Baiting The Trap One Mans Secret Battle To Save Our Wildlife:

Baiting the Trap Tony Saunders, 2002 Usually where animals are mistreated it is by people who don't know much better. Though few in number, uniformed RSPCA inspectors are very good at dealing with that side of things. But there is another kind of cruelty to animals, the kind that brings delight and satisfaction to its depraved enthusiasts. It is widespread, often highly organised, deeply secretive and just about impossible to detect in the normal way. If you picture an RSPCA officer out on official duty in his little van and uniform, think again. Here is the secret, unknown world of the secret operations undertaken by one man whose job it is to go up against the big time crooks and often violent dealers in the criminal fraternity who abuse animals to line their back pockets or worse, just for kicks. Tony Saunders is more likely to be found posing as a dodgy dealer in rare animals in the back streets of Cairo or covered in mud and debris after a night spent observing illegal badger digs in the British countryside than in an office. He has trained with, amongst others, the SAS and has come to see the nastiest side of human nature counterpointed by his very real but unsentimental love of animals. This book is a non-fiction thriller following Tony as he creates his own role within the RSPCA and becomes increasingly embroiled in the criminal underworld that preys on animals both in the UK and abroad.

Policing Wildlife A. Nurse, 2015-04-07 Policing Wildlife examines both the extent and enforcement of wildlife law, one of the fastest growing areas of crime globally. The book considers how enforcement regimes need to adapt to contemporary wildlife crime threats, particularly those posed by terrorism and organised crime.

Animal Harm Angus Nurse, 2016-04-15 Why do people harm, injure, torture and kill animals? This book evaluates the reasons why these crimes are committed and outlines the characteristics of the animal offender. It considers ethical and value judgements made about animals and the tacit acknowledgement and justification of unacceptable criminal behaviour towards the harming of animals made by offenders. Situating animal abuse, wildlife crime, illegal wildlife trading and other unlawful activities directed at animals firmly within Green Criminology, the book contends that this is a distinct, multi-dimensional type of criminality which persists despite the introduction of relevant legislation. Taking a broad approach, the book considers the killing and harming of animals in an international context and examines the effectiveness of current legislation, policy and sentencing. Including a section on further reading and useful organizations, this book is a valuable exploration into perspectives on the responsibility owed by man to animals as part of broader ecological and legal concerns. It will interest criminologists, ecologists, animal protectionists and those interested in law and society and law and the environment.

Veganism, Archives, and Animals Catherine Oliver, 2021-08-12 This book explores the growing significance of veganism. It brings together important theoretical and empirical insights to offer a historical and contemporary analysis of veganism and our future co-existence with other animals. Bringing together key concepts from geography, critical animal studies and feminist theory, this book critically addresses veganism as both a subject of study and a spatial approach to the self, society and everyday life. The book draws upon empirical research through archival research.
