Architecture In The Age Of Stalin:

Architecture in the Age of Stalin Vladimir Paperny, 2002-06-24 Paperny examines the evolution of architecture in Russia during the Stalinist period Defining two conflicting trends Culture One and Culture Two that have alternately prevailed in Russian culture the author argues that the shift away from the architectural avant garde of the 1920s was not entirely the result of Stalin's will Rather he demonstrates how the aesthetic choices of Stalin and his architects were conditioned by the prevailing cultural mechanisms of the 1930s and 40s Combining academic precision with engaging narrative Paperny leads the reader through the remarkable trajectory of architectural and cultural transformation that marked a pivotal moment of Russia's history Stalin's Architect Deyan Sudjic, 2022-06-14 The story of Boris Iofan designer of the iconic but unbuilt Palace of the Soviets whose buildings came to define the language of Soviet architecture What would an architect do for the chance to build the tallest building in the world What would he sacrifice to stay alive in the midst of Stalin's murderous purges This is the first major publication on the remarkable life and career of Boris Iofan 1891-1976 state architect to Joseph Stalin Iofan's story is an insight into the troubled relationship of all successful architects with power A gifted designer and a committed Communist Iofan became the Soviet Union's most celebrated architect after Alexei Rykov Lenin's successor persuaded him to return to Moscow from Rome with his aristocratic wife Olga Sasso Ruffo Iofan was at the heart of political life in the Soviet Union and his work is key to understanding its official culture When Stalin's henchmen crushed the architectural avant garde it was Iofan who created the new national style from the grand projects he realized including the House on the Embankment a megastructure of 505 homes for the Soviet elite to even more ambitious unbuilt projects in particular the Palace of the Soviets a baroque Stalinist dream whose image was reproduced throughout the Soviet Union His career took him to New York and Paris and to the destroyed city of Stalingrad He was a friend of Frank Lloyd Wright a rival of Le Corbusier Walter Gropius and Erich Mendelsohn and an enemy of Hitler's architect Albert Speer whose Nazi pavilion faced Iofan's Soviet one at the Paris Expo in 1937 He kept silent when Stalin executed his friends including Rykov he also sacrificed his own talent by following the dictator's instructions to the letter in creating the regime's landmarks Generously illustrated with a wide range of previously unpublished material this book is an exploration of architecture as an instrument of statecraft It is an insight into the key moments of 20th century politics and culture from a unique perspective and the personal story of a remarkable individual who witnessed many of the most dramatic turning points of modern history Architecture of Great Expositions 1937-1959 Rika Devos, Alexander Ortenberg, 2016-03-09 This book investigates architecture as a form of diplomacy in the context of the Second World War at six major European international and national expositions that took place between 1937 and 1959 The volume gives a fascinating account of architecture assuming the role of the carrier of war related messages some of them camouflaged while others quite frank The famous standoffs between the Stalinist Russia and the Nazi Germany in Paris 1937 or the juxtaposition of the USSR and

USA pavilions in Brussels 1958 are examples of very explicit shows of force The book also discusses some less known and more subtle messages revealed through an examination of several additional pavilions in both Paris and Brussels of a series of expositions in Moscow of the Universal Exhibition in Rome that was planned to open in 1942 and of London's South Bank Exposition of 1951 all of them related in one way or another to either an anticipation of the global war or to its horrific aftermaths A brief discussion of three pre World War II American expositions that are reviewed in the Epilogue supports this point It indicates a significant difference in the attitude of American exposition commissioners who were less attuned to the looming war than their European counterparts The book provides a novel assessment of modern architecture's involvement with national representation Whether in the service of Fascist Italy or of Imperial Japan of Republican Spain or of the post war Franquista regime of the French Popular Front or of socialist Yugoslavia of the arising FRG or of capitalist USA of Stalinist Russia or of post colonial Britain exposition architecture during the period in question was driven by a deep faith in its ability to represent ideology The book argues that this widespread confidence in architecture's ability to act as a propaganda tool was one of the reasons why Modernist architecture lent itself to the service of such different masters

A History Of Russia Volume 2 Walter G. Moss, 2004-10-01 Moss has significantly revised his text and bibliography in this second edition to reflect new research findings and controversies on numerous subjects He has also brought the history up to date by revising the post Soviet material which now covers events from the end of 1991 up to the present day This new edition retains the features of the successful first edition that have made it a popular choice in universities and colleges throughout the US Canada and around the world

Moscow Monumental Katherine Zubovich, 2023-01-31 An in depth history of the Stalinist skyscraper

Hannes Meyer: Soviet Architect. Life and Work in the USSR, 1930-1936 Tatiana Efrussi, 2025-03-31 Swiss architect and urban planner the second director of the Bauhaus Dessau Hannes Meyer spent about six years in the USSR from 1930 to 1936 This book presents the first in depth study of Hannes Meyer's activities during the years of early Stalinism There is a global interest in this architect's legacy today but his work can hardly be understood without a closer examination of the key chapter in his career This book is an attempt to challenge the usual Western centered perspective and explore not only what Meyer could bring to the Soviet Union but also what he sought to learn there and how this interaction influenced his work and thinking The somewhat provocative title underscores this thesis A detailed reconstruction of his professional activities during this period was made possible through archival research in several countries Russia Germany Austria and Switzerland and field trips across Russia In the end the narrative offers a glimpse into the Soviet architectural context of the 1930s networks hierarchies behavioral strategies theories and interpretations of major polemical concepts such as proletarian architecture and socialist realism Among the projects for socialist cities Meyer was commissioned to create the urban plan for the capital of the Jewish Autonomous Region in the USSR Birobidzhan The dedicated book chapter explores his involvement in the search for a distinct Soviet Jewish style Hannes Meyer the most controversial of the architects associated with the Bauhaus was passionately involved in politics and available documents indicate his desire to become a Soviet architect at all costs The research allows us to view Meyer not only as a victim but also as an actor in the early Stalinist system based on violence

Planting New Towns in Europe in the Interwar Years

Helen Meller, Heleni Porfyriou, 2016-06-22 The key theme of the papers in this book concerns the prospects of building new urban environments and creating new societies in Europe during the interwar years The contributions do not focus on the system of government communist fascist or democratic but rather on what actually got built by whom and why and how the international communication of ideas was filtered through the prism of local concerns and culture As such the volume serves to tease out connections between urban form and social aspirations and between the moral basis of social planning and how it was interpreted Did the new towns of the interwar years actually create a planned society where visions met realities aided by the design of new urban forms This is one of the principal questions investigated by the contributors here in all the different political contexts of their chosen new towns

The Cinema of the Soviet Thaw Lida Oukaderova, 2017-05-15

Following Joseph Stalin's death in 1953 the Soviet Union experienced a dramatic resurgence in cinematic production The period of the Soviet Thaw became known for its relative political and cultural liberalization its films formally innovative and socially engaged were swept to the center of international cinematic discourse In The Cinema of the Soviet Thaw Lida Oukaderova provides an in depth analysis of several Soviet films made between 1958 and 1967 to argue for the centrality of space as both filmic trope and social concern to Thaw era cinema Opening with a discussion of the USSR's little examined late fifties embrace of panoramic cinema the book pursues close readings of films by Mikhail Kalatozov Georgii Danelia Larisa Shepitko and Kira Muratova among others It demonstrates that these directors' works were motivated by an urge to interrogate and reanimate spatial experience and through this project to probe critical issues of ideology social progress and subjectivity within post Stalinist culture

Building Stalinism Cynthia A. Ruder, 2018-01-30

Today the 80 mile long Moscow Canal is a source of leisure for Muscovites a conduit for tourists and provides the city with more than 60% of its potable water Yet the past looms heavy over these quotidian activities the canal was built by Gulag inmates at the height of Stalinism and thousands died in the process In this wide ranging book Cynthia Ruder argues that the construction of the canal physically manifests Stalinist ideology and that the vertical horizontal underwater ideological artistic and metaphorical spaces created by it resonate with the desire of the state to dominate all space within and outside the Soviet Union Ruder draws on theoretical constructs from cultural geography and spatial studies to interpret and contextualise a variety of structural and cultural products dedicated to and in praise of this signature Stalinist construction project Approached through an extensive range of archival sources personal interviews and contemporary documentary materials these include a diverse body of artefacts from waterways structures paintings sculptures literary and documentary works and the Gulag itself Building Stalinism concludes by analysing current efforts to reclaim the legacy of the canal as a memorial space that ensures that those who suffered and died building it are remembered This is essential reading for all scholars working on the all pervasive nature of Stalinism and its complex afterlife in Russia today
