Automating The Lexicon Research And Practice In A Multilingual Environment:

Automating the Lexicon D. A. Walker, N. Calzolari, Antonio Zampolli, 1988 Semantics and The Lexicon James Pustejovsky, 2012-12-06 The goal of this book is to integrate the research being carried out in the field of lexical semantics in linguistics with the work on knowledge representation and lexicon design in computational linguistics Rarely do these two camps meet and discuss the demands and concerns of each other's fields Therefore this book is interesting in that it provides a stimulating and unique discussion between the computational perspective of lexical meaning and the concerns of the linguist for the semantic description of lexical items in the context of syntactic descriptions This book grew out of the papers presented at a workshop held at Brandeis University in April 1988 funded by the American Association for Artificial Intelligence The entire workshop as well as the discussion periods accompanying each talk were recorded Once complete copies of each paper were available they were distributed to participants who were asked to provide written comments on the texts for review purposes VII JAMES PUSTEJOVSKY 1 INTRODUCTION There is currently a growing interest in the content of lexical entries from a theoretical perspective as well as a growing need to understand the organization of the lexicon from a computational view This volume attempts to define the directions that need to be taken in order to achieve the goal of a coherent theory of lexical organization Conference Record of POPL 97: The 24th ACM SIGPLAN-SIGACT Symposium on Principles of Programming Languages Cheng-ming Guo, 1995 The purpose of the research in this volume is to design a machine tractable dictionary from the Longman Dictionary of Contemporary English LDOCE A machine tractable dictionary is intended to be a basic facility for a whole spectrum of natural language processing tasks

Linguistics Today □ Facing a Greater Challenge Piet van Sterkenburg, 2004-10-13 Every five years the Permanent International Committee of Linguists CIPL organises a world congress for linguists And every five years the Committee faces the challenge of presenting a programme at the highest possible level The CIPL Executive Committee decided for the Congress planned for 2003 in Prague to focus on four major topics which play an important role in today's linguistic debate 1 Typology 2 Endangered Languages 3 Methodology and Linguistics including fieldwork and 4 Language and the mind Leading experts have introduced the four themes in their plenary lectures in the course of the congress which served as a basis for the articles presented in the current volume This book should be a welcome tool for all linguists wishing to find their way quickly in current developments A CD Rom containing the full proceedings of the Prague Congress is included Language and the Lexicon David Singleton, 2016-05-06 The lexicon represents the building blocks of language words and vocabulary Most of us think of language in terms of words and words are also integral to the way in which linguists approach language as an object of study The lexicon and lexical issues must be taken in consideration in every domain of language study and conversely the lexicon cannot be viewed in isolation from other aspects of language Language and the Lexicon provides a comprehensive yet accessible overview of lexicology introducing the reader to the lexicon by exploring the lexical aspects of a range of different areas of language syntax morphology semantics phonology language variation language change language acquisition and language processing Assuming no prior knowledge of linguistics the book introduces the key concepts employing examples from a wide variety of languages in order to illustrate the points made This book is ideally suited to those approaching lexicology for the first time With its wide breadth of focus and diverse topics it can equally serve as a first introduction to linguistics

Multilingual FrameNets in Computational Lexicography Hans Christian Boas, 2009 Main description This book demonstrates how the underlying principles of the English based FrameNet project are successfully applied to the description and analysis of typologically diverse languages The collection of stimulating articles exemplifies the liveliness of current research on cross lingual applications of Frame Semantics to natural language processing

Phraseology in Foreign Language Learning and Teaching Fanny Meunier, Sylviane Granger, 2008-02-06 This book addresses the key role of phraseology in second language acquisition and instruction It is divided into three main sections Extracting and Describing Phraseological Units investigates the role played by native and learner corpora in the extraction and description of multiword units two initial and crucial steps in informing language pedagogy Learning Phraseological Units deals with the learning aspect an oft neglected yet essential dimension of phraseology in second foreign language pedagogy this section also addresses issues in new literacies and Recording and Exploiting Phraseological Units focuses on pedagogical tools notably monolingual and bilingual dictionaries and textbooks This stimulating collection presents cutting edge research in the field and identifies major avenues for future theoretical and applied work It is of particular relevance to researchers and teachers interested in the patterned nature of language

Natural Language and Speech Ewan Klein, Frank Veltman, 2012-12-06 This volume in the Basic Research Series consists of the proceedings of the Symposium on Natural Language and Speech held during the ESPRIT Conference of November 1991 a conference that serves to open up ESPRIT results not only to the ESPRIT community but also to the entire European IT industry and its users The symposium is organised by the newly launched Network of Excellence on Language and Speech 3701 which brings together the foremost European experts and institutions in these two domains By bringing together these two communities which have so far been working in relative isolation from each other the network aims to augment the focusing of research onto the long term goal of the construction of an integrated model of the cognitive chain linking speech to reasoning via natural language To advance towards this industrially significant goal the network operates at different levels a strategy for research a coordination for the training of needed researchers and a coordination of the use of its resource and communication infrastructure for the most efficient interworking of the members of the community who are spread all over Europe This symposium is a small but significant building block for the achievement of the goals of the network

Current Issues in Computational Linguistics: In Honour of Don Walker Antonio Zampolli, Nicoletta Calzolari, Martha Palmer, 1994-06-30 With this volume in honour of Don Walker Linguistica Computazionale continues the series of special issues dedicated to outstanding personalities who have made a significant contribution to the progress of our discipline and maintained a special collaborative relationship with our Institute in Pisa I take the liberty of quoting in this preface some of the initiatives Pisa and Don Walker have jointly promoted and developed during our collaboration because I think that they might serve to illustrate some outstanding features of Don's personality in particular his capacity for identifying areas of potential convergence among the different scientific communities within our field and establishing concrete forms of cooperation These initiatives also testify to his continuous and untiring work dedicated to putting people into contact and opening up communication between them collecting and disseminating information knowledge and resources and creating shareable basic infrastructures needed for progress in our field Our collaboration began within the Linguistics in Documentation group of the FID and continued in the framework of the CCL International Committee for Computational Linguistics In 1982 this collaboration was strengthened when at CO LING in Prague I was invited by Don to join him in the organization of a series of workshops with participants of the various communities interested in the study development and use of computational lexica

Structure and Function □ A Guide to Three Major Structural-Functional Theories Christopher S.

Butler, 2003-06-30 This book and its companion volume present a detailed guide to three major structural functional theories Functional Grammar Role and Reference Grammar and Systemic Functional Grammar This first volume provides the necessary background through a discussion of the characteristics of functional theories followed by a brief analysis of six approaches to language in the light of this discussion These chapters lead to a characterization of a smaller set of structural functional grammars among which FG RRG and SFG are central An overview of each of these theories in relation to the simplex clause is then presented followed by a more critical comparison The remainder of the book deals with the structure and meaning of phrasal units the representation of situations and the treatment of tense aspect modality and polarity across the three theories A major feature of the book is the use of examples from corpora of English and other languages which serve not only to exemplify theoretical and descriptive claims but also at times to challenge them
