Teaming a Product and a Global Market Graham Gibbs, 1997 This book outlines how the Canadian Marconi Company succeeded in a high technology export market in competition with some of the largest companies and achieved a global leadership position without a domestic market Central to this story is an aircraft navigation system that uses signals from eight government owned stations around the world The aviation community knows it as the Omega System The Canadian Marconi Company developed its first aircraft Omega Navigation System while the government of the United States of America was setting up the ground stations Part of this story is the Company s recognition that if it wanted to sell its own product it had to help promote this new technique in navigation Educating the Engineer for the 21st Century D. Weichert, B. Rauhut, R. Schmidt, 2006-02-17 Upspeeding technological evolution and globalisation characterise today's and future lives of engineers. It is vital for all institutions involved in engineering education to keep pace and to anticipate future needs. The herein presented collection of papers results from the Workshop on Global Engineering Education GEE 3 which took place at Aachen University of Technology 18-20 October 2000. In this meeting more than 150 specialists from 25 countries discussed the topic Educating the Engineer for the Century. Which role to attribute to non technical qualifications? How to integrate ethical aspects in education? Do we have to define international standards in education? What about quality control? What is the potential of new media for knowledge transfer? How to organise lifelong learning for engineers? These are some of the questions discussed among representatives of industries, educational institutions, politicians and individuals during this meeting. According to the sessions of the workshop, the book is subdivided into chapters covering the areas: Role of the Global Engineer in Meeting the Challenges of Society in the Century; Internationality and Interdisciplinarity; Engineering Education in Emerging Economies; European Bachelor and Master Programmes; Developing Personal Skills to be a Global Engineer. Three chapters deal with successful practice in engineering education covering the topics: Programmes, Curricula and Evaluation; Educational Concepts and University Industry Partnership; Design Projects. Space Safety is No Accident Tommaso Sgobba, Isabelle Rongier, 2015-06-04 Includes the proceedings from the 7th IAASS Conference Space Safety is No Accident held in Friedrichshafen, Germany in October 2014. The 7th IAASS Conference Space Safety is No Accident is an invitation to reflect and exchange information on a number of topics in space safety and sustainability of national and international interest. The conference is also a forum to promote mutual understanding, trust and the widest possible international cooperation in such matters. The once exclusive club of nations with autonomous sub-orbital and orbital space access capabilities is becoming crowded with fresh and ambitious new entrants. New commercial spaceports are starting operations and others are being built. In the manned spaceflight arena, a commercial market is becoming a tangible reality with suborbital spaceflights and government use of commercial services for cargo and crew transportation to orbit. Besides the national ambitions in space, the international cooperation, both civil and commercial, is also gaining momentum. In the meantime, robotic space exploration will accelerate and with it the need to internationally better regulate the usage of nuclear power sources. Space-bound systems and aviation traffic will share more and more a crowded airspace while aviation will increasingly rely on space-based safety critical services. Finally, most nations own nowadays space assets, mainly satellites of various kinds and purposes, which are under the constant threat of collision with other spacecraft and with the ever increasing number of space debris. Awareness is increasing internationally, as solemnly declared since decades in space treaties, that space is a mankind asset and that we all have the duty of caring for it. Without proactive and courageous international initiatives to organize space, we risk to negate access and use of space to future generations. Handbook of

Organizational Consultation, Second Edition Robert Golembiewski, 2000-06-30 A handbook on organizational consultation This second edition includes more than 35 new chapters and an expanded list of international contributors It analyzes all aspects of organizational consulting including normative empirical and political topics and offers a broad view of consultation diagnoses problem centres and interventions
