Burrell Portrait Of A Collector:

Burrell Richard Marks, 1983 Collecting and Access Susan Bracken, Andrea M. Gáldy, Adriana Turpin, 2025-09-03
Collections usually reflect the personal nature of collecting sometimes indicating the intellectual interests and curiosity of their owners and in many cases their particular tastes and passions Through the relationship between the collection and its space whether physical or theoretical the collection takes on more nuanced meanings than solely ambition and reputation reflecting the varied meanings the collection had for its owner and increasingly for a wider public This new book is part of the Collecting Histories series and investigates an understudied field of research in the history of collecting Access to collections is always taken for granted but the essays in this volume show that there were not only diverse types of access but that they also served a range of purposes Before the advent of public museums access to most collections was granted at the discretion of the collections owners but in other examples it was only possible vicariously in the form of collection catalogues or eye witness accounts Collectors, Commissioners, Curators Elina Gertsman, 2023-05-08 This volume celebrates the storied career of Stephen N Fliegel the former Robert Bergman Curator of Medieval Art at the Cleveland Museum of Art CMA Authors of these essays all leading curators in their fields offer insights into curatorial practices by highlighting key objects in some of the most important medieval collections in North America and Europe Metropolitan Museum of Art The Louvre the British Museum Victoria Albert Museum the Getty the Groeningemuseum The Morgan Library Vienna s Kunsthistorisches Museum and of course the CMA offering perspectives on the histories of collecting and display artistic identity and patronage with special foci on Burgundian art acquisition histories and objects in the CMA The Art Market and the Museum Frances Fowle, MaryKate Cleary, 2025-04-03 This book considers how art market stakeholders including art dealers collectors and agents have shaped museum collections and affected exhibition practices since the mid nineteenth century Based on new archival research and data analysis it explores the role of dealers not only in selling directly to museums but in influencing museum collecting priorities as well as potential donors It also examines the important but hitherto overlooked contribution of the female curator agent The book is divided into three sections which address the relationship between art dealers and museums women as art agents and influencers and the strategies of entrepreneurial collectors Featuring contributions from a wide range of international specialists in the market for decorative arts and antiquities as well as European modernism The Art Market and the Museum explores the origins and development of the modern Western art market and the global art networks that operated not only in Paris London and New York but in cities such as Glasgow Vienna Melbourne and Kansas City It is perfect reading for scholars and researchers on the history of the art market museum studies and art history more broadly The Great British Dream Factory Dominic Sandbrook, 2015-10-01 SPECTATOR BOOKS OF THE YEAR 2015 Britain s empire has gone Our manufacturing base is a shadow of its former self the Royal Navy has been reduced to a skeleton In military diplomatic and economic terms we no longer matter as we once did And yet there is still one area in which we can legitimately claim superpower status our popular culture It is extraordinary to think that one British writer J K Rowling has sold more than 400 million books that Doctor Who is watched in almost every developed country in the world that James Bond has been the central character in the longest running film series in history that The Lord of the Rings is the second best selling novel ever written behind only A Tale of Two Cities that the Beatles are still the best selling musical group of all time and that only Shakespeare and the Bible have sold more books than Agatha Christie To put it simply no country on earth relative to its size has contributed more to the modern imagination This is a book about the success and the meaning of Britain s modern popular culture from Bond and the Beatles to heavy metal and Coronation Street from the Angry Young Men to Harry Potter from Damien Hirst to The X Factor

Directory of Museums, Galleries and Buildings of Historic Interest in the UK Keith W. Reynard, 2004-03-01 This unique and important directory incorporates some 3 200 entries It covers all types and sizes of museums galleries of paintings sculpture and photography and buildings and sites of particular historic interest It also provides an extensive index listing over 3 200 subjects The directory covers national collections and major buildings but also the more unusual less well known and local exhibits and sites The Directory of Museums Galleries and Buildings of Historic Interest in the United Kingdom is an indispensable reference source for any library an ideal companion for researcher and enthusiast alike and an essential purchase for anyone with an interest in the cultural and historical collections of the UK Features include Alphabetically listed entries which are also indexed by subject for ease of reference Entries include the name and address of the organization telephone and fax numbers email and internet addresses a point of contact times of opening and facilities for visitors A breakdown of the collections held by each organization giving a broad overview of the main collection as a whole Details of special collections are provided and include the period covered as well as the number of items held

Glasgow Irene Maver, 2019-08-06 No detailed description available for Glasgow William Burrell Martin Bellamy, Isobel MacDonald, 2022-03-03 In 1944 Glasgow received one of the greatest gifts ever made to any city in the world a collection of over 6 000 artworks of many types spanning centuries and civilisations The benefactors were Glasgow born shipping magnate Sir William Burrell and Constance Lady Burrell Burrell s business success him to amass an extraordinary collection which he housed in the family home at Hutton Castle in the Scottish borders When he decided to leave the collection to the nation he considered donating it to London based galleries before deciding on Glasgow Corporation together with the residue of his estate to provide a suitable building It was many years before the right location was found and The Burrell Collection finally opened in 1983 This new biography is based on recent research full access to the Burrell archive and in depth knowledge of the collection Sir William was a complicated and private man who shunned publicity adored his wife but had a tumultuous relationship with his daughter In politics Conservative he campaigned for better housing conditions as long as this didn t cause further expense to the taxpayer The authors take a candid and considered view of who

William Burrell the man was what sparked his passion for collecting and what his gift continues to mean to the city

British Models of Art Collecting and the American Response Dr Inge Reist, 2014-10-28 This collection of fourteen essays by distinguished art and cultural historians examine points of similarity and difference in British and American art collecting Half the essays examine the trends that dominated the British art collecting scene of the nineteenth century Others focus on American collectors using biographical sketches and case studies to demonstrate how collectors in the United States embellished the British model to develop their own often philanthropic approach to art collecting

Collecting and Provenance Jane Milosch, Nick Pearce, 2019-10-28 The study of provenance the history of the creation and ownership of an artefact work of art or specimen provides insights into the history of taste and collecting illuminating the social economic and historic trends in which an object was created and collected It is as much a history of people as it is of objects and its study often reveals intricate networks of relationships patterns of activity and motivations This book promotes the study of the history of collecting and collections in all their variety through the lens of provenance and explores the subject as a cross disciplinary activity Perhaps for the first time in a publication it draws on expertise ranging from art history and anthropology to natural history and law looking at periods from antiquity through the 18th century and the Holocaust era to the present and materials from Europe and the Americas to China and the Pacific The issues raised are wide ranging touching on aspects of authenticity cultural meaning and material transformation and economic and commercial drivers as well as collector and object biography The book fills a gap in the study of collecting and provenance taking the subject holistically and from multiple standpoints better to reflect the widening interest in provenance from a range of disciplinary perspectives This book will be a service to the field from established scholars and museum professionals to students of collecting history cultural heritage and museum studies
