

COMMUNITY RAMPANT

CCC9081

The goal of the project is to create a new public space in the city, one that is open to all and that is a place where people can gather, play, and relax. The project is a multi-phased process that will involve the community in every step of the way. The first phase is to create a master plan for the project, which will define the overall vision and goals. The second phase is to create a detailed design for the project, which will include the layout of the space, the types of activities that will be allowed, and the types of facilities that will be provided. The third phase is to implement the project, which will involve the construction of the space and the installation of the facilities. The fourth phase is to evaluate the project, which will involve assessing the impact of the project on the community and making any necessary adjustments.

Architectural Presentation Techniques

W.W. Atkin

Architectural Presentation Techniques:

Architectural Presentation Techniques William Wilson Atkin, 1982-11-01 Architectural presentation techniques W.W. Atkin, 1976 Architectural Delineation James Davis, James C. Watkins, 2001 Architectural Delineation is a text realistically based on student examples which is appropriate for any art architecture class where hand drawing is emphasized. It would be particularly useful for any student interested in majoring in architecture or interior design. This text is a result of the authors never being completely satisfied with the various instructional books available over the 15 years they have taught architectural drawing. Their goal is to provide exercises that increase visual awareness and develop drawing skills and confidence in each student who uses this book. Each project in Architectural Delineation is designed to give the student cumulative information while reviewing previously acquired skills. The authors feel that the discipline of seeing by way of drawing is an end in itself. It makes the individual more intimately aware of the external world and the internal world of ideas. The first two chapters of this text provide a presentation of the course of study developed at Texas Tech University for a two semester sequence in freehand drawing. The first semester activities are limited to black and white media. The second semester is focused on the use of color. Chapter three is essentially a portfolio of professional work. This section includes both black and white and full color examples of architectural illustration by significant architects, designers and illustrators. Chapter four is devoted to advance projects by upper level students.

Introduction to Architectural Presentation Graphics Anthony W. Griffin, Victor Alvarez-Brunicardi, 1998 This introduction to architectural presentation graphics covers both manual and computer graphics presentation techniques showing the cooperative and complementary relationships between the two. It provides an overview of the tools and equipment that are commonly used to prepare design presentations.

Changing Trends in Architectural Design Education Jamal Al-Qawasmi, 2006 Basics Architecture 01: Representational Techniques Lorraine Farrelly, 2008-01-08 Basics Architecture 01 Representational Techniques by Lorraine Farrelly explores the concepts and techniques used to represent architecture. It describes a broad array of methodologies for developing architectural ideas ranging from two and three dimensional conceptual sketches through to the working drawings required for the construction of buildings and offers a range of practical drawing methods showing how to present and plan layouts, make conceptual sketches, work with scale, use collage and photomontage to create contemporary images along with techniques to prepare and plan design portfolios. The book also deals with a variety of media from those used in freehand sketching through to cutting edge computer modeling and drawing techniques. Using examples from leading international architects and designers along with more experimental student work, a broad range of interpretations, possibilities and applications are demonstrated. Students and practitioners will find this a useful and clear companion to a vital aspect of architectural design.
