CRI's ICEIT has been designated as a

CRI and WHO Co-Host Meeting of the WHO Chemical Risk Assessment Sub-network of Developing Countries in Bangkok, Thailand (December 2 - 4, 2015)

The three-day meeting was attended by 36 participants from 21 developing countries*. Six experts from WHO, HQ, SEARO, OECD and UNEP also joined the discussions.

The meeting presented a forum in which Chemical Risk Assessment (CRA) Network members and candidate members could collaborate on topics of mutual interest. Promoting tools for chemical risk assessment in developing countries was an important objective of the meeting.

After introducing the CRA Network and reporting on a WHO survey of risk assessment capacities in developing countries, participants learned about tools available for chemical risk assessment, including the WHO Human Health Risk Assessment Toolkit, the Inter-Organization Programme for the Sound Management of Chemicals (IOMC) Toolbox for decision-making in chemicals management, International Safety Cards, and a toolkit for registration of pesticides. An electronic distance learning tool for risk assessment and risk management of chemicals was also demonstrated.

For the next Network meeting and beyond, a number of collaborative activities for the CRA sub-network were proposed. One working group was asked to help make the existing CRA Network training database more interactive and useful for developing countries. A fellowship program was also proposed which would allow representatives of sub-network institutions to attend the annual CRI training course on risk assessment and management in Bangkok. CRI will conduct face-to-face training in chemical risk assessment in selected developing countries.

Chevalier, 2020-04-30 The Palgrave Handbook of Magical Realism in the Twenty First Century examines magical realism in literatures from around the globe Featuring twenty seven essays written by leading scholars this anthology argues that literary expressions of magical realism proliferate globally in the twenty first century due to travel and migrations the shrinking of time and space and the growing encroachment of human life on nature In this global context magical realism addresses twenty first century politics aesthetics identity and social national formations where contact between and within cultures has exponentially increased altering how communities and nations imagine themselves This text assembles a group of critics throughout the world the Americas Europe Africa Asia the Middle East and Australia who employ multiple theoretical approaches to examine the different ways magical realism in literature has transitioned to a global practice thus signaling a new stage in the history and development of the genre

Rereading the Imperial Romance Laura Chrisman, 2000 This book examines literary romance as a vehicle for the ideological contradictions of British imperialism in South Africa Chrisman draws upon postcolonial theory and cultural materialism to discuss the imperialist Rider Haggard's fictional accounts of mining in King Solomon's Mines and Zulu history in Nada the Lily examining these novels as fraught responses to the introduction of capitalist modernity She goes on to analyse the counter narratives of metropolitan and African resistance of feminist Olive Schreiner and black nationalist Sol Plaatje Exploring Schreiner's much neglected Trooper Peter Halket of Mashonaland Chrisman situates this book in relation to the violent creation of Rhodesia the 1896-7 Shona uprisings and contemporary criticism of Cecil Rhodes In doing so she shows how Schreiner's is a much more challenging example of anti imperialist fiction than Conrad's Heart of Darkness published two years later Chrisman's discussion of Plaatje's Mhudi the first black African novel in English considers the book as a direct response to Haggard's imperialism and Schreiner's feminist theory Locating the book through the politics and epistemology of the early ANC she reveals how Plaatje challenges Haggard's misogyny and fatalistic historiography Mhudi she argues is a novel whose nationalist and sexual politics are considerably more complex than has been recognized. Plaatje uses his narrative form to articulate both radical and liberal alternatives to white South African rule. Chrisman's book demonstrates how South Africa played an important if now overlooked role in British imperial culture and shows the impact of capitalism itself in the making of racial, gender, and national identities. This book makes an original contribution to studies of Victorian literature of empire, South African literary history, African studies, black nationalism, and the literature of resistance.

Dilemmas of a Trading Nation Mireya Solis, 2017-08-01. The balancing of competing interests and goals will have momentous consequences for Japan and the United States in their quest for economic growth, social harmony, and international clout. Japan and the United States face difficult choices in charting their paths ahead as trading nations. Tokyo has long aimed for greater decisiveness, which would allow it to move away from a fragmented policymaking system favoring the status quo in order to enable meaningful internal reforms and acquire a larger voice in trade negotiations. And Washington confronts an uphill battle in rebuilding a fraying domestic consensus in favor of internationalism essential to sustain its leadership role as a champion of free trade. In Dilemmas of a Trading Nation, Mireya Solís describes how accomplishing these tasks will require the skillful navigation of vexing tradeoffs that emerge from pursuing desirable but to some extent contradictory goals: economic competitiveness, social legitimacy, and political viability. Trade policy has catapulted front and center to the national conversations taking place in each country about their desired future direction, economic renewal, a relaunched social compact, and projected international influence. Dilemmas of a Trading Nation underscores the global consequences of these defining trade dilemmas for Japan and the United States: decisiveness, reform, internationalism. At stake is the ability of these leading economies to upgrade international economic rules and create incentives for emerging economies to converge toward these higher standards. At play is the reaffirmation of a rules-based international order that has been a source of postwar stability, the deepening of a bilateral alliance at the core of America's diplomacy in Asia, and the ability to reassure friends and rivals of the staying power of the United States. In the execution of trade policy today, we are witnessing an international leadership test dominated by domestic governance dilemmas.

Chinua Achebe Jago Morrison, 2016-05-16 Chinua Achebe has long been regarded as Africa s foremost writer In this major new study Jago Morrison offers a comprehensive reassessment of his work as an author broadcaster editor and political thinker With new historically contextualised readings of all of his major works this is the first study to view Achebe s oeuvre in its entirety from Things Fall Apart and the early novels through the revolutionary Ahiara Declaration previously attributed to Emeka Ojukwu to the revealing final works The Education of a British Educated Child and There Was a Country Contesting previous interpretations which align Achebe too easily with this or that nationalist programme the book reveals Achebe as a much more troubled figure than critics have habitually assumed Authoritative and wide ranging this book will be essential reading for scholars and students of Achebe's work in the twenty first century Impure and Worldly Geography Gavin Bowd, Daniel Clayton, 2019-02-13 Tropicality is a centuries old Western discourse that treats otherness and the exotic in binary us and them terms It has long been implicated in empire and its anxieties over difference However little attention has been paid to its twentieth century genealogy This book explores this neglected history through the work of Pierre Gourou one of the century's foremost purveyors of what anti colonial writer Aimé Césaire dubbed tropicalité It explores how Gourou's interpretations of the nature of the tropical world and its innate difference from the temperate world were built on the shifting sands of twentieth century history empire and freedom modernity and disenchantment war and revolution culture and civilisation and race and development The book addresses key questions about the location and power of knowledge by focusing on Gourou's cultivation of the tropics as a romanticised networked and affective domain The book probes what Césaire described as Gourou's impure and worldly geography as a way of opening up interdisciplinary questions of geography ontology epistemology experience and materiality This book will be of great interest to scholars and students within historical geography history postcolonial studies cultural studies and international relations The Hegemon's Tool Kit Rebecca Davis Gibbons, 2022-07-15 At a moment when the nuclear nonproliferation regime is under duress Rebecca Davis Gibbons provides a trenchant analysis of the international system that has for more than fifty years controlled the spread of these catastrophic weapons The Hegemon's Tool Kit details how that regime works and how disastrously it might falter In the early nuclear age experts anticipated that all technologically capable states would build these powerful devices That did not happen Widespread development of nuclear arms did not occur in large part because a global nuclear nonproliferation regime was created By the late 1960s the United States and the Soviet Union had drafted the Treaty on the Non Proliferation of Nuclear Weapons NPT and across decades the regime has expanded with more agreements and more nations participating As a result in 2022 only nine states possess nuclear weapons Why do most states in the international system adhere to the nuclear nonproliferation regime The answer lies Gibbons asserts in decades of painstaking efforts undertaken by the US government As the most powerful state during the nuclear age the United States had many tools with which to persuade other states to join or otherwise support nonproliferation agreements The waning of US global influence Gibbons shows in The Hegemon's Tool Kit is a key threat to the nonproliferation regime So too is the deepening global divide over progress on nuclear disarmament To date the Chinese government is not taking significant steps to support the nuclear nonproliferation regime and as a result the regime may face a harmful leadership gap
