Congress. House. Select Committee on Narcotics Abuse and Control, 1990 NIDA Research Monograph ,1976 Relapse and Recovery in Drug Abuse ,1986 This monograph is based upon papers and discussion from the RAUS Review Conference on Relapse and Recovery in Drug Abuse which took place on September 19 and 20 1985 in Rockville Maryland The review was sponsored by the Office of Science and the Division of Clinical Research National Institute on Drug Abuse Research Issues ,1974 Determinants of Substance Abuse Mark Galizio, Stephen A. Maisto, 2013-06-29 With the recent increase in the scope of drug and alcohol problems has come an awareness of the need for solutions In this context federal support for research on drug problems increased tremendously during the last 10 to 15 years with the establishment of the National Institute on Drug Abuse NIDA and the National Institute on Alcohol Abuse and Alcoholism NIAAA Funding from these and other sources has led to a substantial increase in the quantity and quality of published work related to substance abuse As data accumulate it is becoming more apparent that substance abuse problems are extremely complex and are influenced by a variety of biological psychological and environmental variables. Unfortunately, it has proved difficult to go beyond this conclusion to a description of how these multiple factors work together to influence the development of and recovery from drug and alcohol dependence. The purpose of this book is to try to meet that objective by including in one volume literature reviews and theoretical analyses from a wide variety of drug researchers. We chose the authors in an attempt to assure that each of the various levels of analysis appropriate to the substance abuse problems would be included. In each case the author was asked to consider how the variables in his or her particular domain might contribute to the appearance of individual differences in both alcohol and drug problems.

Recent Developments in Alcoholism Marc Galanter, 2013-11-21. From the President of the Research Society on Alcoholism. In recent years the alcohol research field has matured and is attracting a substantial number of eager and technically sophisticated researchers. There is a feeling of excitement and premonitions of breakthroughs as more and more of alcohol's actions are being detailed. I, however, have at times been sobered by the perception that the lure of parsimonious explanations and the appeal of studying easily demonstrable effects obscure the critical issues regarding alcohol abuse and alcoholism. Central questions regarding 1) the reinforcing properties of ethanol and other factors responsible for inappropriate consumption of alcohol, 2) the heterogeneous characteristics both biologic and sociologic of the alcoholic population, and 3) the differential predisposition of individuals to alcohol-induced medical problems needed to be vigorously pursued.

Researchers who used animals as models for the human condition needed to become more intimately aware of the variety of factors that are of importance in the development of alcoholism in an individual. On the other hand, researchers studying humans needed to attempt to more clearly define and categorize diagnostic criteria and characteristics of various alcoholic populations. Such categorization and continued characterization of alcoholism allows not only for a framework of concepts within which proper animal models for studies of biologic mechanisms can be developed but also allows for consideration of the most apt treatment approaches.
