Doreen Yarwood

Architecture Of Europe The 19th And 20th Centuries:

The Architecture of Europe Doreen Yarwood, 1991 The richness and diversity of European architecture over the past two centuries is captured in this comprehensive survey with almost two hundred illustrations of building types in twenty three countries including Eastern Europe and Scandinavia The book's breadth of geography and time give it a special place among treatments of the general subject It illustrates how the nineteenth century although primarily eclectic produced a number of architectural successes Haussmann's grandiose reshaping of Paris Engel's classical Helsinki the Gothic revivalism of the rebuilt Palace of Westminster Doreen Yarwood shows that Art Nouveau was the first movement to break with this eclecticism but that it nonetheless drew its inspiration from the past She illustrates how the modern movement developed in some countries between the wars used concrete steel and glass for strength and simplicity Le Corbusier Walter Gropius Mies van der Rohe and others used this approach to great effect in the 1950s it became a mass movement The 1970s brought calls for an architecture reunited with its environment leading to the safety of classicism or light hearted eclecticism

Architecture : nineteenth and twentieth centuries Henry-Russell Hitchcock, 2023-07-11 In Architecture Nineteenth and Twentieth Centuries Henry Russell Hitchcock presents a comprehensive examination of the evolution of architectural styles across two pivotal centuries This meticulously researched volume synthesizes a rich tapestry of movements from Romanticism to Modernism analyzing how historical context technological advancements and cultural shifts influenced architectural practices Hitchcock's prose is both scholarly and accessible employing a critical lens that adeptly navigates the interplay between form and function while also highlighting the significance of prominent figures and landmark projects that have shaped the architectural landscape Henry Russell Hitchcock an esteemed architectural historian was deeply influenced by the changing urban environments of his time and the burgeoning modernist movement His academic pursuits were dedicated to exploring the connections between architecture art and society an interest that fueled his desire to articulate the complexities of architectural development With a degree in Fine Arts and a profound appreciation for design Hitchcock's insights reflect not only a scholarly expertise but also a passionate engagement with the evolution of built environments Architecture Nineteenth and Twentieth Centuries is an essential read for students historians and anyone with a keen interest in the architectural narratives that define modern society Hitchcock's authoritative analysis offers a lens through which to appreciate the transformative power of architecture and encourages readers to critically engage with the spaces they inhabit

Phantom Architecture: Essays on Interwar Architecture in Belgrade Anna Novakov, 2011-02-03 For 1920s urbanites city streets were conceived as microcosms of all that was new and exciting They were also contested spaces provocative divisive thoroughfares and showcases for the display of cultural political and economic differences For Serbian interwar artists the streets of Belgrade served as artistic metaphors for a kind of territorial dislocation and the peripheral modernism of the East This series of four essays focuses on the phantom architecture produced by both male and female artists working before 1940 The work beautifully emerges into the modernist era and brings with it issues of design heritage and the present moment

The Oxford Handbook of Cities in World History Peter Clark, 2013-02-14 In 2008 for the first time the majority of the planet's inhabitants lived in cities and towns Becoming globally urban has been one of mankind's greatest collective achievements over time and raises many questions How did global city systems evolve and interact in the past How have historic urban patterns impacted on those of the contemporary world And what were the key drivers in the roller coaster of urban change over the millennia market forces such as trade and industry rulers and governments competition and collaboration between cities or the urban environment and demographic forces This pioneering comparative work by leading scholars drawn from a range of disciplines offers the first detailed comparative study of urban development from ancient times to the present day The Oxford Handbook of Cities in World History explores not only the main trends in the growth of cities and towns across the world in Asia and the Middle East Europe Africa and the Americas and the different types of cities from great metropolitan centres to suburbs colonial cities and market towns but also many of the essential themes in the making and remaking of the urban world the role of power economic development migration social inequality environmental challenge and the urban response religion and representation cinema and urban creativity Split into three parts covering Ancient cities the medieval and early modern period and the modern and contemporary era it begins with an introduction by the editor identifying the importance and challenges of research on cities in world history as well as the crucial outlines of urban development since the earliest cities in ancient Mesopotamia to the present

From Autos to Architecture: Fordism and Architectural Aesthetics in The Twentieth Century David Gartman, 2009-10-07 One of the most interesting questions in architectural history is why modern architecture emerged from the war ravaged regions of central Europe and not the United States whose techniques of mass production and mechanical products so inspired the first generation of modern architects like Le Corbusier Mies van der Rohe and Walter Gropius In From Autos to Architecture historian David Gartman offers a critical social history that shows how Fordist mass production and industrial architecture in America influenced European designers to an extent previously not understood Drawing on Marxist economics the Frankfurt School and French sociologist Pierre Bourdieu From Autos to

Architecture deftly illustrates the different class structures and struggles of America and Europe Examining architecture in the context of social conflicts From Autos to Architecture offers a critical alternative to standard architectural histories focused on aesthetics alone Library of Congress Subject Headings: A-E Library of Congress.
