Australian Painting Today Robert Smith, Queensland Art Gallery, 1963 Australian Painting Today Bernard Smith, 1962
Australian painting today ,1963 "Australian Art and Artists in London, 1950-1965" Simon Pierse, 2017-07-05 Subtle and wide ranging in its account this study explores the impact of Australian art in Britain in the two decades following the end of World War II and preceding the Swinging Sixties In a transitional period of decolonization in Britain Australian painting was briefly seized upon as a dynamic and reinvigorating force in contemporary art and a group of Australian artists settled in London where they held centre stage with group and solo exhibitions in the capital's most prestigious galleries The book traces the key influences of Sir Kenneth Clark Bernard Smith and Bryan Robertson in their various and varying roles as patrons ideologues and entrepreneurs for Australian art as well as the self definition and interaction of the artists themselves Simon Pierse interweaves multiple issues of the period into a cohesive historical narrative including the mechanics of the British art world the limited and frustrating cultural scene of 1950s Australia and the conservative influence of Australian government bodies Publishing for the first time archival material letters and photographs previously unavailable to scholars either in Britain or Australia this book demonstrates how the work of expatriate Australian artists living in London constructed a distinct vision of Australian identity for a foreign market Australian Painting Today ,1964

Australian Art and Artists in London, 1950-1965 Simon Pierse, 2012 Subtle and wide ranging in its account this study explores the impact of Australian art in Britain in the two decades following the end of World War II and preceding the Swinging Sixties Publishing for the first time previously unavailable archival material this book demonstrates how the work of these expatriate artists constructed a distinct vision of Australian identity for a foreign market Australian Painting Today ,1963 Australian painting today: two aspects, anglais ,1962 Australian Painting Today John Martin Douglas Pringle, 1963 The Times reviewing the first edition of this book said it presents most effectively in words and pictures a survey of the swift and amazing uprush of painting in Australia in the space of little more than 20 years John Douglas Pringle's introduction could hardly be bettered in its succinctly dramatic account of the factors of land race and history which brought about the birth of a national school we have seen he remarks taking place during our own lives and under our own eyes something which has never been observed before and may never happen again Allowing for the abstract and international influences which today evidently create vigorous oppositions and striking contrasts in effort he is primarily concerned with those artists who are distinctively Australian whom he discusses individually from Dobell Drysdale Nolan and Boyd to the new humanists who have come into prominence in the past few years Dickerson Blackman and Pugh An excellent series of illustrations bears out his summing up of the School as romantic swift dashing and emphatic back cover

Cubism & Australian Art Lesley Harding, Sue Cramer, 2009 Cubism was a movement that changed fundamentally the course of twentieth century art It had far reaching effects both conceptual and stylistic which are still being felt today

Described in 1912 by French poet and commentator Guillaume Apollinaire as not an art of imitation but an art of conception Cubism irreversibly altered art's relationship to visual reality I paint things as I think them not as I see them Picasso said Cubism and Australian Art examines for the first time the impact of this transformative art movement on the work of Australian artists from the early 1920s to the present day The authors argue that by its very nature Cubism was characterised by variation and change that the idea of a pure or original Cubism was short lived and that its appearance in Australian art parallels its uptake and re interpretation by artists internationally In the words of French artist Andr Lhote mentor to several Australians who studied at his Academy in Paris There are a thousand definitions of Cubism because there are a thousand painters practising it More than eighty international and Australian artists are showcased with over 300 works featuring Sam Atyeo Ralph Balson Grace Crowley Frank Hinder Roger Kemp Godfrey Miller Stephen Bram and Daniel Crooks as well as Pablo Picasso Georges Braque and Fernand Leger
