Automatic Program Debugging For Intelligent Tutoring Systems:

Automatic Program Debugging for Intelligent Tutoring Systems University of Texas at Austin. Artificial Intelligence Laboratory, William Raymond Murray, 1986 Abstract Program debugging is an important part of the domain expertise required for intelligent tutoring systems that teach programming languages This thesis explores the process by which student programs can be automatically debugged in order to increase the instructional capabilities of these systems This research presents a methodology and implementation for the diagnosis and correction of nontrivial recursive programs In this approach recursive programs are debugged by repairing induction proofs in the Boyer Moore Logic The potential of a program debugger to automatically debug widely varying novice programs in a nontrivial domain is proportional to its capabilities to reason about computational semantics By increasing these reasoning capabilities a more powerful and robust system can result Automatic Program Debugging for Intelligent Tutoring Systems William R. Department of Artificial Intelligence, C. Looi, P. Ross, 1987 Automated and Algorithmic Debugging Peter A.

Fritzson, 1993-11-10 Debugging has always been a costly part of software development and many attempts have been made to provide automatic computer support for this task Automated debugging has seen major developments over the last decade One successful development is algorithmic debugging which originated in logic programming but was later generalized to concurrent imperative and lazy functional languages Important advances have also been made in knowledge based program debugging and in approaches to automated debugging based on static and dynamic program slicing based on dataflow and dependence analysis technology This is the first collected volume of papers on automated debugging and presents latest developments tutorial papers and surveys Talus: Automatic Program Debugging for Intelligent Tutoring Systems

University of Texas at Austin. Artificial Intelligence Laboratory, William R. Murray, 1986 Talus relies on its abilities to reason about computational semantics to perform algorithm recognition infer code teleology and to automatically detect and correct nonsyntactic errors in student program written in a restricted but nontrivial subset of LISP Solutions can vary significantly in algorithm functional decomposition role of variables data flow control flow values returned by functions LISP primitives used and identifier used Solutions can consist of multiple functions each containing multiple bugs Empirical evaluation demonstrates that Talus achieves high performance in debugging widely varying student solutions to challenging tasks

Intelligent Tutoring Systems Claude Frasson, Gilles Gauthier, 1992-05-27 This volume of the Encyclopaedia offers a systematic introduction and a comprehensive survey of the theory of complex spaces It covers topics like semi normal complex spaces cohomology the Levi problem q convexity and q concavity It is the first survey of this kind The authors are internationally known outstanding experts who developed substantial parts of the field The book contains seven chapters and an introduction written by Remmert describing the history of the subject The book will be very useful to graduate students and researchers in complex analysis algebraic geometry and differential geometry Another group of readers will consist of mathematical physicists who apply results from these fields

Intelligent Tutoring Systems Barry P. Goettl, Henry M. Halff, Carol L. Redfield, Valerie J. Shute, 2003-06-29 The first International Conference on Intelligent Tutoring Systems ITS was held ten years ago in Montreal ITS 88 It was so well received by the international community that the organizers decided to do it again in Montreal four years later in 1992 and then again in 1996 ITS 98 differs from the previous ones in that this is the first time the conference has been held outside of Montreal and it's only been two years not four since the last one One interesting aspect of the ITS conferences is that they are not explicitly bound to some organization e.g. IEEE or AACE Rather the founder of these conferences Claude Frasson started them as a means to congregate researchers actively involved in the ITS field and provide a forum for presentation and debate of the most currently challenging issues Thus the unifying theme is science This year's hot topics differ from those in the earlier ITS conferences as they reflect ever changing trends in ITS research A few of the issues being examined at ITS 98 include Web based tutoring systems deploying ITS in the real world tutoring and authoring tools architectures and knowledge structure and representation

Intelligent Tutoring Systems Stefano A. Cerri, William J. Clancey, Giorgos Papadourakis, Kitty-Kiriaki Panourgia, 2012-05-30 This book constitutes the refereed proceedings of the 11th International Conference on Intelligent Tutoring Systems ITS 2012 held in Chania Crete Greece in June 2012 The 28 revised full papers 50 short papers and 56 posters presented were carefully viewed and selected from 177 submissions The specific theme of the ITS 2012 conference is co-adaptation between technologies and human learning Besides that the highly interdisciplinary ITS conferences bring together researchers in computer science informatics and artificial intelligence on the one side and cognitive science educational psychology and linguistics on the other side The papers are organized in topical sections on affect emotions affect signals games motivation and design games empirical studies content representation feedback non-conventional approaches conceptual content representation assessment constraints dialogue dialogue questions learner modeling learning detection interaction strategies for games and empirical studies thereof in general

Artificial Intelligence and Tutoring Systems Etienne Wenger, 2014-05-12 Artificial Intelligence and Tutoring Systems Computational and Cognitive Approaches to the Communication of Knowledge focuses on the cognitive approaches methodologies principles and concepts involved in the communication of knowledge The publication first elaborates on knowledge communication systems basic issues and tutorial dialogues Concerns cover natural reasoning and tutorial dialogues shift from local strategies to multiple mental models domain knowledge pedagogical knowledge implicit versus explicit encoding of knowledge knowledge communication and practical and theoretical implications The text then examines interactive simulations existing CAI traditions and learning environments The manuscript elaborates on knowledge communication didactics and diagnosis Topics include knowledge presentation and communication pedagogical contexts target levels of didactic operations behavioral and epistemic diagnosis and aspects of diagnostic experience The
