7 Myths About Christianity:

7 Myths about Christianity Dale Larsen, Sandy Larsen, 1998 Dale and Sandy Larsen address seven myths put forward by contemporary detractors of Christianity that distort truth and mislead many who uncritically accept their conclusions The Larsens respond to these charges directly and honestly g Exposing Myths About Christianity Jeffrey Burton Russell, 2012-05-15 Renowned historian Jeffrey Burton Russell famous for his studies of medieval history sets the record straight against the New Atheists and other cultural critics who charge Christianity with being outdated destructive superstitious unenlightened racist colonialist based on fabrication and other significant false accusations Myth and the Christian Nation Burton L. Mack, 2014-12-18 America is widely regarded as the ultimate Christian Nation Religious language has always been at the forefront of American politics but this has increased since the events of 9 11 Myth and the Christian Nation presents a startling analysis of how and why Christianity and national identity have been woven together in recent American political discourse Drawing on examples of religious myth making across the ancient world Myth and the Christian Nation brings the weight of history to bear on America today a place where myth monotheism sovereignty and power can be harnessed together in the service of specific interests The book invites readers to rethink the role of religion in the construction of social democracy and to see America afresh The Future of Christianity Arthur J. Bellinzoni, 2010-12-08 Professor Bellinzoni has written a thoughtful and challenging book which must be taken seriously by all those who take the continued influence of Christianity for granted A part of this challenge is to acknowledge the discrediting of central elements of the gospel history But the other challenge just as important is to identify those parts of that tradition which might be reformulated for a future in which the role of Christianity in ethics society and culture is greatly diminished R Joseph Hoffmann Chair Committee for the Scientific Examination of Religion at the Center for Inquiry Professor of Religion Emeritus Wells College Christianity has endured for two thousand years weathering the challenges of clerical corruption religious wars internal schism and scientific criticism Today however there is increasing evidence that institutional Christianity is succumbing to the growing secularism of contemporary society Both church attendance and the number of clergy have noticeably declined Will Christianity survive for another thousand years or even a hundred years In this probing assessment of the state of Christianity biblical scholar Arthur J Bellinzoni boldly asserts that Christianity must break with the past and offer a new vision of the future if it hopes to survive Addressing four issues of central concern Bellinzoni advocates a radical rethinking of the Christian message First he suggests that the God concept must move beyond obsolete notions of a personal God and take its inspiration from such diverse sources as science Taoism Moses Thomas Jefferson and Martin Buber Second Bellinzoni urges a more sophisticated approach to the Bible one that values its timeless elements but is not afraid to discard its many antiquated features Third he recommends a new emphasis on Jesus social ethic arguing that this could lead to a dramatic redistribution of the world s wealth and greater respect for the planet Fourth Bellinzoni criticizes the persistence of obsolete myth in Christianity demonstrating that without its mythical embellishments Christianity still offers a relevant understanding of the meaning of human existence A work of erudition that is also completely accessible to the lay reader The Future of Christianity provides a stimulating critique that forward thinking Christians will welcome Arthur J Bellinzoni Aurora NY is professor of religion emeritus at Wells College the author of The Future of Christianity Can It Survive The Old Testament An Introduction to Biblical Scholarship The Sayings of Jesus in the Writings of Justin Martyr and the editor of The Two Source Hypothesis and The Influence of the Gospel of Saint Matthew on Christian Literature Before Saint Irenaeus major presuppositions that the larger family of testimonies to divine suffering normally hold an understanding of God through the primary metaphor of love God is love and an understanding of the human as created in the image of God with a life though finite analogous to the divine life the imago Dei as love When fully elaborated these presuppositions reveal the conditions of possibility for divine suffering and divine vulnerability with respect to creation God's Wounds:
