hur, El Cid, Michelangelo, Mike Vargas and Charles, Chinese Gordon, under legendary directors like Cecil B. DeMille, William Wyler, Franklin Schaffner and Orson Welles. He shifted to science fiction in Planet of the Apes and Soylent Green, a wide range of action and disaster films and more nuanced roles such as Will Penny. Over his decades of performance, Heston defined and redefined his public face in a constant quest for an audience for his work. He undertook wide-ranging public service roles for the government, the arts and other causes. In Running the Race, award-winning historian Brian Steel Wills digs deep to paint a rich portrait of Heston's extraordinary life, a mix of complications and complexities that touched film, television, theater, politics and society.

From Fu Manchu to Kung Fu Panda Naomi Greene, 2014-06-01 Throughout the twentieth century American filmmakers have embraced cinematic representations of China Beginning with D W Griffith s silent classic Broken Blossoms 1919 and ending with the computer animated Kung Fu Panda 2008 this book explores China s changing role in the American imagination Taking viewers into zones that frequently resist logical expression or more orthodox historical investigation the films suggest the welter of intense and conflicting impulses that have surrounded China They make clear that China has often served as the very embodiment of otherness a kind of yardstick or cloudy mirror of America itself It is a mirror that reflects not only how Americans see the racial other but also a larger landscape of racial sexual and political perceptions that touch on the ways in which the nation envisions itself and its role in the world In the United States the exceptional emotional charge that imbues images of China has tended to swing violently from positive to negative and back again China has been loved and as is generally the case today feared Using film to trace these dramatic fluctuations author Naomi Greene relates them to the larger arc of historical and political change Suggesting that filmic images both reflect and fuel broader social and cultural impulses she argues that they reveal a constant tension or dialectic between the self and the other Significantly with the important exception of films made by Chinese or Chinese American directors the Chinese other is almost invariably portrayed in terms of the American self Placed in a broader context this ethnocentrism is related both to an ever present sense of American exceptionalism and to a Manichean world view that perceives other countries as friends or enemies From Fu Manchu to Kung Fu Panda chronicles the struggle within Hollywood film to come to grips with American ambivalence toward China as a nation against the backdrop of its current economic and geopolitical ascendancy on the world stage Reaching back to early film portrayals of Chinatown Christian missionaries warlords and perverse villains bent on world domination Greene moves from the yellow peril to the red menace as she examines WWII and Cold War cinema She also explores the range of film fantasies circulating today from films about Tibet to Chinese American independent features and the global popularity of kung fu cartoons This accessible book allows these films to speak to the post 9 11 Occupy Wall Street generation and makes a welcome contribution to debates about Hollywood Orientalism and transnational Chinese film connections Gina Marchetti author of The Chinese Diaspora on American Screens Race Sex and Cinema A significant work of filmography Naomi Greene s book explores the exotic at times menacing but always fantastic images of China flickering on the silver screen of the American imagination The author writes lucidly jargon free and with the sure footedness of a seasoned scholar Yunte Huang author of Charlie Chan The Untold Story of the Honorable Detective and His Rendezvous with American History
